BRITISH CABINET TO CUT DOLE

ROOSEVELT PUTS THUMBSCREWS ON TAMMANY

Asks Assembly Vote Deeper Graft Quiz.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.] Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt acted today to put the thumbscrews on Tammany in the New York City investigation. The governor sent the legislature a special message recommending the passage of a law to clothe the Seabury committee investigation of corruption in the New York City government with full power of subpoena. He put nothing in it to permit Tammany to launch a counter investigation of alleged Republican wrongdoing in upstate counties, though he promised to do so later. The governor confined the first message strictly to the subject of immunity in the New York City inquiry so as not "to hinder or impede" the proposal.

Case to Be Decided on Merit.

The matter must not be confused or encumbered with other legislation," he said. "It is a question that must be decided on its own merits without delay."

The message immediately widened the breach that has developed between the governor and the Tammany controlled Democratic legislature.

The first reaction of the Tammany Democratic spokesmen at the capitol was to declare that the governor's message was an open declaration of war on the New York City democratic organization.

Vows to Fight Nomination.

The two predicted in the same breath that Tammany would go to the Democratic national convention in force to fight to the end against the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt for the presidency.

Many of the governor, however, took a cheerful view of the situation. "The Democratic party has had great Presidents," said one Democratic legislator who must remain unnamed. "They were Tilden, Cleveland and Wilson. All three were great because they fought Tammany."

Democrats were indignant at the tone of the governor's message and his open support of Samuel Seabury to give power and ammunition to the Hofstadter committee, there was not a word in the governor or personal reference to him in the brief message of the senate.

Assails Bill as Despotic.

John J. Dunnigan, Tammany leader in the senate, commenting on the governor's legislation, outside of the chamber, said:

"It is one of the most unfair, unjust, despotic, high handed and unnecessary bills ever sponsored by any political party for purely political reasons. It is unsound in principle and encouraging to criminals. By this highbinding Republican legislation law it will place the Republican party in a position to hold star chamber proceedings in any county it sees fit, not only to their own personal benefit but to the detriment of the state as a government and to the citizens as well. The bill is an invitation to criminals to secure immunity in return for false slander against those opposed politically to the Republican party.

"Laws are to be passed. One executive committees power to investigate in conspiracy cases now handled by district attorneys and grand juries. A second confers immunity on all witnesses subpenaed by the Seabury committee. It applies only to the New York City investigation.

Says Upstate Door Open.

"The governor was asked if his message left the door open for a fight by Democrats to demand an investigation of alleged Republican graft upstate.

"Why, you can see it, do you?" he replied.

Roosevelt said the only additional powers he now contemplates asking the legislature will cover immunity for unemployment relief workers and the state health department against the present infantile paralysis epidemic.

"I have no expectation at the present time of transmitting an upstate investigation message," he added.

A group of unemployed men and women attempted to stage a demonstration at the capitol as the legislature convened. Police were compelled to use clubs freely before they dispersed the persons and halted the demonstration.

REPORT KIDNAP GANG MAY FREE LYNCH TONIGHT

$100,000 Payment Is Believed Arranged.

Authorities in Chicago were reported to have received information early this morning indicating that John J. [Jack] Lynch, power in the General News bureau, a horse race service organization, would be set free about midnight tonight by the kidnapers who seized him Thursday afternoon in Walworth county, Wisconsin, and have been holding him for a reported ransom of $250,000.

Although the source of the information was not disclosed, it was said that negotiations with the abductors by associates and relatives of Lynch had produced a tentative agreement for the payment of between $100,000 and $125,000 for his release.

Search for Gang Goes On.

Meanwhile the search for the kidnapers continued throughout the night and officials said they hoped to find the gang before its prisoner is set free.

Detectives working on the case yesterday expressed the opinion that the true objective of the abductors was to wrest from Lynch his interest in the General News bureau. Thus, according to the reports, the gang would reap profits of a quarter million dollars every year, instead of only one payment.

Lynch is presumed to own one-third or perhaps one-half of the business, which controls the nation-wide distribution of race results, entries, etc., and which most turf publications use. The news bureau, it is said, uses hundreds of wires leased from the American Telephone and Telegraph company and has agents in every big city.

Say Business Is Legitimate.

Friends of Lynch insist he is not a gambler, that the business of conveying race track news of this country, Canada, and Mexico to every betting agency needing such reports is a legitimate one. It is more than seven years since Lynch had anything to do with the operation of a betting book himself, it was said.

Nor has he associated with hoodlums and racketeers, the friends of the kidnaped man say. Many stories were told of his generosity to down-and-outers and it was said he had no enemies and thousands of friends. While he would be a likely subject for kidnaping for ransom, if he could be frightened or muscled out of the business in favor of racketeers, fortunes could be split up annually among them, it was pointed out, and they would soon drive the other stockholders out of the business.

Capone Demands Release.

Al Capone, chief of all racketeers and muscle men, admitted yesterday that he had been asked to help in obtaining Lynch's release. Public Enemy No. 1 said he was doing everything in his power to learn the identity of Lynch's kidnapers and was sending word broadcast that he wanted Lynch released immediately, unharmed. Capone intimated that vengeance would descend upon the kidnapers if his release order was not immediately obeyed.

Those of Lynch's associates who announced themselves ready to pay out money to save his life and bring about his safe return placed reliance in Capone's word, detectives said. None of them believed that Capone had anything to do with the abduction, although they could visualize Capone looking covetously upon a business of the proportions of the General News bureau and which is regarded as legitimate.

Recalls Earlier Kidnap Plot.

Up at Lake Geneva where Lynch has a $125,000 home, in which Louis F. Swift formerly lived, Mrs. Lynch said she believed the kidnapers were the same men who tried to kidnap her husband three years ago. At that time, she said, they lived on the Gold Coast, and one night as Lynch was returning home two men tried to force him into an automobile, but he resisted and saved himself.

After that, Mrs. Lynch said, her husband received many telephone calls telling him he would be killed unless he paid $25,000 to the extortioners, but he didn't pay, she said.

Sergt. Fred Joyner of State's Attorney Swanson's office and his squad went to Lake Geneva yesterday to question Mrs. Lynch and to offer the coöperation of the Chicago police to District Attorney Arthur Thorson of Walworth county.

Luke Lea and Son Convicted of Bank Fraud

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Col. Luke Lea, Tennessee newspaper publisher and former United States senator, today was sentenced to serve from six to ten years in North Carolina state prison upon being convicted of defrauding the Central Bank and Trust company here of $1,136,000.

JUDGE BARNHILL. [A. P. Photo.]

Luke Lea Jr., convicted with his father in the trial which has been under way here for more than four weeks, was fined $25,000 after Solicitor Zeb V. Nettles had made a plea for him on the grounds of his age—23—and the fact that he was merely doing as instructed by his father.

Wallace B. Davis, president of the bank, who already faces a five to seven year sentence in connection with its failure, was given 4 to 6 years in prison.

Business Associate Acquitted.

E. P. Charlet, business associate of the Leas, was acquitted by the jury and discharged by the court.

Judge M. V. Barnhill passed sentence late today after overruling defense motions for a new trial. Notice of appeal was given in behalf of the defendants and they were given 90 days in which to perfect their appeals.

Col. Lea, one time commander of an artillery regiment in the world war, appeared to lose some of his color when the jury, composed of Haywood county citizens, returned its verdict at 11:36 o'clock this morning. The jurors had received the case at 4:28 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

There was no demonstration. Spectators stood in silence as Mrs. Lea, who had been at her husband's side during the trial, showed the effects of the strain.

Tried on Six Counts.

The defendants were tried on six counts of conspiracy to defraud the bank and one count of misapplication of its funds pursuant to the conspiracy.

The Leas were convicted on four counts, and Davis on three, but Judge Barnhill, who presided over the special term of Superior court called by Gov. O. Max Gardner to try them, set aside the verdict on the count in which the Leas alone were convicted, as it charged conspiracy of which they could not have been guilty, the judge said, except in connection with an officer of the bank.

The specific charges were conspiracy to misapply various certificates of deposit and cashier's checks amounting to half a million dollars.

Two Forest Fire Fighters Lose Lives in Idaho Blaze

Boise City, Idaho, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Rampant forest fires tonight broke through well laid lines of trenches on both sides of Grimes pass, burned two fire fighters to death, laid waste to a mine and a dozen houses, and put a band of National Guardsmen to rout. The two victims, who were burned so badly identification was impossible, were trapped between the main wall of flame and a new fire.

Former Evanston Official Missing a Day, Is Found

William Blanchard, 58 years old, former commissioner of public works in Evanston, was reported missing to the police of the suburb yesterday. Friends said he had left his home, 1570 Oak avenue, on Monday. Early this morning Mr. Blanchard was found near the lake, wandering along as if dazed, and was taken home by the police.

Maniac Driver Shot to Death in Wild Chase

A speeder identified by papers in his pocket as H. B. Young, a railroad clerk of Franklin Park, was shot and killed by Policeman Fred Kordes of the Irving Park station at Milwaukee and Dawson avenues early this morning after a wild pursuit south in Milwaukee avenue during which the motorist drove his car through a crowd waiting for a street car at Imlay avenue.

The pursuit was started by Frank Stamkowicz, a suburban motorcycle policeman, who picked up Young's trail outside the city limits as he was speeding toward Chicago. Stamkowicz attempted a dozen times to swing his motorcycle in front of the automobile, but each time was balked as the motorist veered from side to side of the pavement in an apparent effort to kill him, the policeman said.

The chase continued into Chicago and at Imlay avenue the crowd awaiting the street car scattered as Young drove amidst them. Whether any one was hurt had not been determined early. At this point Stamkowicz stopped and Policeman Kordes leaped up behind him on the motorcycle before the pursuit continued.

At Dawson avenue the fleeing motorist was forced to the curb. He leaped out of the car swinging a hatchet in a maniacal fury, witnesses said. Stamkowicz retreated and the motorist turned on Policeman Kordes with hatchet uplifted. The policeman drew his pistol and shot him through the heart.

REFUSED DRINK; HURLS ASH TRAY; 2 IN HOSPITAL

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A brass ash tray, thrown by a man who was refused a drink of "hard liquor," struck a woman and man operating a soft drink parlor with such force that they were confined tonight in Johnston Emergency hospital.

Rudy Trapich, 42, and his wife, Agnes, 31, were attending to the beverage needs of customers in their soft drink establishment, at 1339 West Greenfield avenue, when a stranger entered. He demanded "a drink of hard liquor."

When Trapich told him there was no hard liquor on the premises, the man picked the ash tray from the bar and threw it. It struck Mrs. Trapich on the forehead, glanced and hit Trapich between the eyes. Physicians at the hospital said Mrs. Trapich had concussion of the brain. Trapich received minor lacerations.

KASUMIGAURA, Japan, Aug. 26 [Wednesday].—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed at the naval base here at 2:09 p. m. today [12:09 a. m. Chicago time], completing a 7,132 mile vacation flight from New York.

Thunderous cheers and "banzais" greeted the flyers as they stepped ashore after slipping their plane to a graceful landing in the lagoon of the naval base. The crowds pushed forward, seeking to gain a better view of the famous pair, but scores of sailors, acting as guards, held them back.

To Entrain for Tokio.

Following ceremonies here the couple was to entrain for Tokio, 50 miles distant, where a tremendous reception awaits them and where their journey officially ends.

The Lindberghs flew here from Nemuro, in northern Japan. They negotiated the 613 miles of the last leg of their long and dangerous journey in 6 hours and 12 minutes.

They took off from Nemuro harbor at 9:21 a. m. today [6:21 p. m., Tuesday Chicago time] and in less than two hours had covered about 200 of the 613 miles between Nemuro and Kasumigaura.

Shortly before 10 a. m. [8 p. m., Tuesday, Chicago time] Anne Lindbergh tapped out a message to the Ochiishi radio station, which has closely followed the flight since the flyers left Nome, Alaska, a week ago.

"We have been flying through clouds since the start," the radio said, "but now are out of the cloud bank. Cape Erimo looms ahead."

Cape Erimo is about 200 miles from Nemuro.

Will Be Feted Two Weeks.

Plans for a great welcome have been made at Tokio, and during the next two weeks virtually every minute of the flyers' time will be monopolized by receptions and various entertainments.

They will be guests for a time of W. Cameron Forbes, the American ambassador, at his summer home near Karuizawa.

Exactly how long the Lindberghs will remain in Japan was not known, but they have announced they later will fly to China. Any flight beyond that point was uncertain, but the colonel has said he had no intention of attempting a world flight, nor does he expect to include the Philippines in his itinerary.

The Lindberghs flew today mostly over the Pacific ocean, although their course lay along the eastern coast lines of Hokkaido and Hondo islands. They were requested by the Japanese government to avoid flying over fortified areas.

CARRIER PIGEONS TAKE RANSOM TO BOY'S KIDNAPERS

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Sixteen year old Edgar F. Hazelton Jr. of Northport, L. I., has been kidnapped, is held in $2,000 ransom, and the kidnapers are depending on homing pigeons to bring the money to them, it was disclosed this afternoon.

EDGAR F. HAZELTON JR.

Edgar F. Hazelton Sr., former district attorney of Queens, the boy's father, revealed that he sent half of the ransom by a homing pigeon last night with a note stating that he would send the rest if the kidnapers would send him a note from his son so he could be sure the boy is safe.

He received another telephone call later in the evening and the same voice that had talked to him the first time told him his son's captors would enter into no communication with him and that he had better send the second $1,000 immediately.

Young Hazelton docked his speedboat at Norwalk, Conn., Thursday evening about 6 o'clock, expecting to tie up there for the night, instead of trying to get back to his family's summer home across the sound at Northport, and then left the pier. He has not been seen since.

The telephone call to the Hazelton home yesterday told Mr. Hazelton to take $2,000 to Parsons boulevard and 46th street in Flushing. He went there late yesterday afternoon and found a box containing a pigeon equipped to carry folded banknotes on its legs.

Mr. Hazelton sent two $500 bills and the note.

Mr. Hazelton had not sent the rest of the money tonight.

PREMIER URGES ALL BRITAIN TO HELP IN CRISIS

King Approves New Three Party Rule.

The full text of Prime Minister MacDonald's radio speech to the British nation will be found on page 2.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Prime Minister MacDonald tonight told the people of Great Britain that the new "cabinet of individuals," which he heads, is determined to act quickly and decisively to pull the nation out of the financial morass which for two weeks has been threatening it with disaster. He indicated the dole would be cut 10 per cent. That is believed to be certain.

In a speech broadcast to all corners of the United Kingdom from his office at 10 Downing street, Mr. MacDonald appealed to "rich and poor alike" to back up his new government with whatever sacrifices necessary in order that confidence in Great Britain abroad may be restored. He made his speech a few hours after he had submitted to King George his new cabinet, composed of former Laborites, now scorned as deserters by their party, and leaders of the Conservative and Liberal parties.

Obeys "National Duty."

Mr. MacDonald admitted in his speech that he did not have Labor's mandate for the program he was undertaking.

"I see it is said that I have no Labor credentials for what I am doing," he said. "That is true. I do not claim to have them, although I am certain that in the interests of the working classes I ought to have them. Be that as it may, I have credentials from an even higher authority. They are those of national duty as I have conceived it, and I obey them irrespective of consequences."

The premier explained that suspicions of British stability made it imperative that the pound sterling—the biggest medium in world commerce and the foundation of many currencies—should be protected and vindicated. He pointed to the fearful fate of workers in Great Britain, and elsewhere, should an inflation panic be allowed to follow fears for the safety of investments in Great Britain. Economies must be made, he asserted.

Says Dole Wrecked Rule.

The breakup of the Labor government, Mr. MacDonald said, arose from a scheme to reduce the dole by 10 per cent. He pointed out that the dole was never meant to constitute a living wage, and as living costs have fallen 11½ per cent since the present rate was fixed, so a reduction of 10 per cent would be actually less than the decrease visibly brought about by the already changing economic conditions.

The prime minister added his denial to those from across the Atlantic of the charge that the resignation of the Labor government was caused by an ultimatum of American bankers demanding a cut in the dole as the price for a fresh loan. But while the federal reserve board even denies that the loan was discussed the prime minister seems to take it for granted that everybody knows it was. He said:

"We are told that this is a bankers' conspiracy against the Labor government. The chancellor of the exchequer and myself were charged by the Labor government to be the contact between itself and the Bank of England. We were never presented with any political ultimatum.

Hints Loan Is Needed.

"I wish to assure you that the attitude which the bankers will observe toward the new government will be of precisely the same character as it was to the old, and if the government succeeds in getting a loan the old government would have succeeded had conditions been the same. The situation is a financial one. It belongs to the world of finance.

"The only way to secure necessary money is to afford to those who have money to lend it with the security that it will be paid back when required."

Other Troubles Impend.

Balancing the budget and slashing an estimated deficit of $300,000,000 is not the only task confronting the emergency government. It was officially announced tonight that plans for the India round table conference will not be affected by the change in rule. Mr. MacDonald will remain chairman of the conference. It has been learned that the new cabinet will probably remain in power until India's fate is settled and presented to the house of commons.

The new cabinet will officially take office tomorrow. The outgoing cabinet ministers will present their seals of office to the king at 10:30 a. m. with the new officers receiving them an hour later. A session of the new ministry has been called for the afternoon with the ministry launching its campaign to put England's financial house in order.

Cabinet of Ten Members.

The cabinet, which has been approved by King George, has ten members—four former Laborites, four Conservatives, and two Liberals. It follows:

J. Ramsay MacDonald, leader of the country's second Labor government, prime minister and first lord of the treasury.

Stanley Baldwin, former Conservative prime minister, president of the council.

Philip Snowden (Labor), returned as chancellor of the exchequer.

Lord Sankey (Labor), renamed lord chancellor, highest position in the British judicial system.

Sir Herbert Samuel, former Liberal minister, home secretary.

Lord Reading, former Liberal lord chancellor and viceroy to India, foreign secretary.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Conservative, secretary of state for India.

J. H. Thomas (Labor), returned to post of secretary for dominions and new secretary for colonies as well.

Neville Chamberlain, Conservative, minister of health.

Sir Philip Sunliffe-Lister, Conservative, president of the board of trade.

Eight Without Portfolios.

In addition to the ten cabinet ministers, eight ministers without cabinet rank have been appointed. It is significant that these men head all the heavy spending departments with the exception of the ministry of health. Among the ministers excluded from the deliberations of the cabinet are Sir Austen Chamberlain, the new first lord of the admiralty. The others are:

Lord Amulree, secretary for air; Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary for Scotland; Sir Donald MacLean, president of the board of education; Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture; Sir Henry Betterton, minister of labor; Lord Londonderry, first commissioner of works; Lord Lothian, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster.

Betterton, who takes the place of Miss Margaret Bondfield at the ministry of labor, which administers the dole, was an undersecretary in the last Baldwin administration and his outspoken claims for dole reform aroused bitter hostility in the Labor ranks.

The secretary for war and the lord privy seal have not yet been appointed, but Lord Hailsham, Conservative leader in the house of lords, is expected to get the latter post. By combining the ministries of dominions and colonies the government saves one salary.

A Cabinet of Veterans.

This indeed is a ministry of veterans, for only three—all Liberals—have never held ministerial offices before. These are Sir Archibald Sinclair, Sir Donald MacLean, and Lord Lothian. The latter was formerly Philip Kerr, David Lloyd George's private secretary.

The Laborites are the only members of the "big ten" who have no actual party authority to join the government. The others have at least the approval of the central councils of their organizations. It is not, therefore, a coalition government, since the Labor party has discarded Mr. MacDonald.

The Labor party chiefs, who rebelled against MacDonald, are preparing to kick up the bitterest and most stormy session the house of commons has seen since the world war when parliament convenes on Sept. 8 to consider the cabinet's recommendations for reduction of expenditures.

Thus, the crisis, which brought King George rushing to London from his vacation retreat in Scotland, apparently has, at least for the time being, reached a stage where the monarch believes he can resume his holiday. He expects to leave London for Balmoral on Wednesday.

INSISTS CREDIT OF NATION MUST BE RESTORED

Says He Carries On as National Duty.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Following is the text of the radio appeal of Prime Minister MacDonald, broadcast tonight from his home at 10 Downing street:

"I speak tonight under unusual, and to me rather sorrowful circumstances. I have given my life to the building up of a political party. I was present at its birth. I was its nurse when it emerged from infancy and had attained adult years.

"At this moment I have changed none of my beliefs and none of my ideals. I see that it is said that I have no Labor credentials for what I am doing. It is true. I do not plan to have them, although I am certain that in the interests of the working classes I ought to have them.

Heeds National Duty

"Be that as it may, I have the credentials of an even higher authority. My credentials are those of national duty, as I conceive it, and I obey them irrespective of the consequences.

"You will have read in the daily papers during the last few weeks of great activity in London. For my many friends who have been in close touch with things it has been a time of very great anxiety. There have been sensational stories and many rumors of all kinds. You have heard the words 'crisis' and 'emergency' and you will know matters of great moment have arisen in what is nominally a quiet holiday season. Let me tell you briefly what has happened.

"During the last two weeks the country has been faced with a financial emergency. What has been going on is that people and institutions abroad who have money in this country have been withdrawing it in considerable amounts. They have been accustomed to deposit big sums in London for short periods because they had complete confidence that they could always rely on getting their money when they wanted it.

Confidence Is Shaken.

"Recently the confidence of leaders has been impaired and they have been withdrawing their money. There have been various causes for these fears about the soundness of our position.

"In the first place, world depression in trade has hit all countries very hard, including ourselves. There was a crisis in Germany. It was known we had a lot of money in Germany which temporarily could not be repaid.

"But above all, public opinion abroad was concerned about our position. They saw a big deficit in prospect. They said we had been borrowing for current expenditures. They feared we were living beyond our means and no longer exporting enough to pay for our necessary and very large imports of food and raw materials. In the absence of any contrary evidence they were inclined to believe our troubles are not only temporary.

Hurt by Propaganda.

"There was a great deal of propaganda, which had an evil effect abroad, even more so than at home. People who speak in public and use a platform, sounds from which are heard all around the world, should be very careful when expressing party views that they are not damaging national interests. In a sentence, foreigners who had been in our financial trust have listened to ghost stories in a gloomy atmosphere and have become rather nervous.

"It is not true to suggest that foreign countries are deliberately trying to harm us. Nothing could be further from the truth. They know that the consequences of financial troubles in this country would be serious, not only for ourselves but for the whole world. They have helped us greatly, and they are anxious and ready to help us more. But they need to be reassured about our position.

"It is no good saying they ought not to be anxious. The very important point is that they are anxious and their anxiety has faced the government with a financial situation which is like an attack of appendicitis, and cannot be trifled with but must have immediate treatment."

Need World's Confidence.

"There is no danger whatever if the treatment is given, but it must be immediate. It cannot be trifled with. It is essential that the confidence of the world in our credit should be restored. Otherwise, we shall not be able to maintain the value of the pound sterling, and the results of this should be carefully considered.

"First of all, if there were any collapse in the pound we should be defaulting on our obligations to the rest of the world and our credit would be gone. This would be fatal, since this country, above all others, depends upon the maintenance of its credit, having to buy, as we do, so large a part of our food and raw materials from abroad.

"Then the pound sterling is the greatest medium of world trade, and the basis of the money of many other countries. Thus, the commerce and well being, not only of the British nation, but of a large part of the civilized world, has been built and rests upon the confidence in the pound sterling, and if that confidence is destroyed it means dislocation of world trade, from which every one, and most of all working people of this country, will suffer.

"Further, if the value of the pound were to fall suddenly and catastrophically, not by plan as some people suggest, but without plan, by the force of economic crisis, without control, crises would rise much faster than wages, and incomes could not be adjusted, even if adjustment were possible.

Refers to German Situation.

"Conditions similar to those in Germany when some millions of marks were given in exchange for a pound sterling would arise by the widening of a vicious circle. The people who would suffer most are the people, not with large but with the smallest incomes. The questions of international finance are very complicated. A great many people talk about them with great assurance but for myself I am no authority on them.

"But I have consulted with every shade of opinion and given the situation the most careful thought of which I am capable, paying attention primarily to actual pressing facts. Things are happening, which if allowed to go on, will speedily produce a crisis. Under these circumstances it is no use discussing the theories of banking in the MacMillan reports, who is to blame, and so on.

"This threatening cloud has to be dispelled, and dispelled immediately. Action, swift, decisive and effective, is asked for, and that we propose to give. When the danger has been removed and we can have an assize trial and a verdict, my colleague and myself are determined that the assize trial shall not be a coroner's inquest. Every one from whom we have borrowed or who has placed deposits in our keeping, must be assured that the budget will be balanced and that assurance has to be given at once, not only as a declaration of intention, but as a program in the essential detail.

"Must Cut Our Coats."

"There was no disagreement in the Labor cabinet that economies of a fairly drastic nature would have to be made. None of us want economies. I do not want economies, myself, but if I cannot afford an expenditure I do not want to make it. We certainly do not want economies which mean the suspension of programs of work which we believe are for the national good, or reduction which we also believe is not in the long run sound. But if by reason of shrinkage in the national income these good works mean such borrowing as will damage our credits, well, we must cut our coats according to the cloth. We must try, of course, to get more cloth, but while it is limited our garments will have to respond to its limitation.

"It undoubtedly will entail a sacrifice, but I am perfectly certain that in order to put our financial house in order there is no person in the whole community who will fail to give what response he can, according to his means, providing always he has the assurance everybody else is doing the same.

"Apparently the matter which troubles most of the people with whom I have been associated and whose interest is dear to me, and whose whole confidence is equally dear, is the proposal to cut unemployment benefits. May I make an observation or two in order that the mass of our people may consider it with some sense of proportion and equity in their minds?

Dole Not a Living Wage.

"Unemployment benefit is not a living wage. It was never meant to be that. But I, like every one of my colleagues, have been willing rather to stretch than to curtail those benefits. The proposal now is that as a part of this urgently required national saving these benefits should be reduced by ten per cent, but that children's allowances should not be touched at all. That looks pretty big.

"But will those who are listening to me remember this: That during the last two years the cost of living has been reduced by 11½ per cent, so that if the unemployment benefits had been subject to this consideration—a consideration to which hundreds of thousands of workers are subjected—a consideration which not a few trade unions have deliberately arranged in the interests of their own people—had that been so, the unemployment benefit, automatically and without changing a hair's breadth of its value in maintaining the standards of life, could already have been reduced, without even a clamor or a fight, by 11½ per cent. The proposal to reduce these benefits, therefore, leaves the recipients one and one-half per cent better off than they were in 1929.

"That is one thing I hope you will all consider. And there is another thing, this time something relating to individual pride and spirit. How can any government go to the country and appeal for general economy and sacrifice and say to every person whose income can be touched, 'We want you to give us heartily something you now possess, in the interests of your nation,' and then go on to add, 'but those for whose benefit the state is supplying well over £100,000,000 per annum—from them we ask nothing'?

"My friends, it is impossible in reason, it is unjust in equity, but above all, I do not believe for a single moment that there is any large percentage of those who are being benefited by those payments who have not the same sentiments as other people.

"They wish to assist the nation in the way other people are being asked to assist the nation. I profoundly believe I am speaking for men and women of the best self-respect and good spirit, who unfortunately tonight are included in the ranks of the unemployed.

Speaks to Those "On Dole."

"They know perfectly well that in some respects it is more to their interest that the national credit should be secure and unassailed than it is in the interest of very wealthy people, for it is the man who has very little from the state income who will be hardest hit and whose family will be most completely smashed up if those resources were completely dried up, or if the shillings which were handed over to them were to lose their value. In view of the circumstances, I believe those who are receiving the benefit desire to be treated in the same way as other people are treated.

"When you look all around this question and see and appreciate the consequences and alternative you will conclude it is not mere words which I am using.

"There are those who say that one of the consequences of the world's industrial plight should be a slackening of the programs devised to help national development, but in my view the final resources from which those programs can be financed, whether from loans or from current revenue, is trust in our national credit, and anything which jeopardizes that must be instantly and firmly dealt with.

Must Act at Once.

"This big psychological storm which has suddenly presented itself has to be dealt with as a matter of supreme urgency and none of those questions can justify us in the fatal policy of refusing to use immediate measures.

"There is no time for slow change so long as this lasts. We must act now.

"There is one obstacle I should like to remove from the minds of many of my listeners.

"We are told that this is a bankers' ramp or conspiracy, or something of the kind, against the Labor government. The chancellor of the exchequer and myself were chosen by the Labor government to be a contact between itself and the Bank of England. From our knowledge and experience I can give you all the most emphatic assurance this is not true. We were never presented with any political ultimatum. We never found in the attitude of conversation of those with whom we were negotiating any political bias, one way or another.

"They told us when we put up proposals to them whether in their opinion those proposals would meet the circumstances to give confidence. When they were doubtful they were perfectly willing tests should be imposed.

"I wish to assure you that the attitude which they will observe toward the new government will be precisely the same in character as was their attitude to the old, and if the government succeeds in getting the loan, the old would have succeeded also, had conditions been the same. The situation is a financial one. It belongs to the world of finance.

"The only way to secure necessary money is to afford those who have money to lend a security that it will be paid back when required.

"That we should have to borrow and that people should have to lend may be against the laws that some of us have in our hearts. But we are living in a real and not an ideal world, and the problem which governments have to face arises from the real world at present and not an ideal one of the future.

"Not a Coalition Government."

"One thing, and only one, will put British credit in a position of security at this moment, and that is a scheme consisting in economies on the one side and further revenue on the other. The scheme is well balanced, with the burden imposed as lightly as possible, but imposed equitably. That scheme will be produced. In order to do it a government has to be formed.

"It is not a coalition government. I will take no part in that. It is not a government which compels any party to change its principles, or to subordinate its individuality. I should take no part in that either. It is a government, as has been described, of individuals.

"It has been formed to do this work. If the work takes little time the life of the government will be short. When that life is finished the work of the house of commons and the general political situation will return to where they were last week, and those who have taken risks will either receive punishment or reward. The election which will follow will not be fought by the government. There will be no coupons and, I hope, no illegitimate prejudices, but in the meantime I appeal with all the force I have to every one of you, rich and poor alike, employed and unemployed, to face, as the people of this country always have done, the difficulties with hearts determined to overcome them and with a conscience ready to respond to whatever the call and necessity may be."

British Jobless Figures Leap to 2,719,376 Total

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Great Britain's unemployed totaled 2,719,376 on Aug. 17. This is 5,017 more than the week before and 701,419 more than at the same time a year ago.

KILLED BY TRAIN.

A man about 47 years old, identified by cards in his pockets as Nelson Grant of Kankakee, was killed yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a Rock Island railroad passenger train near 30th street. The cards showed that he was a member of the Kankakee post of the American Legion.

U. S. KEEPS EYE ON FRENCH-RUSSIAN TREATY PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The presence of Robert F. Kelly, chief of the division of eastern European affairs—meaning soviet Russian affairs—of the state department, coincident with the visit of V. Mejlauk, vice president of the soviet superior council of national economy, is creating considerable interest and speculation here.

Mr. Kelly and the American embassy strenuously deny that he is here for anything but a vacation, but well informed observers insist that he has arrived to keep an eye on the French-Russian trade negotiations. Mr. Kelly is responsible perhaps more than anybody else for America's intransigeant attitude toward American recognition of Russia.

Mejlauk is here to negotiate a commercial and political trade accord with France. Mejlauk, who has been in the United States for some time, declared that he regrets that "America is failing to take proper steps to properly cultivate the soviet market." If his negotiations with Paris materialize, particularly concerning the placing of orders, these being chiefly turbines, electrical machinery, tools and apparatus, it will mean depriving the United States of these exports.

Nobel Prize Winner Offers Five Musical Instruments

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A new quintuple instrument has been given to the music world. Prof. Walter Nernst, winner of the 1920 Nobel prize for chemistry, helped design the instrument, a combination grand piano, radio, harmonium, spinnet, and phonograph. All the sounds are reproduced electrically, the string vibrations picked up and amplified through a loud speaker.

G. B. SHAW SEES MacDONALD AS A BRITISH PEER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—George Bernard Shaw, commenting tonight on Prime Minister MacDonald's new cabinet, said:

"What will happen is that Mr. MacDonald will retire into the house of lords as Viscount MacDonald of Lossiemouth, accompanied by Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, and the Labor party will go on with Arthur Henderson, former foreign secretary, as its leader. I think this will be the inevitable result.

"I think Mr. MacDonald must have been aware that his speech tonight meant the end to him as the popular leader of the Labor party."

Accused of Robbing Bank While Out Waiting Trial

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Charged with robbing an Iowa bank while awaiting trial for a similar crime in Wisconsin, Reinhold Engel, St. Paul, was arrested today. Engel is charged with robbing the Farmers Savings bank of Alden, Ia., of $4,000 on March 10, while free on bail pending trial for robbing a Grantsburg, Wis., bank in January.

He was convicted at Grantsburg, March 25 and sentenced to from 15 to 40 years in the Waupun prison. He posted a $25,000 appeal bond.

Engel was arrested on a fugitive warrant at the request of the Iowa criminal bureau.

SNOWDEN SCOFFS AT CLAIM THAT BANKS UPSET GOVERNMENT

(Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer of Great Britain's new national government, showed tonight that he is in complete accord with his leader, Ramsay MacDonald, both as regarding causation and cure of Britain's financial ills. It is quite beside the point, he declared to a correspondent of the Yorkshire Observer in London, to say the situation has been deliberately created by financial interests for political purposes.

"We may think international machinery of credit is capable of improvement," he said, "but to assume that international finance is deliberately conducted without any regard to the interests of trade and commerce is an ignorant delusion."

Mr. Snowden admitted he "is afraid there is some truth" in the statement that Britain is living beond its means."

BRITISH INDUSTRY SITS IN SOUTH; LABOR IN NORTH

Situation Forecasts Long Jobless Crisis.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Since the war over 8 per cent of existing industry in the United Kingdom has moved to a new location, and a much larger proportion of industry established since the war has been located in southern England.

The exodus of potential employment, away from the original chief industry districts, is a grave factor in the unemployment problem, as it forecasts a permanence to the jobless situation of thousands of men and women already receiving the "dole."

British labor is extremely averse to migration, and thus far has steadily refused to follow the shifting market of possible employment. Factory hands, discharged years ago, prefer to remain in their humble cottages or tenements in northern industrial communities, subsisting on the "dole" rather than giving up their homes and moving south in the hope of finding work in the newer established businesses there.

Why They Move South.

Several considerations have influenced capital to move from the northern and central zones to the south chiefly and to induce organizers of new industries to establish their plants there instead of the older established sections. They are as follows:

1—The question of local "rates," municipal and county taxation. Unlike government or national taxation, which is based on production and profits, local rates are levied on property valuation, estimated worth of land and land, regardless of whether the business is operating successfully, at a part time, or even at a loss. Huge industries are struggling along in the northern and middle sections of the country paying higher tax rates, despite proportionately larger unemployment in the vicinity, than in pre-war days when they were working overtime and rolling up enormous profits.

2—Nearness to the London market is becoming more and more of a factor for consideration as export trade falls off and the manufacturers are forced to rely to a greater extent on the domestic demand. Greater wages, and the metropolitan area's purchasing power considerably higher than any single other region in the United Kingdom, and, through the concentration of the wealthy elements in the capital, the demand for articles of luxuries, as well as articles of modern convenience and utility, is greater here.

Not Bound by Restrictions.

3—In the less industrialized southern region, organization of industry is not subject to the same rigid traditions and customs, nor is it under the same restrictions that have been imposed by legal requirements and are universally recognized and accepted in the older industrial districts.

4—More widespread use of electricity and oil for power has removed the vital bond which formerly existed British industry adjacent to coal mining areas, and factory location has become considerably more elastic. A majority of the new and expanding industries, which are settling in the south, are engaged in making products largely for local consumption. Electrical engineering products, rayon, automobile construction, modern or recently introduced appliances, such as refrigerators, talking machines, wireless apparatus, telephone paraphernalia, and most of the luxury lines, are being made in the south. The production of these articles is estimated at 15 per cent for domestic use, and only 25 per cent for export.

Shortage of Labor.

There is actually a shortage of adequate labor in the south, but British capital refuses steadfastly from any attempt to transport workers to a great extent; it also refuses to offer such inducements for employés as construction of model homes and communities with the various social services to go with them, schools, shops, doctors, and modern improvements, even telephones, gas and electricity. Such improvements, it is considered, would result in application of the same ruinous rates that are paralyzing industry in the north.

Northern towns, many of them deserted villages today, were designed, according to the viewpoint of 40 and 50 years ago, for industrial requirements and as homes for factory workers. These large communities were fairly well supplied with the requirements of modest, low salaried employés. Thus the drift to the south results in the loss of this capital investment. The conveniences are gradually going to rack and ruin through the inability of the communities, even with extortionate tax rates, to raise sufficient funds to keep them up-to-date and functioning properly.

Invasion of the south has hit such historic spots as Oxford, which is now the geographical center of the automobile industry with the Morris works at Cowley three miles away. Dr. Robson of the London School of Economics says:

"Does any one know where our main cities will be located 20 years hence, or where we will need our roads and trunk lines? No one is planning."

No Houses in South.

A lack of houses in the south is a further reason for the nonmigration of workers. The post-war drive on building cheap frame houses concentrated its attention in the north and in providing homes for London's crowded population. Outside the city it is difficult to obtain small houses and apartment buildings are unheard of. They exist only in the large cities.

Critics of Great Britain point to the refusal of the unemployed in the northern districts to move southward and seek jobs in the newly industrialized areas as a sign of the decadence of England. They point out that the spirit which made England predominant in the last century was a continuation of the same determination which scattered Englishmen and Scots over the entire face of the globe as colonists and explorers, soldiers of fortune, sea captains, and speculators.

Already there is an outcry provoked in industry which has settled in certain of these newer regions, that local rates are beginning to be increased in the attempts of the authorities to squeeze larger taxation from them. This is said to be due in certain instances to political pressure being applied by labor and socialist supporters, who demand that the national policy of redistribution of wealth through taxation be enforced to the utmost degree, and that all sections of the country enjoy the same social conveniences and facilities.

Police Give Boston Mayor Gun and Permit to Tote It

Boston, Mass., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Police Commissioner Eugene C. Hultman went to city hall today bearing a little black satchel and had a half hour chat with Mayor Curley. When he left—by the back door—the satchel was empty and the mayor was in possession of a new .45 caliber police revolver in a new black holster. Also the mayor had the gun toting permit which he had applied for a week ago.

U. S. WILLING TO EXTEND BRITISH FURTHER CREDIT

President and Mellon Discuss Crisis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Washington officials today continued to follow the British cabinet crisis with the keenest interest, the President and his cabinet discussing the situation during the regular Tuesday meeting. Later Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Undersecretary Ogden L. Mills, and Eugene Meyer, governor of the federal reserve board, conferred for more than an hour on the financial phases of the British cabinet change.

No announcement regarding the policy to be followed by the administration in the matter of granting further credits to the British government was made either at the treasury or the White House. Indications were, however, that in the event the Bank of England asks for additional credits after the new coalition cabinet, formed today by Premier Ramsay MacDonald, takes over the reins of government, it will be granted without question.

Deny London Report.

Following today's cabinet meeting it was denied that the federal reserve board or any American governmental agency had refused to grant new credits to the Bank of England. A story appearing in the London Daily Herald to the effect that the federal reserve board had declined to approve a new loan unless the British government reduced its "dole" payments and balanced its budget were described as untrue.

At the White House it was stated that the United States has not been in communication with the British government regarding its financial situation either by telephone or by telegraph. It was stated also in behalf of the President that the British government had not asked for any new loans.

Theoretically neither President Hoover nor treasury officials would play any part in the granting of credits to the Bank of England by banks in the federal reserve system. Practically they play an important part, because no loans of this character would be approved by the federal reserve board before the views of the administration were sought.

Would Consult Administration.

In event the Bank of England asked for a loan in addition to the 250 million credit granted by the New York reserve bank and French financial institutions a few weeks ago, the New York reserve bank itself would first decide whether it wanted to make the transaction as a purely business matter.

If it decided to go ahead, it would take the matter up with the federal reserve board in Washington. Eugene Meyer, governor of the reserve board, in turn would discuss the projected loan with President Hoover and probably with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. If the administration approved, the board would so notify the New York reserve bank and the credits would be granted.

Under the law the federal reserve board is independent of the treasury and the White House, yet in international matters there is always the closest cooperation. In no case are funds loaned directly from the United States treasury, all loans being made through the federal reserve system. In event private banks in New York, not associated with the federal reserve system, desire to extend credits to the Bank of England they act independently of the federal reserve board.

"Although American officials feel confident the new British government will be able to cope with the present financial emergency, there was no disposition today to minimize the seriousness of the fundamental financial situation in Great Britain.

URGES 5 YEAR DEBT HOLIDAY AS STEP TO WORLD PROSPERITY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 25.—A five year world prosperity plan was proposed to 200 economists, industrialists and labor leaders from 20 countries at today's session of the international social and economic congress by Dr. Lewis L. Lorwin of the institute of economics at Washington.

A general five year moratorium on all war debts and reparations payments is the first necessary step to give the world a breathing spell from the most aggravating post-war difficulties, Dr. Lorwin said. Such a moratorium would leave the question of the final settlement of debts open, but presumption would favor further the extension of the moratorium, or final cancellation of debts and reparations, if the effects of the moratorium proved as beneficial as expected.

Secondly, the five year world plan calls for a series of international loans, to be carried out through international cooperation of the chief lending countries, and devised in such a way as to promote the production resources of the most promising areas of the world and stimulate and increase world purchasing power.

Third, the plan calls for a series of international agreements for division and control of the world market by producers of raw commodities and manufactured goods.

JANITORS WALK OUT IN MOVIE THEATER STRIFE

City Halts Examination of Imported Operators.

The dispute between the motion picture operators' union and the owners of 104 neighborhood movie houses entered a new phase yesterday when the theatrical janitors' union called a sympathetic strike on the theaters involved. The strike was called by Thomas Burke, business agent of the union. Theater owners declared that they would employ nonunion janitors and continue operation.

THOMAS BURKE.

Other developments of the day were:

1. A number of the operators imported from New York to take the place of local union men were barred by a policeman when they appeared in the afternoon at the office of C. K. Cregier, acting chief electrical inspector, in the city hall, to take the examination qualifying them to operate projectors in Chicago theaters. No more examinations will be held until Friday, they were told. A group of 54, however, took the examination in the morning.

Attorney Accuses Cregier.

2. Upon receipt of that information, Theodore Levin, attorney for the theater owners, charged that Cregier is preparing an examination "which a graduate electrical engineer could not pass" to be submitted to New York operators. He likewise charged that Cregier is allied with Thomas E. Maloy, head of the operators' union; that Cregier was formerly a member of the union, and that Cregier's brother and nephew were given union memberships on his recommendation.

3. Assistant Corporation Counsel Leon Hornstein filed an answer in the Superior court to the temporary injunction obtained by the exhibitors on Sunday from Judge Ross C. Hall, restraining the city from interfering with the use of the New York operators in running the theaters. He will appear tomorrow to ask dissolution of the injunction.

4. Maloy announced that 2,000 men and women will make a house to house canvas in the neighborhood of each of the theaters involved, circulating cards characterizing the theaters as unfair to union labor, and that pickets will be placed in front of all the theaters to solicit patrons along similar lines.

Charge Blocking by Bureau.

Cregier was made acting head of the city bureau which licenses motion picture operators following the suspension of Joseph Maloy, brother of Thomas, from that position. Both brothers were indicted recently on charges of racketeering, and the suspension followed the indictment.

In the bill on which Judge Hall granted the temporary injunction, the exhibitors charged that the operators' union still dominates the city's licensing functions, and charged that Cregier, because of the influence, is making a deliberate attempt to prevent the licensing of the imported operators.

Those charges were denied by Hornstein in his reply on behalf of the city. The reply also denies the attack made by the exhibitors on the constitutionality of the ordinance.

"The city wants the maximum of safety in motion picture houses, however," the reply states, "for many motion picture theaters are crowded daily with women and children who would be at the mercy of circumstances and stronger persons in the audience in case of panic or alarm of fire resulting from the incompetent handling of motion picture films.

"This bill of complaint was filed for the purpose of attempting to prevent the enforcement of a legal and valid ordinance of the city, salutary in its purpose and reasonable in its terms."

The New York operators were imported by the exhibitors after they had locked out the members of the local union, refusing to abide any longer by the union requirement that the theaters employ two operators on each shift.

CHICAGOAN SCORNS INJUNCTION; OBTAINS DIVORCE IN NEVADA

Frank R. Borton obtained a divorce in Reno, Nev., yesterday from Mrs. Margaret Borton of 1457 East 67th street. Last night lawyers in Chicago and in Reno were issuing contradictory statements about what might be done to Mr. Borton when, or if, he comes back to Chicago.

Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, before whom Mrs. Borton has her own suit for divorce, issued an injunction on Aug. 5 restraining the husband from getting a Reno divorce. It failed to restrain him.

Legal opinion in Reno was to the effect that notice of the injunction was never served on Mr. Borton and that therefore he didn't have to pay any attention to it. But Mrs. Borton's attorney, Morris Haft, asserted that he could be thrown into jail for contempt of court on his return to Illinois. He added, however, that if his client has her ex-husband jailed, it will be for something else. He didn't say what this would be.

The husband's testimony indicated that his wife nagged him and tossed magazines at him, besides being jealous of his mother. On the other hand, Mrs. Borton charged he was under the influence of her mother-in-law, Dr. Anna Reid of Marion, Ill., and had been sent to Reno once before by his mother to get a divorce. On that occasion a reconciliation was made.

NEW SYSTEM OF MONEY OFFERED BY COIN HARVEY

Monte Ne, Ark., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A remedy for the world's economic ills by virtue of a government monetary system without interest and with currency "redeemable only in service" was prescribed by W. H. [Coin] Harvey, veteran free silver advocate, in the keynote address at his Third party convention here today.

Harvey attacked the existing monetary system as the "monster" that will finally write "an epitaph on the tomb of the civilization."

He would restore free coinage of silver but the principal reliance for money would be placed on government issued paper money which would be increased any time by referendum of the people. He would outlaw interest which he says is the underlying evil of the present system.

CALL BARBERS TO MASSMEETING TO CONSIDER PRICES

A massmeeting of the 3,000 members of the Master Barbers' association will be called next week to vote on the question of reducing prices. This was decided last night by the executive council meeting in the Hotel Sherman after hearing protests of some members of the attempt to maintain present prices through local organizations.

Among those who demanded a massmeeting was Frank Rango, secretary of the Journeymen Barbers' union, local No. 548, who declared that prices must be uniform if the union contract is reopened. Any change in the union wage would require the action of an arbitration board after the contract had been reopened.

The U. S. Makes Texas Boy at Home in the Big City

Robert Dawes Ross, nephew of Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, alumnus of Cambridge and Harvard universities and a dollar a year man on the staff of United States Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, retired last night prepared for his first big case in court.

Upon Mr. Ross had devolved the responsibility of making his star witness, a 17 year old Texan, feel at home in Chicago and keeping him safe from gangsters.

The witness, Woodrow Wilson Rampy, arrived on Monday from Lubbock, Tex., in the Llano Estacado country at the foot of the Panhandle, bearing a letter from United States Commissioner Lindsey. Commissioner Lindsey advised Commissioner Walker of Chicago that he was a personal friend of young Rampy's family, and that, inasmuch as the lad had never been in a big city like Chicago, any courtesies would be appreciated.

Wants to Avoid Gangsters.

"I don't need any special lookin' after," drawled the six foot youth from Texas, "Just tell me a hotel to put up at where there won't be any gangsters."

The witness Rampy manages a rent a car agency for his father in Lubbock, and he had come to Chicago to testify against Wayne Rogers of Sweetwater, Tex., also 17 years old, who had rented the car and driven out of the state with it, in violation of the Dyer act.

Commissioner Walker appointed Mr. Ross, the prosecutor in the removal proceedings, as protector for the witness.

"At first I thought it would be interesting to take him out to the house for the night," said Mr. Ross. "But the folks told me there were going to be too many guests."

Mr. Ross solved the problem of a lodging for the night by taking his witness to the Y. M. C. A. hotel. Then the prosecutor did some thinking, which brought about much activity yesterday.

Greeter Gaw Is Away.

He called the office of City Greeter George D. Gaw. The official greeter was up in Wisconsin, vacationing, but Miss Bernice Rocke, his secretary, called George Brumlik, assistant manager of the Hotel Sherman and an old friend of Greeter Gaw.

So yesterday young Rampy rode from the Y. M. C. A. hotel to the federal building in Mr. Brumlik's imposing automobile, escorted by three motorcycle policemen with their sirens screeching.

"The motorcycle escort was not to protect our witness from gangsters," explained Mr. Ross. "It was merely to facilitate getting through traffic."

Crowd at Federal Building.

A great crowd assembled at the Dearborn street entrance to the federal building, many of them inquiring whether Al Capone was on trial. Mr. Ross arrived on the scene and posed for the photographers with his witness.

Visits were made to the Shedd aquarium, the Field museum, the Lincoln Park zoo, and other points of interest. The visitor was driven through Chicago's forest preserves and parks and over the boulevards. Later he was taken for a swim and then installed for the night at the Hotel Sherman. Mr. Ross explained that he seemed to prefer this hotel.

The witness will appear in court today. Mr. Ross said he was considering asking John Henry Wigmore, dean emeritus of Northwestern university's law school, to appear as a friend of the court. Counsel for John [Jake the Barber] Factor and the crown of Great Britain are going to volunteer their services for the accused, and Mr. Ross anticipates stiff competition.

The value of the automobile is doubtful. The defendant contends that it is worth only $35, and he wants to pay for it with $50 which Factor gave him. Rampy thinks it was "worth a right smart" when it left Texas, but he admits it wouldn't bring much in Chicago.

Conner Is Leading for Governor of Mississippi

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Barring an improbable upset, Mike Bennett Conner, lawyer-politician, will be the next governor of Mississippi. On the face of representative returns from all parts of the state late tonight he was leading High White, millionaire lumberman, by a margin of 12,680 votes. Unofficial returns from 522 of the 1,590 precincts gave Conner 43,874, White 29,696.

SEEK TO OPEN CONGRESS ST. TO CITY LIMITS

Group to Ask Governor for Gas Tax Funds.

BY HAL FOUST.

Gov. Emmerson tomorrow will be asked to approve an appropriation from the gasoline tax funds for the widening and opening of Congress street from Michigan avenue to the city limits as a one level boulevard without grade separations. The request will be made by a delegation of twenty-five men headed by George W. Dixon, representing twelve local improvement associations on the south and west sides, according to an announcement made yesterday by William A. Dudley, managing director of the Greater Central District association.

GEORGE W. DIXON. [Underwood & Underwood Photo.]

The widening of Congress street at grade is being presented as a counter proposal to the construction of an elevated highway, with continuous grade separation, on the Austin-Kinzie route abutting the Chicago and North Western railroad embankment. The Chicago Plan commission's engineers, in a three years' survey of the city's traffic needs, vetoed a plan to widen Congress street and indorsed the Austin-Kinzie project.

Plan Commission Objects.

"The normal level widening will not solve the west side traffic problem," wrote Hugh E. Young, chief engineer of the plan commission, in a report on the Congress street plan. "The expense involved would not be justified. The benefits to traffic would not be commensurate with the cost.

"The saving in traffic time would not warrant the expense. There would still exist seventy-five street intersections, each one a source of danger and a constant cause of delay. In order to handle the great volume of west side traffic effectively and economically, the proposed superhighway will have to be elevated over cross traffic."

The cost of land and buildings alone in widening Congress street from Canal street to Austin boulevard was estimated by the plan commission at $20,535,500. The entire cost of the Austin-Kinzie elevated highway—construction as well as property damages—was estimated at $22,000,000.

Estimates on Highway Cost.

In data prepared for tomorrow's interview with Gov. Emmerson, the cost of the land and buildings for the Congress street widening west of Canal street is placed by the improvement associations at $13,250,000. The associations also propose that Congress street be widened east of Canal. There is no existing Congress street between Wells and State streets. The cost of land and buildings in this downtown section for the widening from Michigan avenue to Canal street is estimated in the associations' data at $13,500,000. The cost of the entire improvement, from Michigan avenue to the city limits, is estimated by its sponsors at $27,750,000.

"We don't suggest that the state's gasoline tax revenue should pay the entire cost of this Congress street project," said Mr. Dudley. "We suggest that the state should pay only a portion of the cost, the rest to be borne by a bond issue and by special assessments against adjacent property."

One of the main arguments for the improvement of Congress street is that it was included in the original plan for a Chicago beautiful prepared in 1908 by the elder D. H. Burnham.

"When the improvement of Congress street was suggested twenty years ago," read Mr. Young's report, "the conditions in Chicago were much different from what they are today. The automobile has brought about a radical change in the situation."

TWO BROTHERS DIE IN VAIN ATTEMPT TO SAVE NEPHEW IN MINE

Dudley, Ia., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Two brothers lost their lives here today when they vainly attempted to rescue a nephew, who had fallen into a disused shaft of a small coal mine.

Ernest Redburn, 19, slipped and fell into the shaft, partly filled with water, as he and his uncles, Glenn and Harold, worked at the top.

Redburn was overcome by "black damp." One of the brothers dropped into the shaft to rescue his nephew. He likewise was overcome. The other brother then attempted the rescue and met the same fate.

BROOKLYN BANK IS MERGED WITH N. Y. INSTITUTION

New York, Aug. 26 [Wednesday].—[Special.]—The Brooklyn National bank of New York, with a main office at 32 Court street, Brooklyn, and two branch offices in that borough, early this morning was taken over by the Manufacturers Trust company of New York, following a meeting of the directors of the Brooklyn bank and officers of the Manufacturers Trust.

The action was taken within 24 hours after Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers Trust, had announced his bank would liquidate the Bryant Park bank of 220 West 42d street, Manhattan.

The Brooklyn bank will reopen today as a part of the Manufacturers Trust company system, which thereby assumes all liabilities of the smaller institution.

Mayer Kraushaar, a director, said the action was taken because of the constant decline of deposits in the smaller bank and the apparent lack of public confidence.

In its financial statement of June 30 the Brooklyn National bank, of which William C. Redfield, former secretary of commerce in the cabinet of President Wilson, was president, had total resources of $9,986,547. Deposits were listed at $6,209,801. The bank was opened in April, 1929.

C. H. M'CORMICK PERSONALTY TAX PAID; DROP SUIT

The suit filed on Monday by State's Attorney Swanson against Cyrus H. McCormick, 50 East Huron street, chairman of the board of the International Harvester company, charging nonpayment of personal property taxes amounting to $55,666, was withdrawn yesterday when it was learned that the tax bill had been paid on Aug. 19. Assistant State's Attorney Lee R. La Rochelle said that an error apparently had been made in the treasurer's office.

George W. Dixon, 1250 Lake Shore drive, who was also named in one of 200 suits filed Monday to collect personal property taxes, and who, according to the suit, owes $2,516, said yesterday in his office that he had paid the tax and had the receipts.

Nearly 200 additional suits were filed yesterday, involving a total of approximately $500,000 in taxes. With Monday's suits, the total of taxes involved is $1,000,000.

Dry Raiders Seize 1,200 Bottles of Home Brew

Prohibition agents led by Joseph Spizzirri last night raided a storeroom at 808 North Wabash avenue and seized 1,200 bottles of home brew. No one was found in the place and no arrests were made. A little earlier the same detail of agents had gone into the Entre-Nous café at 21 West Pearson street and arrested Gene Van, said to be a female impersonator, who had been sought since a raid made in the same place on June 6.

Frees Auto Owner Whose Car Crashed Into Store

D. S. Komiss, 435 Surf street, South State street fur and garment merchant and member of the Chicago crime commission, was freed by Judge Thomas A. Green in the Town Hall court yesterday when he was arraigned on a charge of reckless driving. The charge was placed against him on Aug. 16 after his automobile plunged through the doorway of a Wheelan drug store at 5200 North Clark street, injuring three persons.

TWO BOYS KILLED WHILE STEALING RIDES ON TRUCKS

One Struck When Ordered Off Vehicle.

Charles Ganzales, 14 years old, 114 South Wood street, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a motor truck at Monroe and Leavitt streets, after stealing a ride on another vehicle. The boy had been riding on the truck driven by Walter Athey, 38 years old, 6722 South Sangamon street, who ordered him off at the intersection. Charles jumped into the street and a moment later was struck by a truck driven by James Davis, 21 years old, 3735 North Leavitt street. The drivers were not held.

Willie Benitez, 7 years old, 1110 Newberry avenue, was killed when he fell beneath the wheels of a truck on which he was stealing a ride in front of 1144 South Halsted street. Mack Martinez, 1459 West Roosevelt road, the driver, was held for the inquest.

These deaths and five others raised the automobile toll for Cook county since Jan. 1 to 741. The victims:

Jack Manougian, 48 years old, 1822 West Adams street, a push cart peddler. Fatally injured when struck by a Checker cab at Monroe and Wood streets. The cab, driven by John Bang, 51 years old, 2317 West Monroe street, collided with a car driven by Adolph Anzona, 25 years old, 3846 West Van Buren street, and swerved onto the sidewalk, pinning Manougian against his cart. Both drivers were held.

Paul Druppel, 22 years old, 4511 Lake Park avenue. Fatally injured when struck by an automobile at Leif Ericson drive and 48th street. Frederick Mathes, a Dundee farmer, the driver, was freed by a coroner's jury.

Mike Minardi, 74 years old, 225 West 24th street. Died in the Mercy hospital from injuries suffered when he was struck by the automobile of Sergt. Charles O'Regan, secretary to Chief of Detectives John Norton, at South Parkway and 24th street. O'Regan said the elderly man became bewildered while crossing the street and stepped into the path of the automobile. He was not held.

Alex Cellini, 44 years old, Steger, Ill. Died in St. James' hospital Chicago Heights, from injuries suffered on Aug. 20 when he was struck by a sedan which had collided with another car at the Old Sauk trail and Dixie highway, Chicago Heights.

George Gajdos, 40 years old, 3846 Buffalo avenue. Died in the Chicago hospital from injuries received on Aug. 22 when he was run down at 91st street and Mackinaw avenue.

Barrel Causes Death

MISS MARY RITTER.

Miss Mary Ritter, 21 years old, an entertainer at the Wildwood inn, near Michigan City, was fatally injured yesterday when a barrel of beer shifted and overturned the car in which she was riding with W. S. Jones, manager of the inn. The accident occurred near Calumet City. Jones was not injured. He fled and is being sought by police. Miss Ritter was taken to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond by a passing motorist and died after giving Jones' name.

ELOPING REPORT LINKS DIVORCEE AND VANDERBILT

Reno, Nev., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr. departed yesterday for some point east of here after a farewell party to Mrs. Marie Glass Marshall, who yesterday divorced Ledin Rothrock Marshall Jr., New York social leader and importer. This morning Mrs. Marshall left, supposedly for New York City. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Marshall have been seen much in one another's company since Vanderbilt was divorced here by Mrs. Vanderbilt, and an elopement is rumored in the set in which the two mingled. Vanderbilt refused to reveal his destination upon his departure. On the other hand close friends of Vanderbilt scouted the rumor of an elopement, stating that the couple merely were very good friends. Others who attended the farewell party declared, however, that there had been talk of an elopement at the party and that both Vanderbilt and Mrs. Marshall discussed the possibilities freely.

Governor's Board Studies Wantz Proposal.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The governor's revenue commission, of which Joseph K. Brittain is chairman, discussed at length last night a plan to regulate public expenditures. The discussion was executive, but it is understood that the proposal calls for a state board to supervise, control and in certain instances initiate expenditures by local governments throughout the state.

The plan was submitted by a committee of which Ray Wantz of Rockford is chairman. Legislation to make its plan effective would be drafted by its active subcommittee should the proposal be accepted.

Hope for Future Tax Cut.

It is said that the report submitted last night does not provide for any reduction in taxes or the expenses of public agencies at the present time; but it is claimed that the scheme would eventually reduce expenses by the action of the board of control. One of the conferees is reported to have outlined how it can be hoped to reduce government expense in normal times by another board, if the public officials will not make substantial reductions under present conditions.

A plan of state control of public expenditures was attempted in Illinois during the Small régime. The powers and control of state politics at that time thought that the simplest method open to control taxes, and it was proposed in bills presented to the legislature to grant large powers to the tax commission. The idea was first credited to Fred Lundin. A battle followed in the legislature and the bills were defeated. It was then argued that the plan would further retard Chicago's ambitions for home rule.

Follows South Carolina Plan.

The new plan of the Wantz subcommittee is said to seek the same results sought by a different method. It is reported that the scheme is modeled somewhat on the plan of North Carolina, where a central committee is credited with complete control of the fiscal policy of every local government. The students claim it has won immediate benefits, but it has taken years to make cities, villages and counties more economical than the Lundin plan was ever anticipated.

Governor Brittain said he had not studied the report of the Wantz committee before it was presented last night. He added that the committee had decided it would be inadvisable to make public the text of the report now. For a similar reason the discussion was also confined to an executive session. It was explained, however, that the Wantz committee will bring in a report on reduction of governmental expenditures.

3 DERBY FLYERS FORCED DOWN IN HOP TO EL PASO

El Paso, Tex., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Three entrants in the air Derby from Santa Monica, Cal., to Cleveland, O., were forced down today by mechanical difficulties on the lap from Tucson, Ariz., to El Paso.

They were Mrs. Blanche Noyes, Cleveland, who turned back to Tucson; Earl Rowland, Wichita, Kas., who came down about 15 miles east of Douglas, Ariz., and Barney Rawson, Cleveland, who landed about eight miles west of El Paso.

Fifty-two planes arrived in El Paso safely. They were led into El Paso by Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, Cal., who landed at 3:19 p. m., M. S. T.; Phoebe Omlie, Memphis, Tenn., was second, finishing 19 minutes later. Mildred Morgan, Beverly Hills, Cal., was third, and Glenna Granger fourth.

W. Musgrove of San Francisco was the first man entrant to arrive in El Paso. He landed at 3:50 p. m.

REVIEWERS ASK TAX COMPLAINTS IN WRITTEN FORM

Instead of hearing the complaints of 209 taxpayers from the country towns of Cook county, the board of review last night asked that all write out the evidence that valuations on their properties was too high and submit it within five days.

The board promised that each case would be investigated quickly. It was also announced that 203 owners of urban property, scheduled for hearings tonight, would be told to submit their cases in documentary form.

One of the board members, Charles V. Barrett, warned his hearers that they must make definite showings that their valuations were too high. Otherwise, he said, the board would be unable to lower the assessments.

ITALY PLANS TO GIVE JOBS TO 100,000 MEN DURING THE WINTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 25.—Anticipating that unemployment and distress of the working classes, due to the world's economic crisis, may reach unprecedented limits during the approaching winter, Premier Mussolini's government today took steps to alleviate it in Italy with a formidable program of public works.

These measures, announced today in a bulletin of the Fascist party, provide for an expenditure by the ministry of public works of a total of $46,000,000, calculated to give employment to 100,000 men from the beginning of November to the end of March, when the agricultural season ordinarily opens in Italy.

The expenditure is proportioned over the entire peninsula and detailed provisions were published today of the amount and extent of work to be carried out in each district and province.

The chief expenditure is that of $30,300,000 for the continuation of roads and highways now in course of construction, which is carried on under a special autonomous commission on roads. In addition a sum of $832,950 will be expended on new roads. It is estimated that 47,300 men will be employed on the highways during the winter.

Other details of the program call for an expenditure of $441,350 for marine work, such as harbors and docks.

Construction of new secondary roads will cost $1,049,700; hydraulic works such as canalization and drainage in the valley of the Po, $7,622,450; improvement in towns and villages in rural districts, $276,400; new buildings, $50,000; continuation of railroad works, $250,000; continuation of reconstruction in earthquake districts, $1,750,000, and improvements in Sardinia, $1,000,000.

POSTAL WORKERS PLEDGE $100,000 TO RELIEF FUND

Charles S. Dewey to Head Industry Drive.

Postmaster Arthur C. Lueder announced yesterday, after conferring with Bernard J. Mullaney, that the postal employés will raise $100,000 for the joint emergency relief committee within six months.

ARTHUR LUEDER.
[De Gueldre Photo.]

There are about 12,000 postal employés. The supervisors have volunteered to contribute $4 a month; the carriers and clerks, $2 each, and the cleaners, 50 cents a month.

Heretofore the postal employés have administered their own charities. Last winter they raised $40,000.

Postmaster Lueder also agreed to confer with various other heads of federal departments in Chicago, with a view of getting other pledges to the relief of the unemployed.

Dewey to Head Business Drive.

Charles S. Dewey, former assistant secretary of the United States treasury, was appointed yesterday to head the drive of relief funds from the division of trades, industries, and professions by Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the general campaign committee.

For several years prior to 1924 Mr. Dewey was connected with the Northern Trust company. For the last three years he has lived in Warsaw and served as financial advfher to the Polish government.

Mr. Dewey said that the organization work in his division will start at once.

Seeks Aid from All.

"We expect to organize committees to gain contributions for approximately fifty different trades, industries, and professions," Mr. Dewey said. "There are in Cook county about 8,000 companies and firms which will be asked to lend their support. Within a short time after the chairman of each group is selected we will have a meeting to complete plans and procedure in seeking aid from each group. Employés of the companies and firms will, of course, be asked to do their part along with their employers.

"We should remember that the present is but a passing emergency and that our great country will again become prosperous, and that employment and hardship will cease to exist."

The committee of colored people on relief, with Congressman Oscar De Priest as chairman, announced that it will hold a Negro jubilee and concert to raise funds Sept. 22 at the White Sox park. The proceeds will be turned over to the governor's commission. Joseph Lindquist, vice president of the Central Republic Bank and Trust company, will act as treasurer.

"Our race has been hit the hardest by the depression, but we are anxious to show Chicago that we are willing to raise a large amount of money through our own efforts," said Congressman De Priest.

Schedule Crusade to Raise Relief Funds Oct. 19-Nov. 25

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A nation-wide appeal for the huge unemployment relief fund that will be necessary to cope with unemployment distress during the coming winter will be staged from Oct. 19 to Nov. 25, the President's organization for unemployment relief disclosed today.

Under the present plan, members of the President's advisory committee will assist local organizations in the states where they live. Nation-wide radio appeals for unemployment relief aid will be sent out from Washington. It is also possible a poster campaign, similar to that staged during the war, will be conducted.

Owen Young on Committee.

President Hoover today named five new members to the national advisory committee, assisting Mr. Gifford in unemployment relief, including Owen D. Young of New York. The others were: Conrad Mann, Kansas City; P. G. Spillsbury, Phoenix, Ariz.; S. P. Bush, Columbus, and James F. Bell, Minneapolis.

New York Mobilizes for Winter.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Faced with prospect of a greater need for relief among the unemployed in this city this winter than last, city officials and bankers and industrialists prepared today to meet the situation. Financial leaders and industrial heads, meeting in the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., decided on a citizens' committee similar to the Prosser committee of last winter. Harvey D. Gibson, president of the Manufacturers' Trust company, who was Red Cross commissioner for France in 1918 and for Europe in 1919, was appointed chairman of the committee, which will provide work for unemployed through funds it will raise.

Meanwhile Acting Mayor Joseph V. McKee at city hall definitely promised "a definite, concrete program," with a fund that "will be adequate," after a meeting of the board of estimate at which a suggestion that the city appropriate $20,000,000 to the unemployed was discussed. The suggestion came from Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and head of the national organization set up in Washington at the direction of President Hoover. The board of estimate did not decide definitely on the $20,000,000 appropriation.

JURY REPORTED IN AGREEMENT ON PRAISE OF POLICE

An executive session was held last night by the special grand jury investigating the police department. It was reported to have reached an agreement on the final report to be made to Chief Justice John P. McGoorty and which will exonerate the police of the charges made last year regarding "an alliance between police and organized crime." Some changes were decided upon last night in the draft of the report presented and it was arranged for the jury to meet again on Friday before notifying Judge McGoorty of the completion of the duty imposed upon it.

"Even Chinese gods and Florentine altar cloths prove this soap is safest"

Mrs. Arthur A. Small

SUCH breath-taking treasures! This fragile old lace tablecloth is made of two Florentine altar cloths, dated 1802. These exquisite old Russian laces simply cannot be duplicated now. Here's a seventeenth century French cloth with napkins, all delicate filet and drawn work. And on the table, a gorgeous silk damask cloth, hand woven for a bride of old Peiping. —Every piece used and laundered in American Family Flakes as fearlessly as you would linen.

"I've tested this soap for twenty-five years, on fabrics worth a small fortune," says their naturally proud possessor, "and every piece is as good as the day I got it. In fact, many of the older pieces have actually added a generation or two to their usefulness. See how white these old linens are: not a thread weakened. This moire (unfolding a shimmering golden cloth) has been used and laundered for more years than most silks last, and still looks brand new. Do you wonder I feel so emphatically that there isn't a soap in the world to compare with American Family Flakes?"

What greater proof could there be of American Family Flakes purity, and the quick, easy way it loosens dirt without rubbing? It's the double-suds that does it—and does it for hosiery, shirts, dishes, linoleum, woodwork, everything. The sooner you begin using American Family Flakes and Soap, the more you save.

Mrs. Arthur A. Small

Born at an army post. Daughter of the late Brigadier-general Irwin and sister of the late Major-general G. Leroy Irwin. Heart and soul in the Army Relief Society. Gives unique dinners. Table spread with lustrous golden Chinese damask (bridal design of good-luck bats and peaches). Centerpiece of porcelain Chinese gods—museum pieces that took a lifetime to make. China of priceless old yellow Royal Canton and original Chinese Willowware. Gleaming old silver services. All shining, glowing in candlelight in the many-paned mirror wall. Everything, even the great mirror, is washed in American Family Flakes, "and it's just shining in two or three minutes," says Mrs. Small's maid. "Because this soap rinses off perfectly. Such good soapy suds. With plenty of hot water it often saves polishing silver. Keeps my hands nice too. We buy it by the case—wouldn't use any other household soap." And that's true in four out of five Chicago Gold Coast homes.

The Flakes—double-sudsing—the only soap trusted with the costly laundry of 4 out of 5 Gold Coast women.

The Cake Soap—double-sudsing—for ninety years used by more Chicago women than all other laundry soaps combined.

It's cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes

COUNTY BOARD VOTES $174,800 FOR TAX BODIES

Action Called Illegal by Fiscal Adviser.

The county board, on the request of the boards of review and assessors for emergency appropriations totaling $174,800, voted the money yesterday. The commissioners were immediately told by M. J. O'Connor, their clerk and fiscal adviser, that regardless of their action the money would not be paid out by the county controller. The payments, he stated, would be in violation of the law.

M. J. O'CONNOR.

Formal letters were presented by the taxing bodies to the board embodying the requests. The assessors asked $40,000 for additional help on the 1931 quadrennial reassessment, $35,000 for additional help to correct errors in the 1928 and 1929 assessments now pending in the County court, and $40,000 to hire experts to make a drive for additional 1931 personal property assessments.

Money for Extra Clerks.

The reviewers, through their chief clerk, Andrew W. Gatenbey, asked $80,800. He explained that they wanted the money to put on day and night shifts of eighty-five clerks each, in order to handle the paper work involved in the hearing of 1,300 complaints on the 1930 assessments daily. By adhering to that schedule, with the help of extra clerks, Gatenbey said, the reviewers would finish hearing complaints by the last of September, in time to send out tax bills before the penalty date, fixed at Jan. 1 by the legislature.

County Attorney Hayden N. Bell informed the board that under the new budgetary law which went into effect this year, the board was forbidden to make supplementary appropriations. However, he said, it has a constitutional right to appropriate money if such appropriations are necessary to its continued existence as a governing body. Whether the emergency appropriations asked by the reviewers and assessors fell under that heading of absolute necessity, he said, was a matter for the commissioners to judge.

Cites Admission of Fox.

Commissioner Amelia Sears pointed out that in a previous request for funds, on Aug. 9, Charles E. Fox, director of appraisals for the assessors, had admitted that he could make a legal assessment with the funds now at his disposal. That, she asserted, was an admission that no necessity exists for the emergency grants. J. L. Jacobs, county efficiency engineer, also denied that the assessors face any emergency threatening the breakdown of the county government. The reviewers, he said, should be granted some additional money, but not all they asked.

The board, however, passed the motion of Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb to grant the full appropriations asked by both bodies, by a 10 to 4 vote. The vote was:

Aye—Commissioners Ryan, Weber, Kavanagh, La Buy, Kelly, McEnerney, Plumb, Fleming, Byrd, and Kasper.

No—Commissioners Busse, Miller, Sears, and President Whealan.

Then O'Connor, who is deputy county controller as well as clerk of the board, spoke up:

"The law specifically provides that no appropriation shall be made unless a specific means is provided to get the money. There is no money. So far as the controller is concerned, the money never will be paid. It's just as if you hadn't voted it."

"Then this has all been a hollow show?" asked Mrs. Edward J. Fleming.

"Sure," replied O'Connor.

Arrest 3 Communists in Street Demonstration

Three leaders of a small band of communists were arrested and a large crowd scattered by three squads from the Racine avenue station last evening at Evergreen and Milwaukee avenues. Charles Dunn, 35 years old, 2429 West Division street, was one of the men arrested.

LOS ANGELES HEAT WAVE HOLDING ON TO BEAT ALL RECORDS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Records for sustained heat in Los Angeles went crashing again today, assuring one of the hottest summers in the history of the weather bureau. Today's peak in the city was 97 degrees, one degree higher than yesterday and the highest ever for an August day.

The heat wave virtually began late last June. Beginning June 25, when 96 degrees was recorded, the maximum remained above 85 for forty successive days. Mean temperature established a new July record. A respite came at the beginning of the current month, but the sun's rays again became torrid five days ago.

Inland cities in Southern California reported even higher readings today. At El Centro, on the Mexican border, business was halted when 112 degrees was reached. At Needles, on the Arizona line, it was 114. Pasadena's maximum was 106 and Riverside's 108.

A strong rip tide, sweeping the coast in the Long Beach region claimed at least one life today and endangered thousands of bathers driven into the water by the heat. A similar tide drowned 21 persons on July 4.

BOARD AWARDS CONTRACT, BUT ASKS COURT O. K.

Accepts $1,495,000 Bid on County Nurses' Home

The county board yesterday formally approved the action taken by its members in Monday's star chamber session, and awarded the contract for the construction of the seventeen story home for county hospital nurses to the Mutual Construction company on an alternate bid of $1,495,100.

In awarding the contract, however, the commissioners demanded that it be sanctioned by court ruling before the actual work is begun. Attorney Edgar B. Tolman, who represented the construction company at the closed hearing on Monday, declared that he was prepared to go into court within the next few days to obtain a ruling.

At the board meeting there was none of the bickering which marked the executive session. The contract was included in the report of the finance committee and the room, which was crowded with spectators, was quiet as the roll call was begun.

Voices Her Opposition.

Commissioner William Busse passed his vote. Commissioner Homer J. Byrd voted for the contract. Then Mrs. Edward J. Fleming rose to explain her opposition.

"Our attorney, Hayden Bell, has warned us that the acceptance of the alternate bid of the Mutual Construction company is illegal," she said. "The members of our body would be made liable for the whole amount of the contract if it were contested by a taxpayer.

"Only $200,000 worth of the $2,000,000 worth of bonds passed for this home have been sold. As things now stand we may find that the bonds yet to sell will be greatly discounted. There is a second serious objection. All the real estate necessary for the grounds has not yet been purchased. This may cause long delays and court action."

Commissioners Cast Votes.

The call then proceeded quickly, Commissioner Emmett Whealan, president of the board; Daniel Ryan, Charles Weber, Maurice F. Kavanagh, Walter L. La Buy, Peter M. Kelly, Miss Mary McEnerney, Mrs. Glen E. Plumb, and Frank J. Kasper casting their votes in favor of the bid. Commissioners Amelia Sears and George Miller voted against the award, backing Mrs. Fleming.

The bid of the Mutual Construction company on the specifications drawn up by Eric E. Hall, county architect, and submitted with those of nineteen other contracting companies, was the sixth lowest. In an alternate bid in which the floor plan specifications were radically changed to meet its own terms the company effected a saving of $106,900, which brought its price to the lowest submitted.

County Attorney Bell warned the commissioners that the change in the specifications caused the company to have virtually a private contract against which none of the other contractors was able to bid. This is illegal.

Joshua D'Esposito, consulting engineer and head of the advisory committee which examined the bids, recommended that of the Mutual company. The change in the specifications, which involved the substitution of hollow tile in the floorings instead of steel pans, is sound engineering, he said.

Why pay toll to Oxygen the coffee Racketeer?

New VITA-FRESH PROCESS delivers full-flavor coffee every time!

OXYGEN is a racketeer that costs the housewives of America millions of dollars every year.

It is a hijacker that attacks coffee as soon as it comes from the roaster stealing its strength, robbing it of flavor.

Just read these amazing facts established in the laboratories of a leading Eastern University:

(1) Loose or bag coffee loses 65% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

(2) Coffee in old-fashioned cans loses 45% of its flavor in 9 days after roasting.

All due to the attack of Oxygen!

Think of it! 45% to 65% of the flavor gone from 9-day-old coffee. Even vacuum packing, a definite improvement over old-fashioned methods, removes only part of the air from the can, leaving sealed in enough Oxygen to cause flavor loss and deterioration.

The new Vita-Fresh Process removes the air so completely that the most rigid chemical analysis reveals no trace of Oxygen in the Vita-Fresh can after packing.

Remember—Oxygen* is the destroyer of coffee freshness and flavor. The Vita-Fresh Process alone gives full protection to coffee goodness. Maxwell House and Maxwell House only gives you this guarantee of full flavor, full value in every pound.

Try fresh coffee once and you'll drink it always Thousands of coffee lovers everywhere are now enjoying really fresh coffee for the first time in their lives, thanks to the new Vita-Fresh Process. Order a pound of Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee from your grocer today and give yourself a new taste treat. It's a flavor revelation.

Try it at our risk

After trying Vita-Fresh Maxwell House Coffee, if you and your family do not agree that it is the finest coffee you have ever tasted—simply return the can with unused portion to the grocer from whom you bought it and he will gladly return the full purchase price.

LOW SCHOOL BIDS ON WILL COUNTY STRIP MINE COAL

Wilmington Fuel Leads in 5 of 7 Districts.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Material Service corporation was lowest in the open yesterday when bids were received to supply approximately $1,000,000 worth of coal to more than 400 public school buildings for the next year. It has no coal or coal yard facilities and submitted no bids.

Mining coal men, however, the Material Service corporation, by proxy, was credited with being the low bidder to bring coal for five of seven districts into which the schools are divided for fuel contracts. The company appears to have had an arrangement by which it controlled the fuel mined by the Northern Illinois Coal company, strip miners of Wilmington, in Will county. Low bids were submitted on this coal in the five districts.

In five districts the Wilmington coal bids represented the fuel as having exactly the same heat units, percentage of ash, and percentage of moisture. This is looked upon by coal men as a remarkable coincidence.

Two Sets of Bids.

Tuesday's was the second set of bids. The first bids, received Aug. 5, and the bids received yesterday will be submitted to the board at its session today. Probably both sets will be referred to the buildings and grounds committee, of which Trustee Oliver Blatchford is chairman. It was Trustee Blatchford who caused the heat requirements to be lowered and the specifications otherwise changed to permit coal from the Wilmington and other strip mines to enter the competition after the first bids had been received.

Dislikes Strip Mine Coal.

Several coal men who listened to the reading of the bids predicted that the board will have trouble next winter with still strip mine coal. Its demerit is said to be a high percentage of moisture, which retards combustion. Two years ago there was considerable complaint of the heating quality of Wilmington coal.

The north Illinois coal from Wilmington was represented in the bids yesterday as having 10 per cent of moisture, while an advertisement in the Coal Dealer for August represents the moisture as 15.6 per cent of this coal.

The low bidder yesterday in the First district on lump coal is the L. Huston company of 1205 Cortland street. The concern has delivered eastern coal for the Material Service company. The Huston bid was on the Wilmington strip coal, offering 60,300 heat units for a cent.

In the Second district the Excelsior Coal company was the winning bidder by offering 59,535 heat units for a cent in Vermilion county strip coal against a bid of 56,830 units in Wilmington coal.

Medical Heat Unit Bids.

The Beverly Fuel company was the low bidder for lump coal in the Third district, with an offer of 60,300 heat units on the Wilmington strip coal, the same as in the First district. The Beverly company was awarded a contract a short time ago to supply about 3,000 tons of coal to the county hospital, delivering coal mined by the Consolidated Coal company. The railroad records show that company as the shipper of certain cars of coal on the county hospital contract to the Material Service company as the consignee in Chicago.

The Silver Creek Coal company, which has handled some of the Material Service corporation coal, was the low bidder on District No. 4 for the Wilmington coal. It also offered 60,300 heat units for a cent.

In District No. 5 the Bishop Hamilton Coal Sales corporation was the low bidder on the Wilmington strip coal, offering 60,300 heat units for a cent. For the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company was the low bidder with 59,161 heat units on Vermilion county strip coal. In contrast with the enthusiasm with which dealers offered Wilmington strip coal at 60,300 heat units for a cent, the Wisconsin company on its Vermilion county strip coal offered 59,161 heat units in the First district and 56,000 in the Sixth district.

In the Sixth and Seventh districts the Colonial Coal company was the low bidder on Wilmington strip coal. In the Sixth district they offered 60,300 heat units, but in the Seventh district, which covers much vacant territory in the south end of the city, they set their offer down to 58,120.

Blatchford Is Criticised.

Some of the coal men expressed privately considerable bitterness toward Trustee Blatchford, who caused the revised specifications which would permit strip coal to be offered in the school bidding. One of them said that it is perfectly apparent that the purpose was to let in the strip coal from Wilmington.

"The schools asked for 50,000 to 60,000 tons of lump coal," he explained. "I canvassed the state. Outside of the Wilmington strip mine I could not find more than 56,000 tons of such coal for sale which would fit the school board specifications.

"I had a friend of mine ask prices from the Wilmington operators and they could not quote prices because they were tied up."

Get Bids for $852,545 Work on Dvorak School

Bids for $852,545 work on the Dvorak Junior High school, to be built at 15th street and Kildare avenue, were received by the board of education yesterday. Total cost of the building is estimated at approximately $1,350,000. Among the low bidders were the A. & E. Anderson company, $269,990 for the general work; the Lind Construction company, $91,000 for carpentry; the T. J. Douglas company, $120,700 for steam heating; the United States Fireproofing company, $52,000 for fireproofing.

Father's Anxiety Leads to Prison for Three

Mattoon, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A father's solicitude for his son resulted in the imprisonment today of three youths on charges of participating in four robberies. Jesse Crum, farmer, south of Mattoon, placed his son, Norman, 14, in the custody of the chief of police, requesting the latter to "take care of him before he gets shot." The father told the chief that his son and two other boys had confessed.

INQUIRY ORDERED ON CONTRACTS OF BERWYN SCHOOL

Assistant State's Attorney Homer Dodge obtained a subpoena duces tecum yesterday from Judge Charles A. Williams in the Criminal court for all records connected with the letting of four contracts for repairs and improvements in school district No. 98 of Berwyn. After several months of investigation, Prosecutor Dodge announced that he has information showing irregularities in the awarding of the contracts, involving a total of $220,000.

Restriction of competition by advertising for bids for only four days instead of ten before awarding the contracts and charges that the four "favorite" contractors were the only ones given plans and specifications upon which to base their bids were stated by Prosecutor Dodge as two reasons for his action.

Amarillo, Tex., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Miss Anna Nardes, 16, was arrested here today at the request of New York City police who telegraphed she left home with $3,000 belonging to her parents. "I meant to keep the money only until I could get located," the girl said.

NO COUNTY FUNDS FOR BANK PROBE, SAYS WHEALAN

Board to Turn Deaf Ear to Request.

Any request for a special appropriation to enable State's Attorney Swanson to carry on the grand jury investigation of the closed banks in Cook county will meet a cool reception from the county board.

EMMETT WHEALAN.

This was indicated yesterday by Emmett Whealan, president of the board, in commenting upon publication of reports from the Criminal courts building that an appropriation of $50,000 or $100,000 was deemed necessary to finance the bank investigation.

"We simply haven't got the money," said Mr. Whealan. "There may be a pressing need for a bank investigation, but there is a still more pressing need for cash to meet the public pay rolls. I can't see how the board could grant such a request."

Denies Need of Extra Help.

Moreover, Mr. Whealan intimated that in his opinion the state's attorney already had sufficient facilities for conducting the bank investigation without employing the staff of auditors and investigators which proponents of the special appropriation believe necessary.

Mr. Swanson held aloof from any discussion of the controversy over need of a special appropriation. He did place himself on record, however, as opposed to the suggestion for a special grand jury to conduct the bank investigation, a proposal sponsored by several groups of bank depositors.

The state's attorney expressed impatience with the suggestion of some depositors that a special prosecutor be appointed to conduct the bank quiz. This suggestion was predicated on the fact that Mr. Swanson's political allies, Charles S. Deneen, Roy O. West, and Roy Massena, were large stockholders in the closed Bain banks, and that John Bain, former head of the banks, was his personal friend.

"Let it be understood, once and for all, that the Bain banks will be accorded precisely the same treatment as any other banks in this investigation," Mr. Swanson said vehemently.

Promises Jury Statement.

George Mason Jr., official of the Scully Steel and Iron company and foreman of the grand jury, assumed full responsibility yesterday for the rule of secrecy imposed on witnesses testifying at the initial session of the bank inquiry Monday.

"The grand jury realises the vast public interest in this investigation," he said. "We pledged the witnesses to silence because we deemed that policy best for the success of the investigation. We will, however, make a statement of our progress before the jury adjourns."

Resuming the probe today, the grand jury will hear receivers and attorneys of four closed banks, the Novak & Stalskal, West Central, Central Oak Park, and Progressive State banks.

Foreman Stockholders Meet.

Stockholders of the Foreman banks met yesterday and ratified the action of the bank directors last June 1 in transferring the assets of the Foreman institutions to the First National and the Union Trust banks.

Nine Chicagoans, all connected with the Central Republic Bank and Trust company or with the National Bank of the Republic, which the former absorbed, have been subpoenaed to appear tomorrow before the Lake county grand jury in a probe of the affairs of the closed Waukegan State bank.

Those summoned are George Woodruff, Gustave F. Fisher, Hartley C. Laycock, Ward C. Castle, John W. Jedlan, W. H. Miller, E. L. Wagner, W. H. Hastings, and Lucius Tater. The Central Republic bank, according to State's Attorney A. V. Smith of Waukegan, owned a number of notes of the Waukegan bank.

DEMOCRATIC SKY BECLOUDED OVER GOVERNOR RACE

Horner Faces Fight with Igoe and Campbell.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Instead of being a love feast, Democratic day at the Illinois state fair tomorrow may be the opening of an intra-party war over the governorship. Until tonight when the vanguard began arriving observers at a distance had thought that the lineup for the regular organization ticket was straightening out in definite form. It had appeared that Probate Judge Henry Horner of Chicago, with the backing of the Cermak forces, would take a big lead over Bruce Campbell of the East St. Louis district for the top of next year's state ticket.

But the early arrivals found that the downstate members of the legislature who last June urged Minority Leader Michael L. Igoe to run for governor were on the scene and extremely active, declaring their willingness to wage war if that becomes necessary.

Piles of Campaign Supplies.

Across the streets adjoining courthouse square there were "Igoe for Governor" signs. A similar one hung from the St. Nicholas hotel, which is state committee headquarters, with a smaller sign informing the beholders that Igoe headquarters also could be found within.

At those headquarters were found stacks of what are called campaign supplies. Although the April primary is eight months away the tables under the eye of Representative Alexander Wilson of Cairo bore stacks of lithographs, windshield stickers, armbands and blotters all bearing the "Igoe for Governor" slogan.

Representative Igoe was not present to speak for himself nor will he be in these parts until Labor day. He is in Europe as a member of the legislative joint commission studying prison methods there and there has been no formal word from him since, just at the close of the general assembly, he told banqueters who gathered in his honor as minority leader that if they wanted him to be a candidate for governor he would do so.

Cermak to Present Horner.

But his followers, led by Wilson, said there was no doubt in their minds that he is a candidate now despite the fairly certain indication that the Chicago organization intends to get behind Judge Horner, who has been made the headliner on tomorrow's program, a rôle in which he will be presented by Mayor Cermak.

Campbell is here on the job quietly. He says he has nothing to say today and will make his position plain in his speech on that same program. But the Campbellites are rejoicing among themselves over the Igoe developments. They whisper that it means a split in the Cook county vote which might give their man the victory.

Mayor Cermak and Judge Horner will not be on the ground until the special trains get in from Chicago about noon tomorrow. The Chicago mayor has refused to be interviewed about next year's state ticket.

May Force Quick Decision.

Some of his friends who are here see the pro-Igoe activity as an effort to force him into a quick decision to give the south side representative the right of way in Cook county, but they are even more positive in their declarations that such tactics will not prevail with Cermak and may lead him into an open declaration for Judge Horner.

One even went so far as to say that the mayor would rather see Campbell, a downstater nominated, than to have Igoe the nominee. This was taken with a pinch of salt. The early rivals privately express a hope that the threatened war may be avoided. They say that if it develops it might split the party indefinitely and throw back into the hands of the Republicans much of the ground gained in the last few years, throwing away what they consider a sure state victory.

4 MILLION FORTUNE OF JAPANESE IMPORTER ADDS TO SEA MYSTERY

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Hisashi Fujimura, Japanese importer, who mysteriously vanished from the liner Belgenland more than a week ago, was worth about $4,000,000, the federal authorities announced today, adding that in view of this they had dismissed theories of suicide from consideration.

The information about Fujimura's wealth was obtained from Juichi Kono, vice president of the Asahi corporation, of which Fujimura was president.

At the same time an examination of the bank accounts of Mrs. Mary Dale von Reissner, who accompanied Fujimura on the "showboat" cruise in the capacity of governess to his 7 year old daughter, revealed that she is almost penniless.

Assistant United States Attorney Jacob J. Rosenblum said his efforts to trace the $334,000 that had passed through Fujimura's bank account since last March had revealed that Mrs. Von Reissner had very little cash on hand. One of her accounts, Mr. Rosenblum said, was overdrawn and the other carried a balance of only a few dollars.

Another questioned today was Henry Tom, Chinese cook in the apartment which the missing Japanese and the governess are alleged to have shared in Rye.

SLEMP DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF CANNON'S FUND

Admits Introducing Bishop to Political Angel.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—C. Bascom Slemp, former Republican national committeeman from Virginia, assured the senate campaign funds investigating committee today that although he introduced Bishop James Cannon Jr. to E. C. Jameson, New York financier, he had nothing further to do with the $65,000 Mr. Jameson gave Bishop Cannon to be used against ex-Gov. Alfred E. Smith in the Virginia campaign of 1928.

C. BASCOM SLEMP. [H. & E. Photo.]

The committee's inquiry was resumed today to get, if possible, further light on whether or not Bishop Cannon wrongfully diverted any of the Jameson contribution, as charged by Representative George H. Tinkham [Rep., Mass.]. The investigation is being conducted under a resolution introduced by Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.] and adopted by the senate. The inquiry, though disappointed in Mr. Slemp, will proceed tomorrow with other witnesses.

Slemp Put Up $5,000.

It developed that Mr. Slemp gave $5,000 to the anti-Smith forces in Virginia for the 1928 campaign. He was unable to explain the "pledge" by him to which Bishop Cannon had alluded in a letter.

Mr. Slemp testified that he admired Mr. Jameson so much that he would have been glad to see him as a member of the Hoover cabinet and that he had discussed the possibility of "recognition" for Mr. Jameson with Bishop Cannon.

As the hearing started, Woodward Winburn, attorney for Bishop Cannon, presented a cablegram from the churchman protesting vigorously against resumption of the inquiry and asserting that the Glass resolution was a "purely personal attack by a vindictive Virginia Democrat and a Boston congressman under Roman Catholic domination." Senator Nye, committee chairman, declined to receive the protest for the time being. Senator Glass, at his home in Lynchburg, denies he brought any charges against Bishop Cannon.

Nye and Dill Conduct Inquiry.

Mr. Nye and Senator C. C. Dill [Dem., Wash.], the only two committee members present, sat as a subcommittee pending the arrival of Senator Porter Dale [Rep., Vt.] tomorrow, and of Senator Robert F. Wagner [Dem., N. Y.] later on. The two men proceeded with cross-examination in a room well filled with spectators.

Mr. Slemp said that as Republican national committeeman he saw "a good opportunity" to carry Virginia for Herbert Hoover if the campaign "was properly financed" and, acting against "the sympathy" of the Republican national committee, he went out to raise the necessary money personally. He saw Mr. Jameson in New York and advised the financier to contribute to the Republican state committee and the anti-Smith.

"I first went to ex-Senator Frelinghuysen in September, 1928, and I think he introduced me to Mr. Jameson. I brought Mr. Jameson and Bishop Cannon together, but when the money was promised I stepped out," Mr. Slemp said. "The bishop presented his own case. He wanted $50,000. Mr. Jameson had been recommended as one favoring the 18th amendment, the election of Hoover, and two parties in the south."

Mr. Slemp said Mr. Jameson gave $30,000 to the Virginia Republican state committee. He said he never visited the offices of the Virginia anti-Smith committee, which, though for Hoover, did not support Republican candidates for congress.

Senator Nye produced a letter from Bishop Cannon used in the lobby committee hearings which spoke of a "pledge" by Mr. Slemp, but Mr. Slemp said he was unable to understand this reference. He explained that he secured $7,500 from a bank, $2,500 of which went to the state committee, and $5,000 to the anti-Smith committee.

Tells of Donations.

"I never gave another dollar, check or cash, to Bishop Cannon or the Virginia anti-Smith committee," he stated.

Bishop Cannon's cablegram protested that the prohibitory writ, for which he recently asked, still was in the courts; and that his church duties required his presence in Europe.

"Evident purpose of investigation is not remedial legislation but criminal prosecution before statute of limitation prevents," the bishop wired. "Jameson contributions were made in September, October, December, January, giving ample time for prosecution. Furthermore, Jameson contributions were all used to defeat Smith presidential electors, and therefore not under jurisdiction of congress as presidential electors are state officials.

"Glass resolution was not presented to enable senate to adopt remedial legislation but is purely personal attack by vindictive Virginia Democrat and Boston congressman under Roman Catholic domination. I have never objected to investigation by federal grand jury on trial before properly constituted court, but cannot agree that senate committee operating under no restrictions has right to conduct investigation concerning definite complaints of criminal conduct."

FORMER MICHIGAN DRY CHIEF TO LEAD MODIFICATIONISTS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—James R. Davis, former prohibition director of Michigan, announced today that he had joined the forces of the Michigan Modification league as state organizer.

Mr. Davis also challenged the Anti-Saloon league to put the question of prohibition to a referendum. "If the league is sincere in its contention that prohibition is here to stay and that the masses of people favor it.

Mr. Davis, in an interview on the subject, stated that he had come to believe that manufacture and sale of beer under government and state control is the best solution of the prohibition question.

STATE SENATOR NAMES SOURCE OF BRIBE OFFER

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—State Senator David Lorbach of Cincinnati today named C. J. Knisley, former employé of the state highway department at Columbus, as the man who allegedly told him there was $350,000 ready for him if he would withdraw from the senate committee's investigation of the highway department.

Lorbach made his statement at a special meeting of the investigating committee which he had called this morning upon arrival here to attend the biennial reunion of members of the legislature.

"Whether it was a bribe or a feeler, I don't know," Lorbach said.

Square this with what you hear . . . what you read . . . what you believe

NOWADAYS you read and hear every kind of thing about cigarettes. But when you try to square some of it with your own common-sense and experience, a lot of it just doesn't "square"!

What smokers want to know about a cigarette is, "How good is it?"

And when it comes to that, cigarettes are just as good and just as pure as the materials from which they're made.

In making Chesterfield, we use only riper, milder, sweeter-tasting tobaccos—the best that money can buy—and pure cigarette paper—the purest that can be made. Our chemists rigidly test for cleanliness and purity all materials used in the manufacture of Chesterfield. In our factories even the air is washed, and changed every 4½ minutes.

Everything that goes into Chesterfield is the best that money can buy or that science knows about.

"Good . . . they've got to be good," we say about CHESTERFIELD—and we mean it! And that's something you can square with everything you've ever read, or heard—or know—about this good cigarette!

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Members of Illinois prison commission, whic touring Europe, have changed minds about the French peniten system which Judge Denis E. Sul of Chicago declared had nothin interest or to teach the Ameri This afternoon junketers journey Fresnes, the great relay prison o outskirts of Paris, where crim are held several weeks before definitely committed to the va penal institutions, or to Devil's Is

Members of the party who were pared to encounter medieval tor and other horrors were agreeably prised. All agreed that Fresnes below the standard of German British prisons as citizenship teries," but at the same time found much to admire in the wa organization. They were greatl not favorably, impressed with the tem of solitary confinement.

Prisoners' Faces Masked.

The tiers of cells have the ap ance of a gigantic incubator, o frigerator. The prisoners are off by solid sheet iron doors. food is handed to them throu small panel and when they go ou exercise, or to chapel, their face masked so that they will not r ize each other.

Senator Richard J. Barr of expressed his distaste at this sy and a guide explained that it wa signed to eliminate sexual perve so prevalent in jails where pris share cells. On the other hand it pointed out that women prisoners together in large dormitories.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of Ch was shocked to learn that pris awaiting trial, often boys in 'teens, were kept under the same ditions as hardened criminals an lowed to associate with old offen His objection was partially answ by the guide who declared that the French system of examining istrates any one suspected of a is released within a few days, u authorities are convinced that have an airtight case.

Watch Boys in Chapel.

One curious feature, which the en commissioners witnessed, was sion in the chapel and meeting where 100 youths in the boys' se were listening to a radio concert. room consists of row after ro wooden boxes, resembling telep booths. A loophole at the top box permits them to look at the without being able to see their panions. The visitors also saw a of young prisoners playing foo in the yard. JUNKETERS VISIT FRENCH PRISON; SEE NO TORTURE

But Express Their Dislike to Certain Features.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Members of the Illinois prison commission, which is touring Europe, have changed their minds about the French penitentiary system which Judge Denis E. Sullivan of Chicago declared had nothing to reform or to teach the Americans. This afternoon junketers journeyed to Fresnes, the great relay prison on the outskirts of Paris, where criminals are held several weeks before being definitely committed to the various penal institutions, or to Devil's Island.

Members of the party who were prepared to encounter medieval tortures and other horrors were agreeably surprised. All agreed that Fresnes was above the standard of German and British prisons as citizenship "factories," but at the same time they found much to admire in the way of sanitation. They were greatly, if not favorably, impressed with the system of solitary confinement.

Prisoners' Faces Masked.

The tiers of cells have the appearance of a gigantic incubator, or refrigerator. The prisoners are shut off by solid sheet iron doors. Their food is handed to them through a small panel and when they go out for exercise, or to chapel, their faces are masked so that they will not recognize each other.

Senator Richard J. Barr of Joliet expressed his distaste at this system, and a guide explained that it was designed to eliminate sexual perversion so prevalent in jails where prisoners share cells. On the other hand it was pointed out that women prisoners live together in large dormitories.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of Chicago was shocked to learn that prisoners awaiting trial, often boys in their teens, were kept under the same conditions as hardened criminals and allowed to associate with old offenders. His objection was partially answered by the guide who declared that under the French system of examining magistrates any one suspected of a crime is released within a few days, unless authorities are convinced that they have an airtight case.

Watch Boys in Chapel.

One curious feature, which the prison commissioners witnessed, was a session in the chapel and meeting hall, where 100 youths in the boys' section were listening to a radio concert. The rear consists of row after row of cubicle boxes, resembling telephone booths. A loophole at the top of the box permits them to look at the stage without being able to see their companions. The visitors also saw a crowd of young prisoners playing football in the yard. They appeared to be healthy and contented children.

The section for women with children was also inspected. There were about 50 women, of varying ages, many unmarried. In a nursery in the basement they washed clothes and cared for their babies under the watchful eye of a nun. Upstairs was the dormitory with clean white beds and cribs.

The prison authorities revealed that the children remained with their mothers in prison up to the age of four, a fact which rather shocked the commission. It was pointed out, however, that there were no bars to the cells in the nursery section, and that imprisoned mothers were not given the regulation prison uniforms.

Good Whisky Hard to Get.

Returning from Fresnes to Paris the commissioners treated reporters to a round of cocktails and disclosed some of the unofficial studies they had been making during their trip. It seems they had come to the unanimous conclusion that, with the exception of whisky, it was harder to get good whisky in Europe than in Chicago.

MOTHER PREFERS JAIL TO CARING FOR 5 CHILDREN

Brownsville, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Anna Humphreys, who told Judge Dewitt Chappell she "would rather go to jail than care for my five children," was serving a 30 day sentence today.

"I have no sympathy for mothers of your stamp," Judge Chappell told Mrs. Humphreys.

Humphreys, father of the children, knelt in the courtroom to pray for his wife's forgiveness.

Probation officers said the mother was unmoved by information that two of her daughters, thirteen and seven, had attended an all night dance party. Testimony showed the father and children were living in a barn, while he prayed that she return to him.

"You'll have to pray harder than that to get me back," he quoted her as saying when she found him in supplication.

WIFE DRIVES MOTHER A SUICIDE.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ida Gilbert, 60, known in police circles here as "Blind Mary," committed suicide by taking gas in the kitchen of her home this morning. The body was found by her son Albert, who had slept all night in a back room of the house because he said he was afraid to go home when he learned his mother had been drinking.

SHERIFF STRIPS AN. Y. HOTEL OF ALL FURNITURE

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Two sheriff's deputies backed twelve huge moving vans up to the sixteen story Victoria hotel, one of the Rialto's most modern hostelries, this afternoon and began removing the furnishings on a writ of replevin.

To the consternation of watchers among the hotel's many guests and the indignation of the management, the deputies, Joseph A. Lanman and James R. Cavanagh, began dismantling the lobby and the hotel's elaborate dining room.

Their court papers, they announced, called for stripping bare the hostelry's 1,000 rooms of $500,000 worth of furniture, and an armed guard of special policemen stood over them as they went about their work.

"The deputies were collecting almost everything that goes to make a hotel, except the bare walls. Silver, linens, decorations and furniture disappeared into their vans.

The attachment was obtained by the International and Industrial Securities corporation and the Industrial Acceptance corporation, which financed the furnishing of the hotel.

REFINERY CHIEF IS INDICTED ON PERJURY CHARGE

Abe Allen, president of the Midway Refining company, South Holland, near Calumet, was reported charged with perjury in a true bill voted by the grand jury yesterday. The action grew out of the campaign of the petroleum industry and public officials against gasoline bootlegging. Allen was indicted last week on charges of withholding gasoline taxes. The perjury action was based on testimony in his trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the motor fuel tax laws last spring, when he was acquitted.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

WHERE TRAFFIC COUNTS ARE SUPERFLUOUS.

The grade separation at Milwaukee road and Dempster street is a valuable addition to the highway facilities in this region. It permits the free flow of traffic in four directions without any slowing down, delay or danger of accident. It is a demonstration of the need for many more such grade separations throughout the metropolitan region. Only when many more of the crossings have been similarly improved will motorists be in a position to enjoy the roads they have paid for with their license fees and gasoline taxes.

In this connection it is interesting to observe that the Illinois highway department has joined with other agencies in making a survey of the traffic flow in this and other sections of the state. Such a survey, if honestly conducted, cannot fail to reveal statistically the obvious fact that in the metropolitan region the density of traffic is greatest. It should follow that there the need for the expenditure of money on the roads is most pressing. If the results of the traffic counts are acted upon intelligently a vastly greater proportion of the state's road funds must be spent in the northeastern counties than any legislature has yet approved. Indeed, it will be impossible to escape the conclusion that state road funds should be made available in large amounts for road building within the cities, a policy to which the last legislature gave grudging and wholly inadequate recognition.

The legislature, however, did make large sums available for grade separations where, in the judgment of the administration, they were needed. The money is in hand, paid over by the motorists. There are a dozen or more intersections which are notorious sources of annoyance and loss to motorists. A traffic count might reveal at which of these crossings the congestion is most severe, but it would be absurd to wait for the completion of the count before undertaking construction. When men are trapped in a burning building the rescuers do not make a survey of the heat conditions in various parts of the structure to determine who shall be rescued first. There is little more sense in waiting for the completion of a traffic count before starting grade separations in the metropolitan area. The need for them needs no statistical demonstration.

Any delays at this time are inexcusable. The state has the money and thousands of building mechanics are out of work. If the highway department wants to know where to begin, almost any motorist and certainly any motor club can provide the information desired in half an hour. Indeed, it is inconceivable that the highway department hasn't the information itself.

THE BAIL BOND FAILURE.

Investigations by the state's attorney's office have disclosed that only six persons are licensed as bondsmen under the new bail bond act, although at least sixty have been making bonds, as professionals, in the city courts since the law supposedly became effective. State's Attorney Swanson has brought the matter to the notice of Chief Justice Sonstehy of the Municipal court and Commissioner Alcock.

It is difficult to imagine a reasonable explanation of such an evasion of law, requiring, as it does, the consent of judges and police in their administration of their own duties. The bail bond act was to stop the frauds by which criminals benefited and the enforcement of law suffered. It was intended to provide a degree of assurance that when a prisoner was released on a bail bond there was a responsibility for his appearance to answer the charges against him and a penalty enforceable if he did not appear.

Evasion of this regulation of the bail bond, correcting a notorious abuse, had to have the consent, it would appear, of the law officers themselves. They had to accept bonds from persons who had not qualified themselves to furnish bail.

The bail bond frauds had become the least excusable faults of the administration of justice, offering escape to persons charged with crime without penalty to the professional bondsmen who had gone surety for their appearance. The failure to make the new act effective is astonishing. State's Attorney Swanson is justified in protesting strongly.

THE DEFIANT INDIVIDUAL.

Two news stories have been running concurrently from China. One is that of the great flood disaster with untold loss of life and property, a shocking tragedy involving hundreds of thousands. The other concerns the trial of Dr. Francis F. Tucker, the American missionary who shot a prowler and discovered that he had killed an employe of the mission hospital. The man, Chinese, was committing a robbery. The Nationalist government at Nanking demands that the missionary go to an early trial. The preliminary inquiry seems to justify the defense of the mission property, although a number of Dr. Tucker's fellow missionaries hold that he as a clergyman should not have taken the life even of a robber.

In the midst of the wholesale destruction of life by an act of nature the fate of a single individual—the circumstances of his death—does not have its importance obliterated. Life is a cheap thing in China and death is accepted stoically. Nevertheless civilization issues its defiance to the forces which would overwhelm it. China has a half million refugees fleeing from the flood and threatened with starvation and disease. Other regions are in the grip of famine. Civil war has inflicted infinite brutalities upon the people. It still remains important to discover how a Chinese prowler in a foreign mission came to his death.

There are racial and international complications which cannot be ignored, but with destruction everywhere the individual retains the legal integrity of his importance even when it seems mostly fiction.

THE BRITISH CRISIS.

Only a crisis as serious as that which the threat of defeat in war might create would bring about such a coalition of party leadership as is represented by the new British government. The prospect of party advantage is normally too strong to be surrendered except under the pressure of national disaster, and this is in fact the situation which the financial predicament has imposed with overpowering force upon political action.

The catastrophe confronting British finance is unprecedented in its history, but its gravest significance lies not in the international complications which have precipitated it but in the fact that British social and political policies and conditions have brought government to such a pass that it cannot exist without spending more than it can raise. It is to correct this impossible situation and to save the nation from the ruin which it inevitably will bring about that the political system is shelved and recourse is had to an emergency combination of all the political elements concerned to save the present order. The issue is not merely the saving of British international credit. The process of expending more money than can be raised by a taxation which has been rapidly undermining the whole structure of British finance, industry and commerce can only be justified as revolution, and it is revolution, the complete destruction of the historic British social order, that is the underlying purpose of the intellectual leadership of the British labor movement. If this has been camouflaged by English abhorrence of violent revolution and English distrust of logic or systematic program, it has nevertheless moved steadily, and since the war rapidly, toward its objective. Whether it will arrive remains to be seen, but the present crisis presents the issue as a fundamental reality which the British people must face and deal with decisively. When British credit can be saved only by submission to the dictation of American financial powers, as report indicates, it has reached a state that no complaisance can conceal.

The formation of a government including MacDonald, Snowden and Thomas, probably the ablest of the Labor politicians, with the heads of the Conservative and Liberal parties, seems to provide the strongest agency obtainable to enforce essential emergency measures. It splits the Labor party wide open, obviously, but probably can count upon some fair amount of support from its ranks. That part of labor which is most conscious of the revolutionary objective and least patient of delay will be segregated and this ...ust have the effect of stiffening middle class resistance to further exactions for maintaining the excesses of the dole, and perhaps in some measure reconcile it to such sacrifice as it will be called upon to make for the essential balancing of the budget. What is left of Liberal party influence is valuable to the same end and Tory interest in the preservation of the existing order can be exerted with less resentment under cover of coöperation with Labor and Liberal leadership than could be expected if acting alone. If the crisis is to be weathered, it can only be by such a combination.

But though the crisis in its most urgent financial phase is weathered, there remain still the conditions which have been weakening the whole structure of British society, of British finance, public and private, and of British industry and commerce. Chronic unemployment, increasing world competition, obsolete methods, inordinate public expenditure, are problems which preceded and will outlast the present crisis and which require for their solution the ablest statesmanship and the most intelligent public Great Britain can produce.

Editorial of the Day

MANY PILGRIMS TO PLYMOUTH.

[Rockford (Ill.) Register-Republic.]

Mark Sullivan, writing from the scene in a copyrighted article in the New York Herald Tribune, tells of the astonishing number of visitors to former President Coolidge's birthplace and summer home at Plymouth, Vt. It seems to him that Plymouth has more tourist callers than even Monticello or Mount Vernon. He doubts that any other place associated with any other American, living or dead, has so great a number.

Two questions are asked by the callers at Plymouth. They want to see the room in which Mr. Coolidge took the presidential oath and then they ask: "Will he run again?"

"The Plymouth neighbors," Mr. Sullivan writes, "having a firm faith in self-interest as the dominating motive of man, think firmly that Mr. Coolidge will run again and be elected again. They cite evidences which, to their shrewd though not completely informed eyes, support their confidence that their neighbor will 'choose to run' again. They ignore the obstacles to Mr. Coolidge being the Republican candidate in 1932—obstacles residing in Mr. Coolidge's own mind, in the minds of the Republican party leaders, and in the very nature of the situation. However, 'again' might mean as late as 1936, for Mr. Coolidge was only 59 last Fourth of July."

"Mr. Coolidge may never be President again," Mr. Sullivan says. "The overwhelming probability is he will not. But on the evidence of the amazing tide of visitors to Plymouth he is entitled to feel that large numbers of his countrymen would be glad to have him President at any time he might 'choose to run.' So long as he lives he will be in the public mind as a kind of a permanent Vice President to whom much of the country would turn in great emergency. Judging by his appearance and his ease of mind, his years should be long in the land. Just now he has gone back for a few days to his permanent winter home in Northampton. He was at Plymouth for four weeks. The visitors wore out the paint on the floor of the little sitting room in which his father swore him into office. Mr. Coolidge ordered a new coat of paint to be put on the floor. When the paint is dry he will come back to Plymouth."

NO RACKETEERS.

A bob-haired, scantily clad flapper was making her application at the pearly gates, and St. Peter was putting her through her category.

"What was your occupation?" he inquired.

"Men called me a gold digger," she tittered.

"I'm sorry, but on account of the paving we can't let you in here."—American Legion Monthly.

FORGOTTEN PEOPLE.

The wind sucks in through the dusky rocks
Where a watchman snores, and memory locks
Brave spirits, who, once when the moon was large,
Prayed in the Mission down by the marge
Of the turbid Rio Grande.

And Memory lives with the rotting stone
Of this Mission of Spain, where all alone
A watchman sleeps, but well he knows
That the rustling sound of the wind that blows
Is the sweep of robes on the stair.

Oh, the moon is large o'er the ruined walls,
And coyotes wail and a lone wind calls
Through the dusty rocks of the crumbling tower,
And the cry of the owl at the midnight hour
Is loud yet weird with a mystic sound.

The watchman who snores on the bench below
Stirs when he dreams and mutters low,
That the Mission priests with stately air,

HIDALGO.

HELEN WILLS MOODY, absent from the title play last season, has regained the woman's tennis championship which she had held since 1923, except when an appendicitis operation prevented her from competing in 1926. She displaced Miss Betty Nuthall of England, who was eliminated in the semi-finals by a fellow countrywoman, who, in turn, lost to Mrs. Moody in straight sets. Incidentally, the California star maintained her record of not losing a set in match play against women in four seasons.

Thus Mrs. Helen becomes, in women's tennis, what Bobby Jones was in golf—only more so. More so because superiority in golf is less certain of demonstration than superiority in tennis. Whether such outstanding prowess is a good thing for women's tennis, in the long run, may be questioned. Certainly Mrs. Moody is not to blame because she plays tennis better than any other woman in the world. Her absence now would detract from interest temporarily just as has that of Jones. If, however, a time comes when she decides to surrender her amateur standing in favor of many lucrative offers for services or film work, there will be more incentive for other women players to spend the time and energy necessary for championship play. That is not what any one would suggest, but what one could accept without criticism when Mrs. Moody "tires" of amateur competition.

It is the hour that brings your step and key—
The evening hour when you come home to me.

ADELAIDE LOVE.

PROHIBITION DIRECTOR WOODCOCK has promised that women will not be used in entrapment and liquor violation cases. This is as it should be. While there are times when women detectives are valuable in solving crime cases, it certainly grates on one's sensibilities when they are used as decoys or "stool pigeons" in attempted enforcement of a law which never can be enforced anyway.

SCREENING.

THE national malaria committee was given a considerable amount of information on wire screens by Mr. J. G. Ralston. The writer has found that dealers in wire screening, as well as the purchasing public, need to know what the essayist told the health workers. Screening is known as wire cloth. It is made from five materials.

The wire is rolled from ordinary rods of steel or other material. One foot of ordinary steel rod will make five hundred lineal feet of wire. This wire is wound on drums, or spools. It is woven on a loom into cloth, in essentially the manner cloth is made. Blacked, painted wire cloth is woven from steel wire, in a cloth in which there are twelve spaces in each inch. This is called 12 mesh. After being woven it is painted.

Electrogalvanized wire cloth is first woven from steel wire. The cloth is then immersed in a galvanized bath. Bright, galvanized wire cloth is woven with galvanized iron wire. The galvanized wire cloths are made in 12, 14, and 16 mesh weaves.

Copper wire cloth is made from commercial copper wire. Bronze cloth is made from a wire that is composed of an alloy, 90 per cent of which is copper. The color of the screening depends upon variation in the treatment of the metal. Bronze and copper screening is made in two sizes, 14 and 16 mesh.

The purchaser should always examine his material closely. Mr. Ralston says that what is bought as 16 mesh may be 14 mesh, or 14 in one direction and 15 in the other. If the mesh is not uniform, mosquitoes go in through the large holes and make no apologies for not permitting the small ones to keep them out. He says we may have to purchase and pay for 18 mesh cloth in order to get the mosquito stopping qualities of 16 mesh. We are to remember, however, that he tells us there is no 18 mesh in warehouse stocks. Special orders bring special prices.

The lasting qualities of screening depend principally on the material used. Generally speaking, painted wire cloth gives way quickest and bronze wire lasts longest. It is economy to buy a good cloth. Bronze and copper may not be very durable near the sea water. The brine spray corrodes it. The whipping action of the wind is deleterious.

Copper cloth is rather soft, and with little tendency to spring back into shape when pressed on. It is rather easy to punch holes in it. All iron wire cloths rust—some slowly, and others more rapidly. To prolong the life of painted wire cloth, wash it clean, dry it, and then paint it. This should be done in alternate years with galvanized screening. Wash the dirt away, dry, and brush with boiled linseed oil.

Any screening is more effective against insects if it is wiped off with kerosene at intervals.

SEE SKIN SPECIALIST.

R. D. writes: What is the reason for hands peeling every spring? The symptoms appear the same as scarlet fever. Is there any special food one can eat to eradicate this?

REPLY.

There is a reason, but what it is in your case I do not know. It may be caused by some food that you have eaten to which you are sensitized, but that I doubt. It may be that this is an evidence that your winter diet has been wrong; that is the better guess. However, I do not know what the deficiency is. Another possibility is that you have had your hands in something that has poisoned them. Specific infection is a possibility. Before long we will publish a letter from a man whose hands peeled and cracked, who thinks he cured himself by intelligent dieting. He is a professor of chemistry. There are at least six skin diseases that may fit your description. My advice is that you have a skin specialist decide which yours is.

BLISTERS ON FEET.

J. V. B. writes:

1. What can be done to cure the small blisters and peeling which come between the toes in summer months?
2. What is the treatment?
3. Are X-rays beneficial?

REPLY.

1. If this appears only during the hot weather, it is probably pompholyx rather than ringworm. If it is present at other seasons it is probably ringworm. Have your physician decide which it is.
2. If it is pompholyx, use dusting powder very freely on your feet, in your shoes, and on your stockings. Go barefoot whenever feasible. Wear sandals without socks when permissible; with socks, when you must. When you wear shoes let them be the ventilated kind. Reduce friction by means of powders. This refers to the prevention of pompholyx.
3. I don't think so.

QUALIFICATIONS FOR FIREMAN.

Chicago, Aug. 4.—[Friend of the People.]—What are the qualifications for city fireman and when will the next examination be held? J. B.

At this writing no examination is scheduled for position of fireman [fire department], but we have placed the name of the writer on our mailing list for notification of the next examination called. At this time the minimum height and weight requirement for this examination is 5 feet 8 inches, 150 pounds. The age limits are 21 to 30 years [must not have reached the 31st birthday]. Applicants must be citizens of the United States and residents of the city of Chicago for a period of at least one year immediately preceding date of examination.

CORRESPONDENCE COURSE.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year ago I signed a contract for a correspondence course. At the time I was out of employment and they promised to secure a position for me if I took their course. The securing of a position was not mentioned in the contract. When I looked at the books at home I found I could do nothing with the course, so returned the books, which they accepted. Since then I have secured a position through my own efforts and would like to know: 1. Can they garnishee my salary? 2. How many weeks' salary can they take? 3. If they do garnishee and I start paying a dollar a week, is that all that is necessary to prevent further garnishment? H. W.

1. Only after getting judgment against you.
2. Enough to pay the amount that you owe.
3. No payment of less than the full amount due would protect you. The aforegoing answers would be applicable if this transaction stood alone, but in view of the number of such cases that have come to our attention, we would suggest that you try reporting the facts to the state's attorney to see if he can bring pressure to bear upon the correspondence school.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 26, 1915.

BERLIN.—Dr. von Bethman-Hollweg, imperial chancellor, stated that if the "commander of a German submarine went beyond his instructions in the Arabic case the imperial government would not hesitate to give complete satisfaction to the United States." Continuing, the chancellor said: "As long as the circumstances surrounding the sinking of the Arabic have not been fully cleared up it is impossible for me to make a definite statement. Thus far we have received no report on it. Now, we do not even know whether the sinking of the ship was caused by a mine or by a torpedo fired by a German submarine, nor do we know whether in this latter case the Arabic itself may not, by its actions perhaps, have justified the proceedings of the commander of the submarine."

WASHINGTON.—That the crisis in the relations between the United States and Germany arising over the sinking of the Arabic has been passed is the belief expressed by high officials of the administration, who indicated that President Wilson shares their view.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y.—"Don't applaud unless you feel a burning sense of shame because the United States has not stood up for Belgium." Theodore Roosevelt, former President, snapped out these words at a crowd at the military instruction camp during a speech in which he censored the administration for its attitude in the European situation and strongly urged preparedness for war. "The surest way for a nation to invite disaster is to be rich, aggressive, and unarmed," the former President declared. He urged compulsory military training and asserted he would put "peace poltroons" to digging trenches and kitchen sinks.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

DOVER, England.—Holbein, who started from Cape Gris-Nez, between Boulogne-Sur-Mer and Calais, in an attempt to swim to Dover, narrowly escaped drowning. He swam twenty-six miles to a point within six miles of Dover and collapsed after having been in the water twelve hours and forty-six minutes.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich.—Eighty-six couples were married in St. Joseph during the week ending Aug. 24, and 61 of the couples were from Chicago.

CHICAGO.—Seven persons employed at Sunnyside park were poisoned by eating toadstools given them by Detectives B. J. Gallagher and C. B. Zable of the Town Hall police station, who mistook them for mushrooms. Among the seriously ill is Charles E. Erby, former secretary of Lincoln park board.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Robert G. Evans, United States district attorney for Minnesota, died suddenly from heart disease at his home in Kenwood at the age of 47. He was a prominent candidate last winter to succeed Senator C. K. Davis in the United States senate.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 26, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The latest news from the White House is alarming in the extreme. It is admitted on all sides that unless there is a change for the better today the President cannot recover. He is losing strength and the liquid nourishment administered seems to have no strengthening effect whatever. His mind wandered all of yesterday. Officials who have hitherto been hopeful are tonight despondent. One of them says it is useless to deny the fact that the President is slowly sinking, although he may last some days. The secrets of the medical conference on the removal of the President from the White House to some other city where the air would be better are guarded jealously in accordance with the strictest code of professional ethics. Dr. Frank H. Hamilton is said to be the only surgeon who voted for removal and there is ground for belief that one of the reasons urged by him is that the case is so desperate that as a last resort it would be wise to take the risk. At 3 a. m. it was said there had been no change in the President's condition during the last hour and that he had been resting quietly. In Secretary Blaine's dispatch to Minister Lowell at London he said some of the symptoms of the afternoon and evening are of the gravest character.

LONDON.—Parnell's manifesto to the Irish electors of Durham is described as "most violent." He declares it is impossible for his party to enter into an alliance with any section of politicians who support the present British ministry, which he denounces as the "coercion ministry" and charges with having banished personal liberty from Ireland and with having reduced the country to a worse condition than that of Russia under that of the third session.

CHICAGO.—A prominent and select wedding occurred in the fashionable atmosphere of the Chicago university when Miss Fannie Howe, the youthful and accomplished daughter of Elias Howe of that institution, became the bride of William G. Shaver.

SUMMER'S HERE AT LAST.

Aboard Yacht Grace K., Saugatuck, Mich., Aug. 5.—Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock the yacht Grace M., owned by Henry J. Stephens, Chicago, was proceeding north along the east shore of Lake Michigan, when about ten miles off St. Joe a decided disturbance was noted in calm water off the starboard quarter. The yacht was stopped and we could plainly see a sea monster of some sort. We estimated its length to be about 35 feet. It had a head that looked much like the head of a seal, which it kept about two feet above the water. The body was shaped like a snake and appeared to be about 15 or 20 inches in diameter. Color, black. Five humps in the body were visible above the water as the monster proceeded at a swift pace. The yacht was started and the course set for the animal, when it submerged and disappeared. This monster was plainly seen and observed for about five minutes by a party of eight people who were aboard the yacht at the time.

DR. ROBERTSON.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—It has been my privilege to have known Dr. John Dill Robertson for many years. I knew him intimately when he was in the train dispatchers' office at McCook, Neb., the Denver end of the Burlington dispatching force. This, by the way, is the home of Senator George W. Norris. He was ever energetic and forceful, and had he remained in the railroad service would have been a great executive. I have known him as president of Loyola university department of medicine. I have known him as health commissioner. He established the tuberculosis survey and other well known health measures. I knew him as president of the west park system and it was through him that the "keep off the grass" signs were abolished. He stated it was more important that a child be healthy and well preserved than that a blade of grass be saved from mutilation. With a surplus of $93,000 from a health show at the Coliseum he attempted to establish a dental and eye, ear, nose and throat clinic for the "little ones" of Chicago. His purpose was defeated by some one's political stupidity, and the partly finished building stands at the corner of Monroe and Loomis streets, which, if he had had his way, would have for many years past been of service to the needy and handicapped children of our city. May the good he has done live after him should be the wish of all our health bodies and all citizens who believe that the handicapped child can be made a better citizen through bodily care and educational opportunity and crime rings smashed before they are born.

JAMES F. FORBES.

HE HAS SEVEN JOBS.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Hear ye! You, who can't get employment, you who brag about the hard times, have you ever stopped to think? I hold down seven jobs at once. I work on an average of nine hours daily, and draw a salary of sixty-five dollars a week; some weeks as high as eighty. I am not working at my trade. I am an agent for three large concerns, a solicitor for a small tailor shop, a janitor, a bus boy in a large cafeteria and I have seven boys running miscellaneous errands for me, through office trade. I am now renting a small garage to run a small pet storage and hospital.

I am no smarter than any one else. We were all gifted with an average lot of thinking matter only most of us refuse to use it. There are thousands of opportunities in your own neighborhood. Why pass them by to chase rainbows and then yell about hard times?

NINETEEN YEAR OLD.

FINANCING A HOME.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The Axel Lemcke plan for building 1,000 low-priced homes provides for reduction in material and labor costs, but nothing is said as to the most expensive item in home building—the financing cost.

The nation is built upon homes. Men will fight for their homes, but not for a boarding house. The U. S. government was recently offered about four times over on a $60,000,000 short loan at about half of one per cent interest. That is what loop banks in Chicago pay on large checking accounts, but the home owner is in luck if he has to pay only 6 per cent in first mortgage interest and 3 per cent commission for placing the first mortgage, or 18 or 19 times as much interest as the U. S. government.

First mortgages here are called longer than 5 years. In Europe real estate mortgages run as long as 75 years, and their interest rates are as low as ours are high.

On most homes there is a second [junior] mortgage, paid off each month. The interest rate on these is often as high as 25 per cent.

At the same time the banks have more money than they know what to do with, and the home owner is consequently overcharged as to interest and commission costs. The building of homes is discouraged by this more than any other one factor. People simply cannot afford to own a home in Chicago with such heavy expense for financing, upon which are piled high taxes and other costs. From the point of view of the home owner our banking system and rates are much more expensive than they should be.

Bankers had a part in the recent boom of which they should not be at all proud, and they are having a part in the present depression as well, which is no credit to them. They have gone from one extreme to the other to the detriment of those trying to own a home, surely.

STRAYS.

Chicago, Aug. 15.—In THE TRIBUNE of Aug. 14 a letter was published reporting persons dumping animals in the vicinity of 31st and Western avenue. It may interest your correspondent to know that it is a violation of the Illinois state humane laws, as well as of the city code No. 2612. Any person abandoning an animal is liable to a fine of not less than $3 nor more than $200. If "Irate Mother" can furnish us with the number of car or the names and addresses of persons who violated the humane laws of the city and state we will vigorously prosecute them.

Should the public find or know of any unwanted stray animals the Anti-Cruelty society, 155 West Grand avenue, will send for them; or, if the person is sincerely interested and is willing to lend a helping hand, our suggestion is that they take the animals in so that when the man calls he will be able to find them. CHARLOTTE LOUISE HUNT, President Chicago Humane Education Society.

IN THE PARK.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—Some of you worried mothers and dads who live in the vicinity of Winnemac park and who wonder where your 14, 15, and 16 year old boys and girls, who are so difficult to manage, spend their evenings, would be treated to a shocking revelation if you would take the time to wander through the darker parts of Winnemac park some evening between 10 and 12 o'clock—and later. Some stiff parental control on the part of neighborhood mothers and fathers ought to help in cleaning the park of the necking parties and hoodlum gatherings with which it is now infested. "The coroner's jury termed her death an accident," said Col. Woodcock. "A city electrician who examined the light found that the cord was defective and the socket of a metallic type not approved for use in such a place. The affair was most unfortunate."

CONTINUE QUIZ INTO MATE'S CHARGES OF JOSEPHINE K. KILLING

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Wilbur P. Talley, former coast guard officer, appeared today before the federal grand jury to substantiate his charges that coast guard destroyer 145 fired unnecessarily Jan. 24 on the Canadian rum runner Josephine K., killing Capt. William P. Cluett.

While the district attorney declined to reveal the testimony, he said today's examination was part of an investigation "to find all the facts."

In the charges attributed to Talley by a newspaper recently, he said that not only was there no need to fire on the rum runner but that the regulations requiring three blank shots and three solid shots across the boat's bows were not observed.

At a former appearance before the grand jury Talley was only questioned regarding the search for liquor aboard the Josephine K. He was at that time a boatswain's mate and second in command of the destroyer 145. He has since left the service.

The district attorney said the investigation would continue throughout the week.

START PROBE OF POLICE CRUELTY AT WASHINGTON

Criminal Suspects Charge Brutality.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, president of the district board of commissioners, ordered a sweeping inquiry today into charges of police brutality against suspects taken into custody in criminal cases. The investigation followed the filing of charges by James Henry Harker, a suspect in a robbery case, to the effect that he had been beaten with a rubber hose and manhandled by the local police.

As the inquiry got under way three more prisoners came forward with charges that they had been brutally treated.

Criticizes Police Methods.

Referring to the case of the alleged beating of Harker last Saturday, Dr. Reichelderfer said today that the charges, if true, showed that "our police are using their muscles instead of their brains, and I would much prefer them to use their brains."

Dr. Reichelderfer sent Corporation Counsel William W. Bride direct to Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, with an order that the Harker charges be probed to the bottom.

"I did this on my own motion," Dr. Reichelderfer said, "because I did not think the commissioners could afford to overlook the charges made in the press. No perfunctory investigation of such charges will do and there must be no attempt to cover anything up."

Prisoners Add to Charges.

Two of the three new charges were made by prisoners of the district jail, both of whom declared they were severely beaten while held for investigation at the police station.

The suspension of four police officers marked the first development of the inquiry. They were suspended by Maj. Pratt following receipt of a report from Inspector Stoll, who investigated charges that they participated in the beating of Harker, 24 years old burglary suspect.

Inspector Stoll in his report declared "there is no doubt but that Harker was beaten either just before his arrest or while in custody."

TYDINGS FAVORS LEGALIZING BEER TO MEET DEFICIT

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The belief that legalization of beer would wipe out the treasury deficit, give employment to several hundred thousand men and help solve the problem of surplus grain is expressed by Senator Millard E. Tydings in a communication to the Evening Sun.

Testimony before a congressional committee in 1910 that the brewing industry used 2,990,357 tons of coal is cited along with a statement in 1917 by Herbert Hoover, then food administrator, that the industry used approximately 37,800,000 bushels of grain a year at that time.

Senator Tydings also cited a statement in 1917 by Dr. Irving Fisher of Yale university that "the breweries of the United States employ 65,000 men, but the total engaged in making, handling, and selling beer is over 500,000.

"The last beer year," says Senator Tydings, "1,960,000,000 gallons of the liquid was consumed, and a tax of 25 cents a gallon would yield an annual revenue of nearly $500,000,000 on this basis."

COUDERT LAYS CRIME WAVE TO PROHIBITION; BACK FROM EUROPE

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Prohibition was blamed for the present prevalence of crime by Frederick Coudert Sr. on his return today from Europe aboard the White Star liner Olympic. "We won't get far with law enforcement," Mr. Coudert warned, "until we have intelligent regulation of the liquor traffic instead of the present prohibition that doesn't prohibit.

"The diversion of hundreds of millions of dollars from the government to the lawless element is bound to result in this way. The prohibition laws lack the most fundamental requisite—that of being in conformity with the customs and sense of right in the community."

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley yesterday continued to Sept. 4 the hearing on a motion for the appointment of a receiver for the $3,000,000 trust fund established in Chicago banks by John [Jake the Barber] Factor. The continuance was granted on the representations of Factor's counsel that the money would not be molested. Suit for an accounting of Factor's trust funds and an injunction restraining their removal was brought by the Rev. Arthur Travis Faber, British clergyman who claims he lost several thousand dollars in Factor's stock operations. Factor's extradition hearing is proceeding before United States Commissioner Walker.

M'ADOO AMONG THOSE BACKING DRY DAILY IN N. Y.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The dry metropolitan daily newspaper which is scheduled to make its first appearance the latter part of this year or in 1932 is revealed today as having among its influential supporters William G. McAdoo, Admiral William S. Sims, Sebastian Kresge, chain store operator, and four United States senators, according to a letter sent by Stanley High, organizer, soliciting the financial support of the Women's Christian Temperance union.

Also included among the nearly 100 citizens of thirteen states and the District of Columbia listed in the letterhead as "The Committee for the Establishment of a National Daily Newspaper" are William Allen White, Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, former Senator Henry J. Allen, Miss Ruth Morgan of New York, Prof. Irving Fisher, Senator Frederick C. Walcott of Connecticut, Clement M. Biddle, Mrs. Carrie Chapman-Catt, George Fort Milton, Senator Robert D. Carey of Wyoming, Senator Newell Sanders of Tennessee, and Franklin W. Fort of New Jersey.

In addition City Sealer Joe Grein obtained fines against nine icemen, five fruit and vegetable dealers, two bakers, and a grocer. The total of fines and court costs paid by defendants since Grein has been in office now amounts to more than $5,000, it was reported.

HELD TO JURY IN MURDER.

Rate Drys Are Killed in Year.

The records now in process of compilation by the prohibition bureau show that seven civilians and five dry agents were killed as the result of prohibition enforcement during the last year.

There were 48 agents dismissed from the service for cause during the past year, fourteen—the largest number for a single cause—for drinking while in line of duty.

According to standing orders issued by Col. Woodcock, no agent is supposed to shoot except in self-defense, or to apprehend a fleeing violator. The usual penalty for disregarding this order, as in the case of an agent shooting at a runaway car, Col. Woodcock said, is 30 days' suspension. Usually, however, the bureau finds that a dry killing is self-defense.

WINE DEATH AN "ACCIDENT"

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Stating his decision on the coroner's verdict which, he said, termed the electrocution of Mrs. Helen Iwanic of Milwaukee an accident, Director of Prohibition Amos W. W. Woodcock today announced that no disciplinary action based on a responsibility for her death would be taken when federal prohibition agents dumped out three kegs of confiscated wine on the basement floor of Iwanic's home.

The dumping of the wine occurred Aug. 14, during a dry raid in which

INDICT W.J. MOORE IN 57 MILLION BOND FRAUD PLOT

Chicagoan's 3 Sons Also Accused by U. S.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Five former officers of the American Bond and Mortgage company, a real estate financing firm which has distributed about 240 million dollars in securities throughout the country, were indicted today by a federal grand jury charged with conspiracy and using the mails to defraud in transactions involving 57 millions.

The indicted men are William J. Moore of Chicago, former president of the company "and at all times its managing officer"; his sons, Harold A. Moore, former vice president in charge of the Chicago office, and Kenneth W. Moore, former sales manager of the entire organization; his stepson, Charles C. Moore, former vice president in charge of the New York office, and Hayden W. Ward, former eastern sales manager.

List 16 Counts.

The indictment listed 16 counts in using the mails to defraud and was based on information unearthed in four months of investigation by United States Attorney George Z. Medalie, his assistants, and department of justice agents.

The indictment charges that the defendants, through the company, a Maine corporation with headquarters in Chicago and offices in New York, Boston and other cities, devised a scheme to sell the public real estate mortgage bonds and preferred stock and debentures of the company under fraudulent misrepresentation.

Among its enterprises here were the Park Central hotel, the Leverich Towers, Brooklyn, the Hudson Towers, and the Libby hotel of which the missing Supreme Court Justice Joseph Force Crater was receiver. Other large projects of the company were the Mayflower hotel in Washington and the Whitehall in Palm Beach.

Chicago projects of the company are the Albion Shore hotel, Churchill, 20 East Cedar Street apartment, Engineering building, Garden Court apartments, Graemere hotel, Harbor View apartments, Jackson Towers, Lincoln-Robey building, Martinique, Ontario Mercantile building, Sherwin and Sunny Court apartments. Issue of bonds thereon is listed as $13,085,000.

All building securities based on the 84 structures mentioned in the indictment, as well as its own debentures and preferred stock, are in default, according to Mr. Medalie, and the security holders have received or will receive 10 to 50 cents on the dollar. The bondholders will also lose their interest for a number of years.

Accused of Misrepresentation.

In brief, the former officers of the company are charged with having falsely represented that the bonds were good, that all bonds sold by them were well secured in accordance with careful appraisals, that sufficient of the principal of the construction bonds was always withheld so that the buildings would be finished, that the net incomes of the properties securing the bonds were always sufficient to protect interest requirements, and that the company saw to it that taxes were paid and buildings properly maintained.

Appraisals were made by dishonest and interested appraisers and the amounts were actually fixed by the defendants without regard to the true value of the properties, it goes on.

Moreover, they secretly paid maturing interests on principal and installments on their bond issues so that they could continue to sell defaulted bonds to the public, according to the indictment.

Five Day Week Adopted by Badger Paper Mills

Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Officers of the Consolidated Water Power and Paper company, Wisconsin's largest manufacturers of news print paper, today announced a five-day week as a permanent labor policy at the company's Wisconsin Rapids and Biron plants. The order affects 700. Officials said the move would forestall necessity for the laying off of men and would enable the company to hire a few in addition.

NEW YORK GANG CLEANUP YIELDS NOT A GANGSTER

First Day's Batch Is 106 Street Loafers.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—"Go out," said Police Commissioner Edward P. Mulrooney, "and bring in the criminals!"

The edict filtered through the ranks, and 19,000 bluecoats tightened their belts a notch and patted the lump on their hips. Three thousand special duty men headed for the underworld. A high police official had been quoted as estimating the armed criminal forces of the city at 150,000. War without quarter had been declared.

A new sun dimmed the last electric light. Midday came and people ventured on the streets, but there was no sign of carnage.

Down at police headquarters the desk sergeants had splinters under their nails from headscratching. The 3,000 special duty men, lately returned from the underworld, wore wilted looks. Inside the cells 106 bewildered vagrants of the common or back alley variety slept or quarreled noisily.

The entire police force had failed to find a single pistol or to capture even one real gangster.

It was thus that New York made its unanticipated bow to a surprised public today as a gunless and virtually crimeless city.

"Go back and get some more," ordered Mr. Mulrooney as he prepared to sift his small fry catch.

EVANSTON SPEED VIOLATORS GET POLITE LETTERS

Evanstonians who fail to appear before Police Magistrate Harry H. Porter in answer to summons for minor traffic violations need no longer fear the rough knock on their door of a policeman bearing a caplas for their arrest.

That method, usually followed in the case of offenders who have ignored the summons, has been replaced by a method more in keeping with Evanston culture. Each missing defendant will get a courteous letter, commenting on his absence, and urging that he see the court clerk about it within five days.

Magistrate Porter ordered such letters sent out Monday to 210 motorists who have failed to answer summonses, the accumulation on the court books of the last year. A number of responses were received yesterday, he reported.

TOSSED TO DEATH, DYING WORDS OF NAVY MAN'S BRIDE

Man Who Witnessed Her Plunge Testifies.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A coroner's jury, after an hour's deliberation today returned a verdict declaring Mrs. Daisy Price, 24, seven weeks' bride of Lieut.-Com. George D. Price, met her death as the result of injuries received "in a manner unknown to this jury."

The verdict climaxed a day's testimony relating to Mrs. Price's companions and movements for several hours previous to her death, although the question of just how Mrs. Price fell, or was thrown, from her fourth floor hotel window, was not answered.

Husband Testifies.

Price, who declared before Coroner T. B. W. Leland that he was sure Mrs. Price had not committed suicide, and was equally sure she had not fallen while intoxicated, declared it was his belief she "would have thrown herself out the window to escape an assault on her person," although he refused to say whether he believed such an assault had been attempted.

Witnesses who testified at the inquest detailed events that preceded and surrounded the fall. The narratives included hints at possible friction between Mrs. Price and the wife of another lieutenant commander in the navy, Mrs. E. W. Spencer, who, with her husband, and other attended a drinking party in Mrs. Price's room.

There was a reference to a telephone call that appeared to cause Mrs. Price alarm. There was a strange man in a gray suit who took ginger ale from a bell boy in the room, and finally, there was the male voice which witnesses said they heard exclaim when Mrs. Price's body hurtled through the window.

Saw Her Fall.

Burton Templeton, hotel guest, testified he saw Mrs. Price fall and saw what appeared to be a bottle, and a chair follow her through the window.

Templeton said he rushed to the woman and helped hotel employes take her into the dining room where he asked her if she fell and that she told him: "No, I was thrown out."

She refused to tell who did it.

Judge-Advocate Lt. H. C. Johnson of the airplane carrier U. S. S. Lexington declared following the inquest a naval board of inquiry would be held aboard the Lexington tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Inspector Allen McGinn, head of the police homicide detail, said no further investigation would be made unless new evidence was uncovered. McGinn also said he was confident Mrs. Price had not committed suicide.

HOLD UP COUPLE IN AUTO.

Two bandits yesterday held up Victor Thies, 5632 Belden avenue, an attorney, and his companion, Miss Jean Wagner, 22 years old, 221 East Walton place, as the couple sat in a car in front of the young woman's home and robbed Thies of $5.

2 DOCTORS GET HEARINGS TODAY IN CANCER CASE

The medical committee of the state department of registration and education today will hear the cases of Dr. C. Judson Spruce and Dr. Alfred Thompson, who are charged with association with Lester Tilton, alleged cancer quack of Clinton, Ia. The hearings will decide whether the physicians can retain their licenses. The prosecution will present testimony against Dr. Spruce at 10 o'clock, the case of Dr. Thompson being scheduled to be heard later in the day.

The committee already has heard the cases of Dr. Joseph T. Duffy, 1439 Elmhill avenue, and Dr. Otto Holinger, 4632 North Rockwell street, charged with association with Tilton in the cancer clinic at the Felician convent, 3800 Peterson road, which was closed last May. Two more physicians, Dr. Ethel Fikany and Dr. Charles Loffler, 25 East Washington street, await trial by the committee. They also are charged with being associates of Tilton.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG—who recently made her initial talking picture, Kept Husbands, for Radio Pictures, after an absence from the screen of many years. Who would dream, looking at this recent picture, that she is 38

"I am 38!" says CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG

Famous screen favorite says no woman need look her age

"I REALLY am 38 years old," says Clara Kimball Young, "and I don't mind admitting it because nowadays it isn't birthdays that count.

"The woman who knows how to keep the lovely sparkling freshness of youth can be charming at almost any age. Stage and screen stars guard complexion beauty above all. They know that a skin smoothly soft is always appealing.

"Several years ago I discovered that regular care with Lux Toilet Soap would keep my skin in wonderful condition, and now that I have returned to the screen, I depend on this nice soap to keep my skin youthfully fresh."

In Hollywood 9 out of 10 stars, like this charming favorite, use this fragrant white soap regularly! Surely your skin should have this gentle care!

A City almost as large as Detroit and Cleveland has been added to the NEW YORK MARKET

In the last ten years the population of the New York Market (50-mile city and suburban area) has shown an increase of 2,451,172. This gain alone was almost as large as the total 1930 population of Detroit (1,568,662) and Cleveland (900,429) combined.

In 1920, New York was the world's greatest market. Since then a new market almost as large as all of Detroit and all of Cleveland—fourth largest and sixth largest cities in the country—has been added to New York.

Here in this one compact, concentrated market of over 11,300,000 people are more sales and larger profits than in dozens of scattered States and metropolitan cities combined. Here with one effort, one advertising schedule, one sales campaign the manufacturer has more to gain with less cost per sale than in many other large markets combined. And the most effective medium for increasing sales in this market is The Sun. That's why the department stores use more space in The Sun than in any other New York newspaper.

TYPHOON HITS SHANGHAI; PART OF CITY FLOODED

Fear for Refugees Along Yangtze River.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25.—(AP)—One of the worst typhoons since 1905 struck Shanghai today, flooding a portion of the city and causing anxiety for safety of many thousands of flood sufferers clinging to water surrounded dikes and hills along hundreds of miles of interior China.

No word has come for several hours after nightfall from the stricken area of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, 600 miles up the Yangtze river, where several thousand persons perished within the last fortnight.

Patrick J. Hurley, United States secretary of war, arrived in Shanghai with Mrs. Hurley in the midst of the typhoon and reviewed a battalion of United States marines.

Water up to Thighs.

Later the storm was intensified. From the tower of the Cathay hotel the visitors watched the waters of the Whangkoo river sweeping over the Shanghai bund a foot deep. Nearby thoroughfares, including main business and banking streets, were thigh deep. The headquarters of the national relief commission was covered with a foot of water.

Several guests attending the dinner for Secretary and Mrs. Hurley tonight were forced to spend the night downtown.

High winds uprooted trees and drove several small craft ashore in Shanghai harbor. The Chinese press said several hundred huts of the poor in lower sections of Shanghai either were blown down or inundated.

No trustworthy reports of loss of life were received as night advanced, but much anxiety was felt for shipping off shore. There was particular concern for safety of refugees on ships from Hankow which were reported encountering high seas in the Yangtze river.

Typhoon Hits Flooded Tri-Cities.

The flooded Wuhan area, comprising the central China cities of Hankow, Wuchang and Hanyang, survived the typhoon without great additional damage, it was learned today, although high winds swept turbulent waters through Hankow, causing many walls to collapse.

Although the Yangtze river continued to subside, its boiling torrent still carried away its daily quota of more than 1,000 corpses from the Wuhan area.

Since authorities were unable to check accurately the mortalities, all estimates still were mere guesswork. These varied from 35,000 to 200,000 in Hupeh province since the floods began.

Y. HAMAGUCHI, FORMER PREMIER OF JAPAN, DEAD

TOKIO, Aug. 26.—[Wednesday.]—(AP)—Yuko Hamaguchi, former premier of Japan, died at 3:35 p. m. today [1:35 a. m. Chicago daylight time].

To the millions of Japanese who followed politics, the former premier was known as "the lion." His career was a stormy one.

Last November he was shot and seriously wounded as he stood on the platform of the Tokio Central railroad station. For weeks his condition was serious.

He was 61 years old. He was a financial genius in addition to being the astute politician.

FIND RELIEF MAP OF WISCONSIN FORMED IN NATURAL STONE

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—An odd rock formation, resembling closely a relief map of the state of Wisconsin, rivers and all, has been found near the Eureka locks on the upper Fox river, nine miles northeast of Berlin, Wis.

It was called to the attention of Maj. Harry M. Trippe, district federal engineer, who during an inspection trip visited the Eureka lock site which is nearly 60 years old. These locks were constructed of limestone quarried in that vicinity. One of the workmen explained to Maj. Trippe that when the large stone bearing resemblance to the state was brought to the locks site it was decided not to use it in the dam because of its unusual formation.

The stone is more than a foot thick and several yards in circumference. Its shape tallies almost exactly with that of the state, even to having the Wisconsin and Fox rivers in relief.

Workmen around the locks contemplate erecting the stone on a pedestal as a monument, Trippe says.

Lack of County Funds May Close Poorhouse

Benton, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Franklin county may soon be without a poor farm because the county is too poor to maintain one. Byron Neal, superintendent of the farm, announced it will be necessary to discharge the forty inmates and close the doors of the institution unless the county board of supervisors find means of obtaining financial aid.

CAPTAIN BLAMES LEAKING GAS FOR FATAL EXPLOSION

The explosion on Monday night which leveled a three story tenement building at 2015 Taylor street, killing one woman and injuring twelve other persons, was caused by leaking illuminating gas, in the opinion of Acting Capt. Albert Mikes of the Marquette police station. He expressed this belief yesterday after the inquest into the death of Mrs. Lena Glick, 48 years old, and after a personal investigation of the ruins of the building. The inquest was continued until Sept. 23 to enable firemen to make a complete report of their findings.

Whether the leak was caused by tampering with the gas mains in the basement preparatory to the installation of a still could not be determined until all the débris was cleared away. However, Anthony Carsello, 28 years old, 428 North Carpenter street, one of the injured, who was sleeping on the rear porch of the building when the blast occurred, was under police surveillance at the county hospital. Suspicion against him was due to his refusal to make a statement. The police learned that he was indicted several weeks ago on a liquor conspiracy charge.

Parents Join Hunt for Missing Peoria Cartoonist

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Parents of John Evans, cartoonist for the Peoria Star, were here today to continue a search for their son, unheard from since Aug. 11. Evans waved his fellow workers good-by at the lunch hour and walked off without explanation. They said he left debts in Peoria and had been in poor health. His father, Ralph Evans of Detroit, and his mother, who was called here from a visit in Colorado, gave no explanation for their son's disappearance. He left behind most of his belongings.

May Close Resort on City Property; It Owes Rent

Quincy, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A notorious resort operating on city property at the river front here may be closed for nonpayment of rent. The resort, known as the Quincy Power Boat club, has been raided twice in the last three years when liquor and gambling paraphernalia were seized. Mayor Emmett Wilson at a council meeting last night asked that the lease of the club be terminated because $50 rent was overdue.

He is survived by the widow, a daughter, and three sons.

21 Hurt in Labor Riot at U. S. Embassy Building

TOKIO, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The new earthquake proof American embassy here, being rushed to completion for occupancy this fall, was the scene of a disturbance today in which 21 interior decorators and painters were injured. Police said the trouble resulted from a dispute over discharge by subcontractors of 30 workmen. Officers said the remaining 60 decorators and painters protested with fists and sticks when other men were brought to replace those discharged.

Dancing Man Kills Premier in This Novel

Hero Goes Mad Trying to Confess Crime.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"The Hero," by Alfred Neumann (Covici).

ALFRED NEUMANN.

"POWERFUL" is the first adjective that "The Hero" suggests in the mind of its reader. "Powerful" is an overused word in amateur literary circles, and it is often used confusedly to nominate material and not the author's accomplishment. There are a great many readers who think that any novel is powerful that is about ruthless men and women, or gangsters or peculiarly a white man's fight with the jungle or countless other things of which a novel is made having nothing whatever to do with "power." That elusive characteristic is wholly in the author's mind and in his puppets. "The Hero" is not only written with intense power, it is powerful, but it has as its material the most powerful and physical situations which the prophets would call powerful.

It is concerned with a political murder, with the result of the murder on the mind of the murderer. It begins in a dull and rather jaunty tempo, with the murderer planning the deed, and not yet relinquishing his job as a reporter on a smart café. A forger is in the army, he was an amateur revolutionary, and for all the coldness and aplomb and apparent detachment from any political scheme he has chosen as the one to do the deed, he has himself not as a murderer, but as a hero. He had seen his daughter killed in the war.

His row with the prime minister is not, he felt, no different from the row he had had in war. As the day of the murder approached, however, he [illegible] began to feel human contact necessary to him, more necessary than he ever had been. These [illegible] included the man who played the violin in the cabaret, the girl with whom he had danced every night, and who had been to him more than a casual dancing partner. Another [illegible] a strange, remote person who [illegible] to the café every night, never [illegible] and drank one bottle of Burgundy [illegible] and who so greatly resembled him that the waiters called the [illegible] Hoffnung. And there was a [illegible] named Paula, to whom Capt. [illegible] was really a hero. All of them [illegible] came so very close to him [illegible] he actually had committed [illegible] during [illegible] such, in a sense.

[illegible] the comparative gentle gayety [illegible] first pages, through the threatening movement of the preparation for the murder, the book increases [illegible] until the end—the most terrible dance that is conceivable. [illegible] that murdering one man is [illegible] horribly, agonizingly, maddeningly different—from murdering [illegible] in war.

Neumann depicts every phase of [illegible] mental disintegration [illegible] the moment he made that decision. At first he is able to plan [illegible] but little by little any volition [illegible] away leaves him, seeps [illegible] his consciousness. At first he [illegible] intention of confessing. Little [illegible] he confesses to every one that [illegible] He even rushes into the [illegible] of the widow of the murdered [illegible] tells her that he is the murderer. So fantastic is his action that [illegible] refuse to believe him. Their [illegible] driven him into the last stages [illegible] mental collapse. He literally [illegible] and trying to make the world [illegible] that he murdered the prime [illegible]

[illegible] who so strangely resembled him and who becomes in his madness the personification of his alter ego, commits suicide. This suicide [illegible] the police that he, Hoffnung [illegible] Horta, who had been tried [illegible] the murder of his wife and had been acquitted, but always had been [illegible] the real murderer of [illegible]

There are other characters in "The Hero" as vivid and as powerful in [illegible] Hoffnung as its chief actors. The [illegible] girl, a prostitute who hates [illegible] loves Hoff, is pictured unforgettably in the scene where Hoff [illegible] to spend the night with her [illegible] the murder. She knows that [illegible] is troubling him. She tries [illegible] with the largest by caressing him. [illegible] further and further from [illegible] physically as well as physically, [illegible] to read out to him from the [illegible] the whole story of the murder and of the murdered man's exemplary and gentle life, and finally confesses the murder to her. No one is allowed on the streets after 9 o'clock and he cannot go back to his own room. She puts him to bed on a couch. "With a wonderfully beautiful movement of her shoulders she gave him her hand," the author writes, "and went to her bedroom and shut the door. For a while her room was silent as death. She must have remained standing on the other side of the door. . . . Then with the utmost care she silently locked the door. But he heard!" That "silent" click of the key after a chapter of tense drama is one of the unforgettable incidents in "The Hero" which, even if you wanted to, you couldn't forget.

"The Hero" is translated from the German by Huntley Paterson.

CRITIC FINDS 'THAIS,' THOUGH POPULAR, IS AGEING MUSICALLY

There would seem to be reason to believe that "Thais" has elements of popularity on its own behalf, that it can go as an opera without the presences of a specialized or Gardenian personality to put it across. At any rate, it went on at Ravinia last night as the final item in the 1931 repertoire, and a reasonably large audience approved it with decisive enthusiasm.

If I report the occasion as a person in a manner of speaking sitting on the side lines with none too pronounced enthusiasms of my own, it is because for a number of years past "Thais" has lost most of its musical charms for me.

To me, this Massenet opus is a thing of melodic shreds and harmonic patches. It is unfortunate, because by this state of mind I lose the enjoyment that many other persons manifest in so marked a manner. But as far as I am concerned the idea of comparing "Thais" with such other Massenet works as "Manon" and "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame" is absurd.

At the same time I still am subject to influence when there is a question of good singing. Therefore there is good reason to give a big hand to Yvonne Gall as Thais and Giuseppe Danise as Athanael in last night's performance. They are artists who understand the crafty trick of how to make a good musical phrase sound better and a bad one less uninspired. If I were in a caviling mood I could maintain that pictorially the whole crew could have been improved; that in the matter of makeup there was somewhat too much emphasis on the obvious; that Mr. Danise, with his pallor and care drawn lines of countenance, was strikingly Byzantine; that the whole crew, principals and chorus, bore a somewhat too close resemblance to the Roman empire mural decorations of that period.

But, instead, I prefer to remember the good singing of Miss Gall, Mr. Danise, and, by no means an incident in this case, the chorus. And, another item which took considerable prominence, when the opera had moved on to the point of the famous "Meditation," John Weicher in the orchestra earned and received a liberal round of applause for the way he played the violin solo.

THE STAGE

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—John Drew Colt, son of Ethel Barrymore and grandnephew of John Drew, will make his first appearance on the Broadway stage this season under the management of Arthur Hopkins. He will be seen in Mr. Hopkins' third production of the season, "Little Old Boy," a play about a reformatory school by Albert Bein.

Colt made his debut last January in Chicago in a "walk-on" rôle in "Scarlet Sister Mary," in which his mother and sister, Ethel Barrymore Colt, were then appearing. He had a speaking part in the cast supporting Miss Barrymore in "The Love Duel" on tour last spring. His sister is now in the cast of George White's "Scandals," which is trying out in Newark before coming to Broadway on Labor day.

Patrons of the Palace theater this week are doing a lot of quiet chuckling throughout the screen version of Frank Craven's folksy comedy, "Too Many Cooks." The picture probably won't break any records, but it affords a pleasant hour of restful, unsophisticated entertainment.

The hero and heroine are Al and Alice, two young love birds in the throes of building a home. All of Al's savings are to go into the little nest, and they plan to have it completely furnished before stepping up to the altar. They select a site in a subdivision miles and miles from civilization, and with nothing to recommend it but a view of some lonely hills and prairies.

The bricklayers and carpenters get to work and Al and Alice travel out every day to see their blueprints materialize in stone and wood. All goes well until Alice brings her family out to inspect the place. The family consists of her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Cook, and a horde of other Cooks, all of whom take a personal interest in the new home.

A few days later Al's wealthy uncle comes out to have a look around. Uncle has ideas, too, about the building of the house, so the two families engage in quarrels that almost wreck the romance.

Bert Wheeler is comically pathetic as the harassed Al, and the bay-faced Dorothy Lee is adequate in her rôle of the bride-to-be. Florence Roberts, Clifford Dempsey, and George Chandler, as Alice's mother, father, and cousin, respectively, all give the proper touch of homely humor to their characterizations.

SALLY'S CROWD KEEN FOR HORSE RACING, THEIR LETTERS SHOW

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The fact that every real boy and girl loves a race horse and thrills to the marrow at the thought of actually witnessing a race is shown by the amount of mail and the enthusiastic letters I have received from young, prospective guests all over the city. For this next party, as you all know by this time, will have as its principal feature a racing picture that's not only richly interspersed with exciting races but is the biography of a famous mount. It's called "Sporting Blood."

"Tommy Boy"—for that's the horse's name—lives a life of adventure and the climax of his career is the winning of a Kentucky Derby. We'll see it, too, and it will be just as exciting as if we were actually present at the Lexington track. Tommy Boy isn't the only actor in this picture, either, for the list of characters reads like a Hollywood blue book. They're Clark Gable who is quickly mounting to the zenith of popularity and there's Ernest Torrence who holds a spot in the heart of every movie goer and there's Madge Evans who has really grown up in the movies and Lew Cody and Marie Provost and a whole bevy of other important actors.

In addition to the picture which is really a whole party in itself there will be a marvelous stage show, headed by Nan Halperin. She's a comedian who is well known in vaudeville and musical comedy. In one part of the revue she enacts the role—and she's dressed for the part—of a little girl about to have her "picture tooken." You'll grow hysterical at that. Then there will be a ballet, and a dancing team and three sisters who sing and play.

All this awaits the hundred boys and girls who win invitations to our party at the Oriental theater on Thursday, Sept. 3. To win these invitations you must write me a letter telling me that you'd like to come. Those who write the best letters will be my guests. Be sure that your letter reaches me no later than Thursday morning and that it contains your name, address and age.

Oak Forest Picnic for Aged Men and Women Today

Supt. Frank Venecek of the Oak Forest infirmary has made a change in arranging the annual picnic today for the 2,500 aged men and women who live at the home as county charges.

Heretofore the men and women have had separate picnics. Today they will hold their celebration together.

A band will be present to play the polkas, quadrilles, and waltzes of a bygone day, and there will be nearbeer on ice for the drinking of toasts.

New Highway Opening Land West of Seattle

Costs Ten Million and Revives Frontier.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Lifting of the last barrier on the last frontier of the United States was celebrated tonight and ceremonies will continue tomorrow on the Olympic peninsula. A new $10,000,000 highway will open up that great area west of here and complete an ocean highway from Mexico to Canada.

The Olympic peninsula is about the size and shape of Vermont, but indented by many inlets and bays, and still is an untraveled wilderness in many parts.

The new 330-mile highway surrounds a mountain range—the Olympics—and loops around an area which in itself is larger than Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Long Island together.

Within the loop is 65 billion feet of virgin timber, the largest stand remaining in the United States. In the same region drilling for oil has begun.

The last 15 miles of the road to be completed will be opened at Kalalock while Indians perform their tribal dances.

The country has been virtually a free domain of the Indians. White settlers have been few and in isolated sections they still are found hewing bathtubs out of logs.

At Kalalock the only white residents are the Nason family. Nason, the village blacksmith, who went there for gold, is still using placer mining apparatus in canning clams.

Another pioneer is John Huelsdonk, now more than 60 years old, who became the "iron man of the Hoh valley" when he packed a kitchen range on his back for 22 miles.

One change the new road may bring is enforcement of game and prohibition laws. In sections of the peninsula, elk, deer and other game are almost daily table fare of backwoodsmen and Indians, far beyond the reach of the law, and "hill-billies" make their moonshine unmolested.

Traction Heiress, 18 Years Old, Is Elopement Bride

The happiest bride and the proudest bridegroom, to hear them, are now honeymooning at the Palmer house. She is the former Mary Sue McCulloch, 18 year old heiress to one third of the $51,000,000 estate of her grandfather, the late John I. Beggs, Milwaukee traction magnate, and he is Whipple Van Ness Jones, Harvard senior.

Sweethearts from childhood when they spent long, lazy summer hours together at the fashionable summer colony at Oconomowoc, Wis., they eloped Monday and were married at Waukegan, Ill. Then they came to Chicago and told their secret yesterday. They decided, they said, to wait no longer, although their parents expected them to marry "when they got old enough." The parents were quick in sending their blessings.

The Beggs fortune was founded when the bride's grandfather was president of the Milwaukee Electric Railway and Light company. Mr. Jones is the son of Frank W. Jones, manager of the estate of William Woods Plankington, millionaire Milwaukee packer, who died in 1928. Both the bride and bridegroom resided in St. Louis, but expect to "cruise about a bit" before deciding where they will make their home in the future.

Albany Celebrating Bret Harte's Birth There 92 Years Ago

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Bret Harte, who at fifteen left his native Albany to become a "forty-niner" and found no gold, but left immortal stories of the gold rush, was born here 92 years ago today and died in 1902.

The old building, in a crooked, narrow little street on the edge of the downtown business district, is part of a newspaper's home today, but the fireplace around which the Harte family used to gather still is in its place.

His father was a teacher at the Albany academy. In 1833 he helped organize the Young Men's Association for Mutual Improvement, forerunner of the Albany public library that is honoring the author's memory by special showing and offerings of his works.

Peaches Week Floods Market, Fills Kitchens

Chicago Gets the Largest Supply on Record.

The peach supply set an all time record in Chicago yesterday, and stores and housewives took advantage of the fact that there were 480 carloads of the fresh fruit "on track" for wholesalers in addition to the many thousands of bushels already in stores or being canned in homes for winter consumption.

This is "peach week" on the proclamation of Mayor Cermak, and, according to W. H. Hall, fruit and vegetable reporter for the United States department of agriculture at the South Water market, the southern Illinois harvest is causing the heaviest shipments of the season to Chicago. Wholesale buying at the market shows most of the peaches being purchased at 30 to 90 cents a bushel.

Some are available to storekeepers for around 75 cents, and others for $1 per bushel, but only the fanciest and largest grades are selling wholesale this week for more than $1. As a result, retail prices per bushel average $1.15 to $1.30.

Perhaps never again will peach shipments reach the present record, says Mr. Hall. In addition to the carlot receipts, he estimates probably 30 to 40 carloads reached Chicago by truck. Growers are making little profit on the fruit, it is said, because freight is as much as 40 cents a bushel, including icing charges. In addition there is the cost of the containers and the commission charges.

For those unable to do their canning this week it is promised that there will be peaches next week as well, although they may not be as plentiful or as cheap. In addition to stores making special sales of peaches, many drug stores and restaurants are featuring peach dishes at low prices.

State Crop Enormous.

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A day or two more and the southern Illinois fruit belt will have harvested its greatest yield. It was estimated today every tree in every orchard in this area was tipped to the ground with fruit. The unprecedented production follows last year's failure when not a single peach was found on the hundreds of thousands acres of orchards, the fruit being killed by the cold.

This year unmarketable peaches are given away for the hauling or picking or they are sold for 10 to 15 cents a bushel, the price of the basket. Numerous orchardists are dumping thousands of bushels into creeks to dispose of surplus. Everybody, especially the poor, is canning for the winter. Those without cans are drying peaches.

However, No. 1 Elbertas today sold on the city markets from 75 to 85 cents a bushel. Growers said that profit at this price if there be any was small but at least would pay interest and orchard upkeep. Several cities are distributing peaches free to the poor under the direction of charities. The fruit is donated by the growers. A bumper crop of late peaches and apples is also expected. If all the peaches shipped so far out of this section were in one single train it would reach 17 miles, a total of 2,031 cars.

Winona Lake Bars Sunday Swims and Ice Cream Sales

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Sunday bathing at Winona Lake famous chatauqua and religious center, is not popular with the cottage owners. The cottage owners' association has voted to sustain the Winona assembly management in frowning on Sunday bathing as a Sabbath desecration. The property owners have approved the assembly's action in closing all public beaches on Sunday. This practice has been in force since Winona was founded as a Presbyterian assembly 38 years ago.

Cottage owners also recommended that no ice cream parlor be allowed to operate on Sunday in the park grounds. Under a contract now in force, ice cream and other cold drinks may be dispensed on the Sabbath.

Sunday operation of the ice cream parlor has been in effect only during the last two seasons. Prior to that Winona's soft drink parlor was closed on Sunday.

Old Waldorf, Sky-Limit Poker Recalled

J. W. Gates, Good Wines Revived in Book.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Where the old Waldorf-Astoria stood the Empire State building today sticks its snub nosed spire into the clouds, and the new Waldorf-Astoria is still in the hands of the builders. But Albert Stevens Crockett with his facile pen has evoked the ghosts of the old Waldorf, clothed them in reminiscences which make the famous old place seem more alive than it did in post-prohibition days when it was living on the memories of its glorious past.

Crockett, a newspaperman, then the "news mouthpiece" of the hotel until the final story of the sale of its furnishings went out, has recalled not only the old Waldorf-Astoria, but one phase of old New York of the period during the turn of the century in his book, "Peacocks on Parade," issued today by Sears Publishing company, Inc.

The Bradley Martin ball which opened the Waldorf has become legendary. It epitomizes, in the tradition, wealthy extravagance and display. Mr. Crockett does his bit of debunking by printing the itemized bill for the famous party and commenting:

"Only a little over nine thousand dollars for the best press agented party in 50 years and regarded in its day as the most lavish! How incredible that figure must seem to more than one proud parent whose debutante daughter's coming out party during the last few years has set him back an easy fifty thousand dollars or more!"

The total cost of the Bradley Martin ball was $9,036.35, Mr. Crockett reveals, but also points out that "good whisky, uncut and undefiled, for two dollars a bottle," and champagne sold then at $50 a case.

The fame of the hotel brought millionaires from Chicago and Pittsburgh. John W. [Betcha Million] Gates was the titan figure of that group which made the Waldorf its headquarters. Gates and his activities occupy much space in the book.

"Gates and his crowd," it says, "were more than individuals. They represented the uncouth, successful, reckless gamblers who were making millions through mergers and stock market gambling and anxious to show by as ostentatious means as possible their wealth and power.

Mr. Crockett relates tales of their drinking bouts, their poker games, their amusements. He tells of Elbert H. Gary, then only a shrewd corporation lawer "on the make" seeking to join one of Gates' poker games and of this message sent out by the waiter:

"Tell Mr. Gary the game is going to be so high it would be over his head."

Mr. Crockett adds that when the future head of the steel trust received the message he "bowed his head, turned and tiptoed down the hallway to the elevator."

Mr. Crockett not only tells of the nouveau riche Americans in their home scene but also of their actions while abroad and blames them for a widespread and false conception of America. Although Gates was the titan of the group other lesser figures, some equally others not so well known parade through the book.

Lakes or Mountains May Be Placed on Walls at Home

How to landscape a living room, bedroom or bath was told yesterday by exhibitors at the National Wallpaper association show in the Auditorium hotel. There next year's styles in wallpaper are being shown.

This latest fashion of providing scenic effects with wallpaper gives large scope to the individual tastes of a family, George Hunken, New York, one of the exhibitors, explained. No set pattern is followed. One wall may show a lake, whereas the lake will not appear elsewhere in the room.

If a housewife longs for the mountains, she may have a mountainous scene pictured on her wall. If her husband prefers to look at a proper habitat for fish, a clear stream may form the central motif in the paper he selects.

Fabric effects and wood effects also are popular in wallpapers, H. O. Jones of Chicago said. Period wallpaper, designed to go with period furniture, is increasingly used, he added.

Fresh Start Needed to Put This Couple Back on Easy Street

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I've a serious problem on my hands, and would appreciate it if you would help me through your column. I have been married seven years, and have a boy of six. For years my husband held an office position at a moderate salary. We lived comfortably, put a little money aside each week, and were extremely happy.

"Time and again, however, mother-in-law, who ran a little store in a distant city, would urge my husband to give up his position and go into business in the town where she lived. But I knew Joe was not the type to run a store, and we were contented to remain as we were. She then accused me of standing in his way. Because of my narrow-mindedness, he'd never get ahead.

"Well, we broke up our home, took our little capital from the bank, and put it into a small store, right among the in-laws. Things didn't go well at all. Ma-in-law refused to help Blamed my husband for giving up his former position. Blamed me for leaving New York. We ran into debt. Things grew worse. When my parents found out how things stood with us, they took us back to N. Y.

"It is three years now and we are still staying with my parents, who are both invalids and almost penniless. Joe has not had a steady job in all that time, and we're living from hand to mouth. A distant relative offers him a position, and he refuses to accept it. Hasn't any push or pull in him, and is content to live off my parents as long as there's food in the house and a comfortable chair to sit in. He's terribly stubborn, refuses to listen to my pleas and blames me for all. Mother wouldn't say or do anything that would make him unhappy, but I feel that we're an awful burden. Sometimes I wish he'd go back to his selfish and nosey crowd, and never bother me or the baby again, and then, again, I don't know what steps to take. We'd move out of my parents' house, to make it a little easier for them, but we have no money and no source of income whatsoever. What would you advise?

If you two young people could only get together on an amicable basis and thresh out your situation without one accusing the other; if you could just resolve to check off what has happened in the last few years to a bit of bad luck that might come into the life of any couple at one time or another—may be not in your identical form, nevertheless a stroke of bad luck or bad management that can't be helped now; if you could pretend that you were a couple just starting out and that you have to pull together—you could get a start.

The man may be a timid soul at heart and his shop failure has done him more damage than you suspect. You proved formerly that you could get along well together. You can do it again, but only if you are willing to let bygones be bygones and resolve somehow to pull yourselves out of the mess you now believe you're in.

Don't hold the grudge that your husband hasn't any push. He may appear in a bad light right now. But give him hope and courage instead of nagging. If necessary, in the new step forward, try to get a job yourself to get you set on your feet again.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the secretary of labor, will return from Binghamton, N. Y., in time to receive the guests for the garden party which the League of Republican Women of the District of Columbia will give tomorrow afternoon in the home of Mrs. Fred Schow on Rock Creek.

Mrs. Chauncey Depew, widow of the late former senator from New York, she now makes her home in Washington, returned from Europe yesterday.

Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, returned yesterday from a vacation at Newport with his family and a yachting trip in New England waters.

Paul Myron Linebarger of Chicago has returned to his Washington home and joined his wife and sons after several months' trip abroad. He was en route to China, where he has spent many years of his life, but was obliged to curtail the trip by business. He is now connected with the Chinese government, having resigned as federal judge.

Col. Francis Key-Smith, U. S. A. reserve corps, a great-grandson of Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner," accompanied by Mrs. Key-Smith, has returned from Old Point Comfort, where he has been on duty throughout the summer.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Alfred G. Vanderbilt, who was at the Hotel Pierre, returned yesterday to Saratoga Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis H. Kinnicutt, who were at the Barclay following their marriage last Saturday, have gone to Canada. Mrs. Kinnicutt was Miss Margaret C. Emmet.

Miss Constance Armstrong, daughter of Sir Harry Gloster and Lady Armstrong, who was at North Haven, Me., has returned to her apartment at the Weylin.

Mrs. H. Stagg McKim, who returned recently from Europe, has reoccupied her residence in East 79th street.

Mrs. Ernest Frederick Hollis, who is passing the summer at Rye, gave a luncheon there today and took her guests afterward to the Westchester Country Club beach.

SYNOPSIS.

Doris is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined and starved out. School friends from the east come as paying guests. Lee quarrels with her friend, Dunce Brennan, partly on account of a new hand named Smith she hired against his permission and partly because she rejects his love suit. Brennan is discharged and leaves the ranch. Dunce Daggett, an old ranch helper, recognizes Smith as Jack Hadley, who is wanted for the murder of his father. Lee leases a Mexican ranch and drives the herd southward. Mrs. Doris Silver, a flirtatious friend of Lee's, goes down to the Mexican ranche. Brennan drops in on her just before Jack Hadley, who was sent on by Lee, arrives.

BEHIND THE DOOR.

The man was Jack Hadley.

At sight of him Doris clapped her hands. "Prompt to your cue again, Deus Ex Slayer," she cried gaily. "We were just talking about you." "Saying pleasant things about me, I'm sure," he said lightly, bowing over her hand.

"Mr. Brennan just happened to be passing down the street and dropped in for a cup of tea," Doris explained. "He thinks we'll have a revolution. I believe one he has promised to save me. He's the only man in the final cab, he says."

The former foreman of the Lazy R darkened with anger. He understood she was laughing at him, rejecting any alliance with him.

"All right, if that's how you feel," he told her.

"So there's going to be a revolution," Hadley commented.

"I'm not discussing that with you, fellow—not now."

"And even if there is you'll look out for Mrs. Silver?"

"I just you mind your own business, Mr. Smith, and I'll mind mine."

Brennan turned on his heel and swaggered out of the patio.

"So he said there was going to be a revolution and that he could save me. I wonder how he could do that."

"I asked him how. He said just to be nice to him and trust him. If I do that you save me, Mr. Smith?"

The girl came back to her, a soft, delicious creature, feminine, magnetic, with a devil-may-care light danced.

"We might talk about that on the way to Palo Duro," he suggested. "Are we going to Palo Duro?"

"I'm going to get supplies. Miss Reynolds said you might like to go with me."

"You saved my life, dear man," she told him fervently, "I've been afraid to death."

"Maybe I can cure that ailment," he cheerfully replied.

"I'm sure you can."

They looked at each other and laughed. She felt the little waves of mad gliding through her that were always heralds of a new flirtation. Maybe was not going to be so disappointing after all.

Leaving to the house, Hadley explained to the little Mexican maid who wanted a bath. Tesla was her name, and she was a granddaughter of Juan. Seventeen years old she might have been, all soft curves and velvet and dark, longlashed, liquid eyes. She heated water for Hadley, with he bathed, shaved, and dressed from the skin out in clean clothes from the roll he had brought with him on the back of his horse. Doris insisted that tonight he was to eat with her.

The sight of him Doris opened her eyes. He was no longer a dusty, unshapely woodchopper in shiny leathers, hickory shirt, and ragged hat. The man who moved across the floor to meet her so lightly and so confidently was in sport shoes, belted cricket flannels, white shirt, colorful tie, and tweed coat. He might have been at a hotel in a summer resort. They made a jolly evening of it, the more so because Doris had been afraid of the attentions of an attractive man for so long.

Since Doris was a late riser, it was well on toward noon before they were in the car for town. The road was rough and often narrow. It wound in the mountains and along ledges. Hadley drove with the skill and ease of one used to cars of many makes.

They had brought a picnic lunch with them. They ate it far up in the hills among the pines and afterward smoked companionable cigarets before resuming the journey.

It was three they reached in the middle of the afternoon.

Though he had been in the little city half an hour Jack Hadley knew that something unusual in the air. He became uneasy. He wished he had not brought Doris Silver with him. Mexico in revolt was altogether too hot for an American woman, especially an attractive one like Doris, who had a talent for making audible commeht upon what she saw.

He warned her against this. "You are not at home. Mexicans are sensitive and easily offended. When you look at one and laugh she thinks you are making fun of her. Please be more careful. We don't want to attract any more attention to ourselves than necessary."

"You're as bad as Mr. Brennan," she pouted. "He told me to stay at home and not leave the ranch."

"He did. Why didn't you tell me that? He knows what he is talking about. I can't get out of Palo Duro too quick to suit me. In a few minutes I'll be through. Don't leave the store."

It was a command, and she chose not to like the tone of it. When Jack returned a few minutes later from adding up the cost price of the stuff he was purchasing Doris was not in sight. He walked down the street and stopped to make inquiries of the men who were taking the sun. One of them, he thought, was a villainous looking specimen.

Perhaps they seen an American lady on the street within the last few minutes? He asked in Spanish. They had not. They had, in fact, just come from the house. Hadley hesitated, not satisfied.

He made as though to move on, then looked back quickly. The man who had observed him was grinning. That grin was altogether too knowing to be from altogether too sinister. And it was no certificate of innocence when caught the grin went out like the light from a blown candle. Cornelius Dubbins stared up at the young man from the dusty street, in front of a dainty footprint with the toe pointed toward the house.

The door opened to his pressure. He walked into an empty room. Beyond was the patio, surrounded by a two story building, a gallery running around the upper story. To this a flight of stairs ran from the court, and dropped into the patio. There were doors, four of them, on the floor. He opened one and then another. Nobody at home.

Finally Jack took the stairs, three at a time. When he reached the top he was pouring out of a room like seeds pressed from a squeezed lemon. Some of him one gave a shout to let the others know.

In college days a prize fighter had once given Jack the most important advice for a melée. It was to hit the other fellow first, unexpectedly, and hard. As the natives waited, uncertain what to do, young Hadley made his plunge he caught up a chair and flung it at the huddle. The speed of it hurled the nearest man against the others. They gave back before they had recovered a hundred sixty pounds of fighting man upon them.

Hadley was the active center of a compact group of struggling men, in which was trying to strike or drag him down. They tore the flesh on his back. They scratched and hammered his face and body. Blows went like flails as they beat upon his flesh. The deep panting of rage and the shuffling of moving feet accompanied the cries they made as they clawed at him, as the mass swayed to and fro, he was struck and struck again.

Jack realized there could be but one ending to this. His attack had failed. He was growing weaker. Presently he would sink down and the life would be pounded out of him by the wolf pack. The odds were too great. It was the fact of the great odds saved him. His enemies had no single-purpose except the desire to tear him to pieces. They hauled this way and that, neutralizing the force of another. The weight of the scrimmage carried him the fall. It gave as though made of paper. Those nearest him fell in footing. They clutched at others. Two of them went plunging down the century plant below.

The American found himself free for the moment. He hurled his weight against the nearest man, who in turn was flung against the next, already over the edge. Both of them lost balance and went over.

Hadley turned snarling on another. The fellow wanted no more. He stumbled forward, and ran. His friends followed. Panic is contagious. Except another little chap lying on the floor Hadley was alone.

He was not aware of cries from the room out of which the men had come in the battle. Now he staggered through the doorway and looked at Doris, face colorless to the lips, eyes dilating with horror, was shuddering in a corner of the room back of a bed.

Sprawled out of him, a picture of disheveled and bruised victory. His clothes were bare and bleeding. A knife wound disfigured one cheek and face were battered and discolored.

His mouth shaped to a distorted but indomitable grin. Then, with an effort he recognized him.

A FRIEND IN NEED

By SALLY JOY BROWN.

Family Desires Stove.

The institution is interested in the family of three small boys, 1, 2, and 4. He was also furnished room until recently the family was ordered out of congestion. Mr. D. has been out of work since December, and in order to take unfurnished rooms he will have to be given a little help. Friends have given him pieces of furniture but he needs a stove. Do you think you could get one for him through your column?

"G. M."

I do not believe Mr. D. could use a gas stove, but if these is a coal cook stove in some one's possession and not being used it would help so much in establishing a home for him and his children. May he not have it?

Women Foes of Dry Law Planning Work

BY THALIA——

MRS. LESLIE WHEELER was back at the office of the Women's National Organization for Prohibition Reform yesterday, almost immediately after she returned from the east. She is inspired anew with ambitious plans for the Chicago organization after seeing evidence of the vim and vigor with which the New York women foster and further their cause. [They have a hundred thousand membership now, and recently organized a motor cavalcade through all the towns and small cities upstate.]

Mrs. Valentine Bartlett and Mrs. Clifford Rodman are down in Springfield this week running the W. N. O. P. R. booth at the state fair, and Mrs. George E. Brennan went down to join them yesterday. They're on duty in the booth all day every day this week and in the evenings, too. Someone else will be there next week.

Mrs. Wheeler has been visiting the Frederick Pattersons, Mrs. Noble Judah's brother and sister-in-law, in the Adirondacks, and she stopped in New York City to get first hand information about the progress of the prohibition reform situation. She plans to depart again next week for a six weeks' trip to Europe, but Mrs. William H. Mitchell, another of the loyal workers at the "office," will be back from Santa Barbara in about a week, and the other volunteers will be coming back shortly to keep things going.

Lake Forest Boys, Girls Start Collecting Match Boxes.

Small boys and girls who, in other times, would have been collecting stamps or cigar bands are now acquiring cardboard match packs with avid enthusiasm. The idea is to get as large and varied a collection as possible. This is best achieved by enlisting grownup allies to keep an eye out for rare and unusual specimens, and also by an intricate system of trading duplicates. The youth of Lake Forest, I'm told, walks along the street with one eye in the gutter, and the element of competition is keen indeed. One lad who has an assortment of 400 packs is the envy of all his contemporaries. Regular match boxes count, too, but they aren't as important items as the fold-over ones.

Miss Louise Wood, who has been visiting her brother-in-law and sister, the Malcolm Shroyers, out in Barrington, is to take her departure next Monday. She plans to be in Paris for a month before her "school" starts. Her school is a peripatetic affair composed of a small group of American girls who acquire their learning as they travel about. There are two Chicago girls whose parents are contemplating sending them along with Miss Wood, but since it hasn't been decided yet, it's not proper to tell who they are. Mary Ellen Prindiville of Winnetka went last year, but most of the girls are easterners. Meanwhile, the Shroyers are going to have a holiday in mid-September at the Selden Whites' camp at Ishpeming, Mich., or near there. Mrs. White may go with them, and also the John Manierres of Winnetka.

I hear that Nancy Traylor, the Melvin Traylors' subdeb daughter, is going to have a session this fall of the same kind of "education en route" that Miss Wood conducts. She's going abroad with a group of 5 or 6 other maidens, and will probably depart shortly after the Traylors return from their camp in northern Wisconsin.

Home of Washington's Sister Displayed at Fredericksburg.

If you had been near Fredericksburg, Va., on Monday afternoon and had been interested, you could have gone to see Kenmore, the home of Betty Washington Lewis, only sister of George Washington, and the gathering place of many of the early patriots, because the officers and trustees of the Kenmore association were holding open house. Mrs. Arthur Meeker is, you know, the association's regent for Illinois, and her committee includes Mrs. Morris Leidy Johnston, Chauncey McCormick, Miss Helen Gilbert, William B. McCluer, Mrs. J. M. Patterson, and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr. The Garden Club of Virginia has been beautifying the estate by planting 610 feet of boxwood on each side of the walk on the old terrace between Kenmore and the home of Mary, mother of Washington. This box is 3 feet high and comes from Warrentown, N. C. Memorial box, given by Miss Ella Luckett of Washington in memory of her mother, flanks each side of the front steps of Kenmore.

The Southern Woman's Educational alliance is to hold a meeting next Monday afternoon at the Parkway hotel, with Mrs. William Allen Pusey as hostess, to discuss plans for the benefit bridge party to be given by the organization in October.

Coming, going, staying and doing . . . Lawrence M. Viles is expected back from Nantucket on Friday. His daughter, Mrs. Redmond Stephens Wright, is expected to come on from the east with her infant daughter the first part of next month . . . Mrs. Charles G. Cushing sailed on the Bremen a few days ago for a month or more in Europe.

WILMETTE BRIDE

MRS. JOHN FRANKLIN ARNOLD.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Leland Duncan of Wilmette announce the marriage of their daughter, Jean, to John Franklin Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bertram Arnold of Evanston, which took place last Saturday morning in the chapel of the First Methodist Episcopal church in Evanston. The bride and groom left immediately after the ceremony for California. They attended Northwestern university. There she was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and he of Sigma Chi.

Vigorous Exercise Done Daily Offers Return in Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A highly useful piece of information is unfolded in a current health periodical on the subject of sweating, the main theme of which is that your bread isn't the only thing you must earn by the sweat of your brow. Your health is earned that way, too. And, I might add, a certain phase of your beauty.

The purpose of the bath is to cleanse the skin. But cleanliness, it seems, is only half the job of making the skin function. And only by proper skin functioning is it possible to rid the body of the poisons and malodorous emanations from which it suffers. That the human body is a whole factory of poisons is one of the truths brought out by recent progress in chemistry.

The more sedentary the occupation the more susceptible one is to odors, is the rule. To prove the insufficiency of the bath as a hygienic means, Dr. Fernand Lagrange, writer of the article on sweating, cites the fact that certain characteristic odors due to emanations of the skin in persons who live too sedentary a life persist, notwithstanding the most minute care in cleanliness, and disappear under the influence of repeated sweatings. The tubbings commonly practiced simply open the door to escape for the substances which one wishes to eliminate. But a vehicle is needed to carry them off. This vehicle is perspiration.

People with whom the bath is little honored have the perspiration of the work day, according to our informant, to cleanse not only the surface of the body but the internal organs, their physical labors promoting the needed skin functioning to preserve them malodorous embarrassment. In cold countries, as Sweden during the rigorous winter season, where perspiration is not produced spontaneously as in warmer climates, the sweat bath practice is recognized as a hygienic practice.

Stimulating perspiration by artificial means is recommended, such as heat, drinks, sweat baths—but the best of all, according to Lagrange is exercise. The cleanliness due to perspiration from muscular work is more complete than that which is produced artificially.

I offer the foregoing as a suggestion to those persons who continue to suffer odors of body after they have found the usual remedies suggested ineffective.

Crinoline Dance Dress for Smart Parisienne

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Well, girls, the first dress to follow the lead of the new second empire styles, has been created in Paris. Worth, the greatest Rue de la Paix dressmaker, has made this dress, and for one of the famous forty smartest women, Comtesse Elie de Ganay, who has been wearing it around Paris.

You see it in the sketch, but don't regard it as a lone frock, for Worth is going to make more dresses like this as a fall fashion, he says. He's going to make them for women, even as you and I, to wear.

There is more to this frock than meets the eye, for the black tulle skirt, with its many tiers of ruffles, isn't alone backed by crinoline. It is reinforced by two whalebone hoops around the hips. I know, for I saw them with my own eyes before the dress left the salons, and they do say that its wearer has to turn sideways to get through the modern door of her totally modern car, but the effect of the dress is ravishing just the same.

The bodice of this model is made of black moiré, closely fitted and extending to the top of the hips. Around the normal waistline is a moiré ribbon sash that ties in a knot on the left side and has long ends. Into the knot is thrust a huge white velvet flower, and the rounded décolleté of the bodice is bordered with white velvet.

Camp Fund Over $4,000 for Season

The generous heart that Chicago has for its citizens visited by hard luck again was manifested yesterday as the Camp Algonquin fund sailed over the $4,000 mark.

Yesterday's gifts, totaling $57.50, placed a total of $4,044.01 to the credit of the fund that is sending hundreds of tenement mothers and children to the Fox river valley camp for two week vacations. After a winter of financial hardship experienced by the wealthy as well as the poor that total in the camp fund is a tribute to the unselfish thoughtfulness of TRIBUNE readers.

THE TRIBUNE free ice fund, the recipient of $84.50 in yesterday's mail, shared honors with the camp fund. The fund was boosted over the $3,000 mark and almost reached $3,700. This means that more ice will be sent to more needy families as long as the warm weather lasts.

Chief among yesterday's gifts was a check for $80, which the donor, H. C., asked to be divided: $60 to the ice fund and the remainder to the camp fund. A $20 check from Mrs. V. Kleinschmidt was another liberal gift to the camp.

Men's Garden Club Opens Yearly Show of Flowers Saturday

The annual fall flower exhibit of the Men's Garden club of the Chicago region will be open to the public at Garfield park conservatory Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 29 and 30. There will be 139 classes open in four types of competition, according to Van N. Marker, president of the club.

The flower show committee of the organization consists of O. V. Morgan, chairman; Arthur F. Bronwell, W. A. Schueler, W. F. Galitz, J. Warren Isett, Sidney T. Collins Jr., and G. E. McKana. Section A includes entries by members of the club who are amateurs.

The general public is admitted to amateur competiton in section B. Section C is reserved for members who are commercial growers, and section D is reserved for commercial growers in general. All flowers are to be ready for judging by 11 a. m. Saturday. The show will then be open to the public for inspection two hours later.

Twenty-eight divisions have been made for perennials, 37 for annuals, two for roses, four for shrubs, the same number for vase or basket entries, and 34 classes for fruits and vegetables.

Women Will Celebrate 11 Years as U. S. Voters

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Tomorrow's eleventh anniversary of woman's suffrage was hailed by the National Woman's party as occasion for rejoicing over "inequalities erased." Mrs. Harvey W. Wiley, national chairman, outlined 20 types of feminine legal triumphs during the last 11 years in the various states. She rejoiced at added parity of citizenship, but expressed resentment at "efforts to force women out of industry and back into the home."

Food Talk.

One of the nicest of the light summer breads is the pop-over. Now that we are beginning to have crisp, cool mornings, a little oven heat does no harm. Pop-overs can be whipped up in such a jiffy and be whisked into a piping hot oven before you attend to the rest of your breakfast. Then, thirty minutes later, after you have skinned the peaches, made the coffee, and set the table in the breakfast nook, the pop-overs are done . . . hot, puffy, and inviting as you gently tumble them from the tins.

Iron pans, deep cupped, heavy, and smooth are better for pop-over baking than the ordinary muffin tins. Before you start to mix your batter set the pans in the oven for ten minutes. When you remove them, grease well with a buttered brush and let them stand until you are ready to drop in the batter.

The trick to making successful pop-overs lies in the making. Don't peek in the oven every other minute. Let your pop-overs be in your oven a full fifteen minutes before you open the oven door. During the last fifteen or twenty minutes of baking you may watch them, and decrease the heat gradually, because pop-overs must live up to their name, and "pop"—not dry up or scorch.

POP-OVERS.

1 cup of flour
1 cup of milk
1 unbeaten egg
Pinch of salt

With a large eggbeater beat all the ingredients together until you have a smooth and bubbly batter. Drop two tablespoonfuls of batter into each pan cup. Place immediately in a hot oven [450 F.] and bake thirty to thirty-five minutes. Decrease the heat of your oven gradually to 350 F. This makes eight pop-overs.

ASPARAGUS PLATTER.

Arrange triangles of thin, buttered toast around the edge of a serving platter. Slice hard boiled eggs lengthwise and place on the toast. Cover with a cheese sauce [3 tablespoonfuls of grated cheese to 1 cupful of white sauce]. Fill the center of the plate with a mound of fresh or canned asparagus. Garnish with pimiento strips.

LAMB STEW.

Buy two or three pounds of lamb, cut from the shoulder, and cut it into small pieces. Chop up a large onion and brown it in four tablespoonfuls of fat in a hot pan. Dredge the meat with flour, and add to the onion. Sear it well all over. Put in a kettle together with the contents of a small can of tomatoes, and barely cover with water. Simmer for one hour. Then add pepper, salt, small potatoes, diced carrots, chopped celery, and cook for half an hour longer. Serve hot on a platter. Garnish with peas and parsley.

APPLE PUDDING.

Butter an iron skillet well and fill two-thirds full of thinly sliced apples. Put one cupful of brown sugar and a sprinkling of cinnamon over the apples. Let stand over a hot oven while preparing the batter.

Beat three eggs very light; add one cupful of granulated sugar, and beat together. Sift one teaspoonful of baking powder with one cupful of flour and add to the sugar and eggs. Mix well. Pour the batter over the apples in the skillet. Bake in a moderate oven [350 F.] for 45 minutes. Turn out of the pan upside down, and serve warm with whipped cream.

Eye Load in Average School Is Too Great for Child's Ability

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

The younger the child in the progressive school the less you see him bending over books for long periods, then writing, then doing other kinds of close, exacting eye work, which also cramps him physically. His academic work is almost nil while he is young—he paints large, he draws large, he models with clay, he hammers and saws, he takes trips to learn to know the outside world—then later comes the more confining academic work.

It becomes interesting then, not only from the physical but from the educational standpoint, to read a recent communication from the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, from which the following is an extract:

"Educators are seriously concerned over the fact that children spend a large proportion of their school time in work demanding close careful eye work, as in reading and writing. Yet there has been no investigation made heretofore on the possibilities of reducing this so-called 'eye-load.'

"Among the things we wish to learn are: How much time ought child with normal vision to spend in reading? Which materials would cause him least fatigue? Which materials are best suited to children with eye defects? Ought children of 5 and 8 years of age to engage in close eye work? What kind of lighting is best suited to the varying age levels of readers? What degree and intensity of lighting is best?

"The proposed plan of research recognizes the complexity of the problem. Extensive research extending over a period of several years and engaging educators, ophthalmologists, illuminating engineers, and others will be necessary. A comprehensive survey of the eye-load of the school children from the ages of 5 to 19 years is in the process.

A list of "Books of the Outdoor World" will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

One risk no woman can afford

Unknown substitutes are foolish risk . . . you know Kotex is pure

THERE'S one chance no woman can afford to take. That's the chance of poorly made sanitary protection.

It may look like Kotex. But who made it? Where? How? Who guarantees safety, health protection?

You know you're safe with Kotex. It's a hospital product—last year 10,000,000 pads were used in hospitals alone. Kotex is pure, clean, immaculate through and through. Don't sacrifice this assurance ever. Kotex is available everywhere . . . you need never accept a questionable substitute, whose makers you do not know.

In addition, Kotex offers every comfort. It is amazingly soft, and its softness lasts.

TEXAS PLANS OIL PRORATION WITH PRICES GOING UP

Civil Regulation Soon to Supplant Troops.

Austin, Tex., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The oil industry was cheered by rising prices in several quarters today, as the Texas railroad commission met here to consider proration plans which will substitute control under civil law for the military rule which Gov. Sterling clamped down to stop the wild flow of oil in the East Texas field, discovery of which brought chaos to oil prices.

Rising gasoline prices brought an end to gas price wars in nine middle western states. The increase ranged from 1-3 to 3 cents a gallon.

Oklahoma Prices Raise.

The price of crude oil also went up in Oklahoma, where Gov. Murray initiated the military control policy by calling out the National Guard to shut down wells throughout the state. The Sinclair Refining company, one of the leaders in that field, raised its price for oil to 70 cents a barrel, meeting the price offer made by most other refiners in the area on Saturday.

The Phillips Petroleum company has offered to pay $1 a barrel, the price set by Gov. Murray as a requisite for calling off the National Guard and permitting the resumption of production.

The railroad commission was designated as the regulating agency for the oil industry by the recent act of the state legislature, passed at Gov. Sterling's demand for legislation to cope with the emergency. Its members called before them today leaders in the petroleum business, many of them holders of large leases in the lush East Texas field.

Proration Limits Suggested.

The first indication of the probable daily production to be allowed under proration orders was given by E. V. Foran, technical adviser of the central proration committee. He urged that the daily flow be limited to between 225,000 and 250,000 barrels, as compared to a peak production of 800,000 barrels a day in the field before the military stepped in.

C. V. Terrill, chairman of the commission, said that he thought it possible to formulate a proration plan by Sept. 1. It is expected then that Gov. Sterling will call off the National Guard as soon as the plan is ready to go into effect.

The four counties which are under martial law remained quiet today. There were no further reports of attempts to fire the shutdown wells.

At Tulsa the Oil and Gas Journal reported that martial law in Texas had been effective in cutting the average petroleum production in the United States by 211,045 barrels a day last week.

LOCAL PRICE WAR OVER.

Peace reigned yesterday on the filling station front in Chicago, where a gasoline price war which had sent the price of the fluid to the lowest levels in the city's history had been settled by a price raise by all the principal companies.

Raises of three cents a gallon sent the price of ethyl gasoline to 17 cents, including the 3 cent state tax, and of the standard grade to 14 cents, while the competitive grade was raised 2 cents to a price of 12 cents a gallon. Although the Texas company announced that it would not participate in the price raise announced by the Standard Oil of Indiana, Shell, Sinclair and other large refining interests, its filling stations put the increased prices into effect.

BANK MOVES TO STOP 'WHISPER' CAMPAIGN ABOUT ITS FINANCES

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust, one of the city's larger financial institutions, against the stability of which rumors have been widespread in recent weeks, took aggressive action today to end what it terms the "whispering campaign."

Two distinct steps were taken. The first was the indictment of James H. O'Connell, a customer's man employed by Burley & Co., investment brokers. He is charged with spreading false rumors regarding the bank's financial condition.

The second step was a statement by Thomas I. Chadbourne, general counsel for and a director of the bank, announcing that the institution is conducting an intensive investigation of the spread of rumors, that it intends to see that O'Connell is prosecuted and, if found guilty, punished, and that as quickly as evidence is gathered against other rumor spreaders their cases will be taken before the grand jury for action.

Mr. Chadbourne pointed out that federal bank examiners had just completed a periodic examination of the institution and approved its resources and soundness "in every particular."

Mortimer N. Buckner, chairman of the New York Clearing House association, stated yesterday that he was sure of the financial stability of the Chatham Phenix.

U. S. GETS $408,598 IN TAX CAMPAIGN ON DELINQUENTS

The federal government's campaign against tax dodging hoodlums and politicians resulted in the collection of $408,598 in delinquent income taxes during July, Robert E. Neely, acting collector, announced yesterday. This placed the first Illinois district second only to the sixth California district, which includes Hollywood.

Approximately fifty well known hoodlums have filed delinquent returns within the last few months, said Mr. Neely. The largest individual collection was $225,000 obtained from a gambler, who compromised his deficiency. Although Mr. Neely refused to disclose the gambler's identity, he presumably was James Hackett, Blue Island, who recently claimed he was kidnaped and ransomed. A lien for $300,000 had been filed against Hackett.

Fined $100 for Insults to Women Who Seek Job

Walter Schoel, 43 years old, 1244 South Wabash avenue, who is alleged to have made his living as a "blind" accordion player, was fined $100 yesterday by Judge Howard Hayes in the Morals court. He was arraigned on the complaints of two women, who said that he had insulted them when they answered his advertisement for a housekeeper.

COTTON PROBLEM ARRIVES AT DOOR OF LEGISLATORS

Louisiana Assembly Meets at Call of Governor.

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 25.—(AP)—At the call of Gov. Huey P. Long, the Louisiana legislature tonight considered his proposal to bar cotton raising in 1932 because of the price depression and to prevent the gathering or marketing of any cotton grown next year.

On the point of legality the governor offered the plan to the legislature as a means of exterminating the root rot, boll weevils and other pests, and declared in his proclamation that the action was necessary to assist the cotton industry. He predicted the measure would pass "almost unanimously."

No Action in Texas.

Texas, the biggest cotton-growing state, continued today to debate the question of acreage restriction and the Long "no cotton" plan, with reports of demands from farmers there that Gov. Sterling call a special legislative session.

In Georgia, Eugene Talmadge, state commissioner of agriculture, was discussing the Long plan before the farmers, while in the Mississippi delta the big cotton planters were reported as favoring the plan with the small farmers against it.

Wants Nation to Act.

Shelby, N. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Gov. O. Max Gardner of North Carolina today termed state legislation compelling abandonment of cotton planting as "unsound" without some binding agreement with foreign growers. He called upon President Hoover to convene an immediate session of congress to consider the crisis.

"Cotton is not merely a sectional crop confined to the south but is a national and international commodity," said Gov. Gardner.

Issues Warning as Sixth Victim of Lockjaw Dies

Dr. Karl Meyer, medical superintendent of the county hospital, issued a warning Monday night against tetanus after Emily Wilesunski, 12 years old, 846 Noble street, had died of the disease. She was the sixth lockjaw victim to die at the county hospital in two months, an infection having set in after she broke her arm on Aug. 17.

"The percentage of cases in which tetanus develops from open wounds is higher this year than last," said Dr. Meyer. "All open wounds of the skin should be regarded with caution. See the family doctor at once. Have the wound sterilized and anti-tetanus serum injected."

FIND BOMB ON PORCH OF JUROR WHO CAUSED CLARK CASE DEADLOCK.

Santa Monica, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A bomb was found early today on the porch of the home of William E. Weller, 63 year old juror who held out for a conviction in the murder trial of David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney.

A newspaper was wrapped around the bomb, which was in the form of a gas pipe about eight inches long and encased in friction tape. A dynamite fuse protruded from one end. It had been lighted but had gone out.

Weller's refusal to change his vote for conviction resulted in a disagreement of the Clark jury after it had been out 63 hours. Eleven voted for acquittal of Clark, accused of slaying Herbert Spencer, political editor and former newspaper man, and Charles Crawford, wealthy politician, in Los Angeles.

Clark said he shot the men in self-defense, but the state contended the real plot lay in some frustrated scheme of the Los Angeles underworld, of which Crawford once was ruler.

GOVERNOR BALKS AT FREEING RED SENT UP FOR YEAR

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A petition seeking release of Theodore Luesse, communist, from the Indiana state farm was presented to Gov. Harry G. Leslie today but failed.

The governor told Joe Edwards, Anderson, and L. G. McCormick, Terre Haute, who brought the petition that he could do nothing because he does not believe Luesse merits release.

Asserting there was a $60,000,000 fund available in New York for dissemination of communist doctrines, the governor said its followers were seizing on unemployment to win converts. He said he did not see how Luesse's methods in agitating mass-meetings in Indianapolis could help the unemployed. Edwards said Luesse was a menace "only to those who are thrown into the streets" by poverty.

Luesse was sent to the state farm for a year, following conviction in Criminal court here for interfering with officers who were dispossessing a family. He had been arrested previously for creating disturbances. He described himself as an agent for a communist paper and has said he receives pay from communist organizations.

1,000 ITALIAN FIGHTING PLANES "CLASH" TODAY

King to Watch Gigantic Air Maneuvers.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Aug. 25.—Mimic warfare to test Italy's vulnerability by air on an unprecedented scale will be inaugurated over central Italy early tomorrow morning, when nearly 1,000 planes, the largest air fleet ever assembled in Europe, will clash in an imaginary attack and defense of Spezia on the Tyrrhenian sea.

GEN. ITALO BALBO.
[Acme Photo.]

The maneuvers this year will be an echo to Premier Mussolini's words some years ago when he said that to secure her defense by air Italy would build enough planes so that their wings would obscure the peninsula from the light of the sun.

King to Watch "War."

When the two airplane divisions take to the skies they will be directed by Gen. Italo Balbo, minister of aviation, with Gen. Valle, commander in chief of the air forces, directing operations. King Victor Emmanuel II., War Minister Pietro Gaserra, Minister of Marine Siriani, Minister of Colonies Debon, Marshal Badoglio, and Gen. Teruzzi, commander of the Fascist militia, will attend the maneuvers.

According to the scheme of the war games Italy has been attacked. Italy in the east and Italian air forces are concentrated in the Po valley on the east side. Then an attack will be launched by another enemy from the west. The Italian forces will be withdrawn from across the Apennine mountains to meet this danger, leaving only a few skirmishing planes behind.

Aim at Naval Base.

One group, representing Italian forces, is commanded by Gen. Opizzi, while the "enemy" forces, which attack from the west, are under the command of Gen. Lombardi. The attacking forces are given a margin of superiority in strength. The attacking forces will try to "destroy" the naval base at Spezia, besides attempting to paralyze the commercial center of Genoa.

ARMY ENGINEERS WILL INSPECT ILLINOIS BRIDGES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, today designated a board of three officers to examine all bridges over the Illinois river and Illinois waterway below Lockport to determine changes necessary to permit unobstructed navigation under all the structures.

The board will consist of Lieut. Cols. Max C. Tyler, Washington, D. C.; Richard C. Moore, St. Louis, and Roger C. Powell, Cincinnati.

SEVEN CHICAGO WOMEN WIN IN WESTERN GOLF

Mrs. Tyson, Champ, Victor, 7 and 6.

Mrs. George W. Tyson of Kansas City, defending champion, defeated Miss Mary Elizabeth Ford, 17 year old Kansas City girl, 7 and 6, yesterday in the first round of match play in the 25th annual women's western championship tournament at Exmoor. Mrs. Tyson's margin of victory was the biggest of the day, Miss Ford failing to win a hole.

Although Mrs. Tyson's performance was the highlight of the sixteen matches, her exhibition did not overshadow the accomplishments of Chicago's other ranking players. Seven of the city's stars came through impressively, while two fell by the wayside, Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield and Mrs. Edwin Jones of Lincolnshire.

Half of the field of 32 who qualified for match play were Chicagoans, and those whose victories yesterday earned them the right to engage in the second round of 18 holes today are Miss Helen Nelson of Exmoor, Jean Armstrong of Indian Hill, Virginia Van Vlissingen of Beverly, Mrs. Charles Dennehy of Onwentsia, Helen MacMorran of Indian Hill, June Beebe of Onwentsia Fields, and Mrs. H. Austin Dodge of Indian Hill.

Five Up at Turn.

Miss Tyson was out in 39 to be 5 up at the turn. On the next three she squared birdies to end the match on the 12th hole. Their cards:

Mrs. Tyson.....856 544 343—39
Miss Ford.....856 655 954—44

Par.....433
Handicap.....453

The upset of the day came on the 12th green when Miss Nelson, junior golf champion in 1928, halved the hole to retain her one up lead and send Mrs. Gregg Lifur of Los Angeles into the consolation flight. Miss Nelson started off with five consecutive pars, but lost her 2 up, but she lost the 11th and eighth. She turned one up by posting a par 3 on the ninth, while Mrs. Lifur was taking an extra putt. With a par on the tenth Miss Nelson increased her lead to 2, but on the 11th she three putted, while Mrs. Lifur was getting a par 3. The Exmoor girl's par 5 on the 15th restored her to a 1 up lead. Miss Nelson lost the 17th when she missed her approach. The 18th was halved in 6s as both three putted.

Miss Ann Webster, Kansas state champion, eliminated Miss Jane Wellington, Chicago district champion, 1 up. Miss Wellington was 2 down at the 6th, but won the 7th she made a birdie two by sinking a 30 foot putt. Thus encouraged, she took the next two holes with 3 and 2 to reach the halfway mark up. She lost the 10th when Miss Webster dropped a long putt for a par 4. With 4s on the 12th and 13th Miss Wellington assumed a 2 up lead. The 15th was halved in par 5s, and the Kansas champion began to coast, taking the next three holes.

Mrs. Hill Wins, 4 and 3.

In the upper bracket where there were no seventh players Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, trans-Mississippi champion, defeated Mrs. Lee Mida, Butterfield, 4 and 3. On the 15th Mrs. Mida three putted to end the match.

Miss Virginia Carver, 1930 junior western champion, lost to Virginia Van Vlissingen, 1 and 2. Miss Carver was only 1 down at the turn as she won one and halved six. Miss Van Wie's par 4 won the fifteenth to give her the 1 up lead, and 6s on the sixteenth ended the match.

Mrs. Leona Pressler of Los Angeles, medalist, heading the lower bracket, was not pressed in her match with Mrs. A. E. Sheill, Glen Oak, and won, 6 and 4. Mrs. Sheill took an early lead by winning the second hole. Then the Los Angeles star began a volley of birdies and pars, winning the next 5 holes, and turned 4 up. Gathering in four birdies on the tenth, her lead was increased to 5 and she made it 6 and 4.

ENTIRE SINCLAIR STABLE WILL BE SOLD AT AUCTION

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The Rancocas stable thoroughbreds, raised by Harry F. Sinclair, millionaire oil operator, will be sold at auction on Sept. 2, according to an announcement here today by Christopher J. Fitzgerald, who has been retained to conduct the sale.

A lengthy statement issued by Fitzgerald made no mention of the recent poisoning of the filly Ladana, which caused the racing stewards to bar the entries of further Rancocas stable horses from overnight events at this meeting. Fitzgerald's statement indicated that Mr. Sinclair would show his silks in competition in the future.

May Never Race Again.

An exactly opposite view is taken by others, who assert that the decision to sell the horses was born of resentment at the stewards' ruling, and that Mr. Sinclair will not race horses again.

Frank Taylor, trainer of the Rancocas string, was very outspoken when the ruling of the stewards, which criticized him for neglect, was published. Today he at first disclaimed authority to speak on the matter of the sale when rumors were rife. His son Gage, however, made no secret of the matter, and somewhat later Fitzgerald's statement was issued.

Fitzgerald's statement said, "Mr. Sinclair was not ready to talk about his plans for the winter or next year," but said that "at the Rancocas farm in New Jersey there are well over one hundred mares, yearlings, and weanlings in addition to the stud, of which the best known sires are Zev, Lucillite, and Bud Lerner" and that "these will furnish material for future campaigns."

Zev Led Parade.

"No stable has been more prominently in the public eye than that owned by Harry F. Sinclair, who achieved international fame as a sportsman in 1923 when his colt, Zev, representing the United States, defeated the English Derby winner, Papyrus, in the $100,000 international race at Belmont Park."

"That season horses representing the Rancocas stable won $433,849, which is a world record. The Sinclair horses were then trained by the late S. C. Hildreth, one of the greatest horsemen in this country and who had the distinction of placing Rancocas at the head of the winning list in 1921 and '22 as well as 1923.

"Some of the great horses that contributed to this result, in addition to Zev, who retired with earnings of $313,639, were Mad Hatter, who won $194,525; Grey Lag, $136,675, and Mad Play, $136,472. No other stable has had such a galaxy of great performers on the turf at one time."

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Baseball interest in Chicago simply will not down. The White Sox, who couldn't take the American league pennant if they won all their remaining games and the Athletics lost all theirs, recently drew the largest crowd that has ever seen a game in this part of the country. The Cubs, whose hopes of a National league pennant faded weeks ago, have attracted almost as many spectators to Wrigley field as last year, when they were in the race up to the last week of the season.

WOODY ENGLISH.

Business at the north side park has been off less than 5 per cent. How many organizations in other lines have done as well in 1931?

There are indications that the attendance mark established at Comiskey park last Sunday will go boom Sept. 9, when the Cubs move into the south side ball yard to battle the Sox in Chicago's 100 per cent charity game. Scores of generously inclined fans have applied for box seats at premium prices. The regular sale opens tomorrow morning at Wrigley field, Comiskey park, and the Hub.

Subscriber M. C. writes in to say that Woody English will be "showed up plenty" when the fans get a chance to compare him with Luke Appling, shortstop for the Sox. His remarks:

"In all these Cub letters insulting the White Sox why don't we hear something about what the Cub stars are going to do to the Sox in the charity game on Sept. 9?

"Until today I've been expecting some wild Cub fan to tell how much farther the slumped Wilson can hit a baseball than Smead Jolley, and how Woody English will show up the rookie, Appling, at short stop.

"If Jolley hadn't been injured this year he'd have made Chicago forget what Wilson did when he was still a ball player, and as for English, described early this year by Hornsby as the 'greatest shortstop in the majors,' I want to say that with all his erratic fielding Appling is a better shortstop than English ever will be.

"I have nothing against English, at that, and I am as sorry as any one that he has been moved to third base, which, under the Cub plan, long has been reserved as a haven for one legged men or bushers. I need only mention Pick, Yoter, Stephenson, Lester Bell, and Hornsby to express what I mean.

"English is a young man, and may come back. But in the meantime keep your eye on this kid, Appling."

And here is one from Sam J. Bennett, 72 years old, of Kenilworth, who claims to be one of the oldest Sox fans:

"After reading all the writings on the White Sox and Cubs in your column, I desire to give my version. Without any braggadocio, I think I am one of the oldest, if not the oldest, White Sox fan. Charles [Old Hoss] Radbourne, a brother-in-law of mine and one of the finest pitchers the game has known, has told me of the many good qualities of Charles A. Comiskey, who at that time was manager of the Browns.

"So I became an admirer of Mr. Comiskey back in the 80s, years before the organization of the American league, and since that time I have been pulling for him and his players.

"If the fans would show the spirit that prevailed during the world series of 1906 between the Cubs and Sox it would be better than the knocking that is going on today. That was a great series and I hope I can see another like it. Of course, at the age of 72 I cannot expect to see many more. One more like that 1906 series would do.

"If the stories we hear from time to time about office interference in the management of the Sox team were true I for one believe a man of Mr. Comiskey's executive ability would correct the irregularity.

"Fans, let's quit driving from the back seat. Quit booing and stop throwing lemons for the good of the game."

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Herb Pennock, the creaky old left handed master, gave the White Sox a whitewashing yesterday and the New York Yankees won their tenth straight of the year at Comiskey park, 8 to 0. This afternoon—and it's ladies' day, girls—Babe Ruth and his associates will seek to make it a clean sweep of the season series. Such a thing would be unprecedented, so far as we know.

The semi-final game of the season here with the Yanks was a baseball contest between Pennock and Weiland until Bob finally got discouraged with his supporting cast, both as batsmen and fielders. In the first five innings Weiland held the Yanks to one unearned run, but in the sixth Robert came to realize that his fellows were hopelessly impotent. The blowoff followed. The Yanks made four runs in the sixth and two in the seventh and they added one off Lyons in the ninth because Benny Chapman was able to steal second and third for his 50th and 51st thefts of the year.

Yes, the Babe Played Again.

The Sox made six hits off Pennock and four of these were infield scratches. All the Sox ball pounding was done by three athletes—Blue, Fothergill and Kerr—each of whom had a pair of smacks.

The shutout was the first the Yankees have been able to accomplish this year and came when the dopesters were figuring that they might tie a record for no shutout victories set by Cleveland in 1899.

Babe Ruth was present again, with

• Connie Mack •

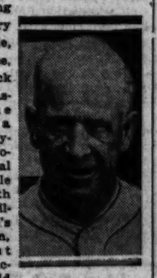
The Life Story of Baseball's Grand Old Man

This is the second of a series of articles on the life of Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Tall and skinny, with bristling, reddish-gray eyebrows shading orbs of watery blue and a pale, consoling voice, Old Connie Mack now has the aspect and the influence of a fatherly clergyman or a benevolent local political patriarch. A little more prim, with a trace of old William Muldoon's self-satisfaction, Connie might qualify as a sanctimonious old bore of a familiar type. I find him much like A. A. Stagg, except that, unlike Stagg, the Puritan, Connie is very tolerant and lards his morality with a worldly humor. Yet, on the whole, their purposes and beliefs are about alike.



KID GLEASON.

Stagg never had a drink. Connie is no drinker but that is not to say his lips have never touched a glass. He gave liquor a chance and formed an opinion of his own, whereas Stagg abhorred it on hearsay.

Nowadays, Connie tries to man his ball teams entirely with players of such temperament as will not need to be admonished or will yield their folly when he does admonish them. Old Kid Gleason, the coach, who came to Connie, disheartened after his White Sox had fouled him in 1919, says the old man is a far more effective revivalist than the Rev. William A. Sunday, the professional brand from the burning who played ball in Connie's time. It is known that many a young man, hot with the afterglow of a night among the bottles, has been brought to repentance by Connie Mack's sermons delivered in the corner of a hotel lobby, in the aisle of a Pullman on a haul between towns or in his room, but he never claims to speak as one who has suffered.

Billy Sunday No More a "Devil" Than Mr. Mack.

Therein he differs from Billy Sunday, but it appears that Mr. Sunday has exaggerated and dramatized his own adventures with temptation and was not, in his day, any more a devil than Mr. Mack. I find that when Sunday was playing in Chicago and the ball club was helling around saloons at night, a detective trailed each man in turn for a length of time and had nothing but good to report on the player, who, as preacher, has since exploited himself as a fallen brother on excellent terms of pay.

"I don't object to frivolous conduct in one man," Connie says. "But I won't keep that kind of man on my club because he won't go out alone. He is sure to take some other fellow out with him. There aren't many bad boys in baseball now. The bad boys are just kids who enjoy being young. They are kids who never had much money before. To a small town boy a New York night club may be the top of the world socially.

"A young fellow in an office may come in with a hangover in the morning and struggle through, somehow, without causing serious damage. If he makes a mistake, he may be able to correct it the next day. He may be able to stall through and shove part of his work off on to somebody else that day.

"But in baseball when a player lets a ball go through him because he was out all night and doesn't feel well he can't stop it tomorrow. And we have no arrangement for stretching our other men to cover his shrinkage. So, while a clerk in an office has more liberty than a player, we pay the player for waiving some of his human privileges. After a few years in the major leagues he is beyond the frivolous age and when he gets out he has saved some money.

Prohibition Backward Steps, Says Connie.

"It's a funny thing," the Old Man said with a sour smile, "that drink should still be such a problem after twelve years of prohibition. That has been the greatest backward step this country has taken in my time. We were a real sober lot when this thing came along.

"But even prohibition can't set our kids back to the conditions of the eighties. People will tell you what fine, honest, moral boys and girls there were in grandpa's day, but they forget that the streets were full of women in those days and that drinking and fighting were common. They wouldn't stand for ball games on Sunday, but every big town had a district set aside for vice just as certain districts were set aside for shopping, for manufacturing, and for shipping. Those girls didn't just happen. They were the daughters of people.

Enters Career with None Too Bright a Future.

"The world improves. Business methods are better. Education is much better. Each generation is a little bit smarter than the one before and the kids today behave better and show more sense than they did when I was young."

At the time when Connie was developing into a not half bad sort of bush league ball player with the semi-professional home talent club in his native town of East Brookfield, Mass., the game as a vocation held out approximately the same social promise as a career in purse snatching. Professional baseball had only recently emerged from the phase of snide amateurism, much the same as lawn tennis is slowly turning square today, and under the management of the players themselves the business had degenerated into one of the rotten trades. Incidentally, the mock amateurs of

SECOND PLACE SLIPS AWAY IN DOUBLE DEFEAT

Bruin Hurlers Pitch Home Run Ball.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—The Giants gave the Cubs both barrels today and the titanic struggle for second place emoluments is, for the time being, a one team affair. First Charley Root, the pride of the staff, fell in a heap by 5 to 2 before the ancient enemy. Then Jakie May crumpled up in even more painful fashion and the dwellers of the Polo grounds made the afternoon a complete success by parading to another victory, this one by 7 to 1.

If nothing else, it was at least a field day for the athletes who love their homers. Seven drives sailed beyond the ridiculously short barriers. In the opening game Woody English and Vin Barton, with his No. 2, sparkled in this connection. So did Mel Ott, who ruined Root with two on base. The second fight was even more boisterous, especially for the Giants. Hogan, Ott, and Bill Hunnefield took turns passing out souvenirs to some of the 15,000 fans. Rolly Hemsley was the only Cub able to do it, and there was no better pitcher against them than a second rater entitled Tiny Chaplin.

Root's Cunning Vanishes.

Root caved in all of a sudden in the first fight. For five innings he stood the Giants in a corner with three hits and made them like it. To strengthen his chances for his fifteenth win of the year his mates gave him a 3 to 0 lead, all because of the homers by English and Barton off Carl Hubbell. But in the sixth Root became as bad as he had been good. Ott's homer with two on brought on some of the destruction. A wild throw by Adair completed a four run rally and that meant the decision. The other Giant tally was off Teachout in the seventh.

Burial services for May in the second game occurred in the third inning. Before that he had appeared skilled enough to furnish the Giants a fight, but five runs in the third pulled down the curtain on May as well as on the Cubs' chances. Five men in a row pounded him safely and two of the wallops were homers which picked up three-fifths of the five run splurge. The Cubs immediately lost all interest in their work. That probably is why Chaplin at least looked the part of a capable pitcher.

Malone and Welch will try to recover some ground for the Cubs in another twin bill tomorrow. Walker and Mooney, the latter a rookie who has pitched two sterling performances, will start for the Giants.

FIRST GAME

The first game started properly for the Cubs because of English's homer off Hubbell. The ball sailed to the right field barrier and a fan tried to pluck it out of the air. It dropped back on to the field and for a few minutes there was an argument as to whether it was a round tripper or merely a double. The umpires decided in the Cubs' favor. Barton also singled in this inning but Wilson fanned. Quite a time elapsed before the Chicagoans could produce any more hits against the lanky Giant southpaw.

Barton Hits No. 3.

Prior to being hammered for those four runs in the sixth Root found only one bumpy spot in the road and it wasn't his fault. This little disturbance came up in the third. With one gone, Hubbell lined against the nearby left field wall for two bases. Fullis grounded to English, who chased Hubbell almost back to second and then threw to Jurges. The latter muffed the ball. Grimm helped to get Root out of the hole by making a one

BASEBALL, GOLF AND TENNIS THROUGH CAMERA MAN'S EYE

Mrs. A. E. Sheill and Mrs. Lee Mida of Chicago, who were defeated yesterday in the women's western golf tourney at Exmoor, help Mrs. O. S. Hill of Kansas City get last card. Mrs. Sheill lost to Mrs. Leona Pressler, the medalist, 6 and 4, and Mrs. Mida was defeated by Mrs. Hill, 4 and 3, as match play started.

Two heads are better than one, so the saying goes. Using that theory, George Dawson sinks a putt right under Don Armstrong's eyes. They were playing in the Chicago district amateur tourney at Knollwood. Armstrong winning, 2 and 1.

DAWSON, MARTIN ELIMINATED IN DISTRICT GOLF

Novotny and Westland in Quarter-Finals.

Frequent upsets marked first and second round play in the Chicago district amateur golf tournament at Knollwood yesterday, a number of favorites having been eliminated during the day.

George Dawson, qualifying medalist, figured in the biggest surprise when he lost to Don Armstrong of Aurora, 2 and 1, in the second round after winning his opening match from Alden B. Swift, 5 and 3. Armstrong shot 37—36—73, par golf, in disposing of Dawson, while the latter took a 76.

Dick Martin of Briergate was another favorite unable to survive the opening day's play. He dropped his second round match to John McKinlay Jr. on the 19th green when John holed a 10 footer for a birdie three, while Dick, also shooting for a birdie, saw his ball stop on the rim of the cup.

Moller Loses First Match.

Larry Moller of Quincy was eliminated in the morning round by Frank Renwick of Aurora, one up in 24 holes. Tom Frainey of Glen Oak, won two hard fought matches, beating Lew Levinson, a southpaw, 1 up in 19 holes and coming back to win from Ira Couch of Glen View, 3 and 2, in the afternoon. Burton Mudge of the home club, whose 151 was third low in the qualifying round, lost his first round match to Frank Justin of Edgewood Valley, one up.

Jack Westland, the defending champion, appeared to gain strength as the tournament progressed. In the qualifying round Monday he opened with a par 73, only to weaken on his second 18 holes and take an 81. Apparently chagrined at this shortcoming, he came back yesterday to defeat Charles Becka of Calumet, one up, in the first round. Jack had a medal score of 38—35—74, one over par, while Becka was shooting a 37—38—75.

Becka was one up at the turn and remained so until the 15th, when Jack evened matters by shooting a birdie three, while Becka was down in par four. They halved the 16th in par 5s. Westland won the match on the 17th.

Novotny Wins Twice.

In the afternoon Westland conquered John Van Nortwick Jr., 4 and 2. Van Nortwick was three down at the turn, picked up a point by taking the 11th with a birdie three, and then proceeded to go four down by dropping the 12th and 14th. Westland took a six on the par four 15th when he faced a dead stymie three feet from the cup.

Gus Novotny reached the quarter final bracket by defeating Rial Rolfe, 3 and 2, and Bob Crowe of Bunker Hill one up on the 22d hole. He will meet Art Sweet in the third round today. Sweet won both of his matches yesterday, beating Charles Christopher, 4 and 3, in the first round and Russell Martin, 2 and 1, in the afternoon. Sweet had a par 73 against Martin.

John Banks of Mid City was the lone daily fee club golfer to survive the first day of match play. He won his first match from Bill Jordon of Pickwick, 4 and 3, and then whipped Frank Renwick, one up. Frank Justin of Edgewood Valley also wound up the day undefeated by winning from Burton Mudge, one up, and from Robert Carter of Onwentsia, 5 and 4.

Two rounds will be played again today, with the 36 hole final scheduled for Thursday. Summaries:

Miss MacMorran Easy Winner.

Helen MacMorran, Indian Hill, made easy work of Miss Betty Bruen, young Kansas City entry, taking the match 5 and 4. Miss MacMorran was out in par 39 for a 4 up lead. She increased this to 5 at the tenth and at the 11th allowed her opponent the only hole she won. A par 3 on the 13th by Miss MacMorran put her 5 up again and 5s on the 14th ended the struggle.

June Beebe, western open champion, had a strong opponent in Miss Dorothy Foster, junior western champion, and won by only 1 up when she holed a 10 foot down hill putt on the 18th. They were square at the turn. Today Miss Beebe meets Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, who yesterday disposed of Mrs. Melvin Jones, Lincolnshire, 3 and 2.

The results:

Mrs. George Tyson, Kansas City, defeated Miss Mary E. Ford, Kansas City, 7 and 6.
Miss Ann Webster, LeaFenworth, defeated Miss Jane Weiller, Vernon Ridge, 1 up.

BROWN DEFEATS SANSTOL; CLINNIN REFEREES BOUT

MONTREAL, Canada, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Panama Al Brown, lanky Negro, generally recognized as bantamweight champion of the world, successfully defended his title tonight by outpointing Pete Sanstol, Montreal Norwegian, in a 15 round bout. Sanstol had been recognized by the Montreal athletic commission as titleholder. They each weighed 117 pounds, one pound under the class limit.

The fight was a slashing affair and fully lived up to the advance notices provided by a day of heated arguments over the selection of judges for the battle. Brown received the majority vote of the three officials who finally were selected. Gen. John V. Clinnin of Chicago, president of the National Boxing association, served as referee and the judges were Thomas Murphy, president of the Canadian Boxing association, who precipitated the argument by withdrawing as a judge, and G. A. Demers, chairman of the local commission.

When Murphy withdrew Dave Lumiansky, Brown's manager, threatened to call off the fight if local officials were selected as judges. The wrangling continued until about an hour before the bout was scheduled when Murphy finally reconsidered his decision.

OAK BROOK POLO TEAM CONQUERS MILWAUKEE, 14-9

Milwaukee's entry in the handicap polo tournament at Oak Brook was eliminated yesterday in the opening round by Oak Brook, 14 to 9.

Carrying a seven-goal handicap, the Milwaukee quarter headed by Carl Crawford, held the lead until near the end of the fifth chukker, when a perfect goal by Paul Butler, captain of Oak Brook, put his team in front, 9 to 8.

Tex Crites and Barney Balding of Oak Brook tied for high scoring honors, with four goals each. Butler and Edward Hillman Jr., got three each. Three of the goals scored by Crites came in the fifth period, the first when he outrode Crawford down the field, the second on a free shot after penalty, and the third on a pass from Balding.

Lineup and summary:

OAK BROOK [14].	MILWAUKEE [9].
E. Hillman Jr.	No. 1 F. A. Lange

Favorites in U. S. Amateur Golf

GEORGE VOIGT.

GEORGE VOIGT.

In a country where golf champions begin winning tournaments at an early age, George Voigt is unique. He was no youthful sensation in the golfing world, for he was in his late twenties when he first flashed into prominence. Born at Buffalo, N. Y., he first made himself known about four years ago at the age of 33, and since that time has been rated one of the best competitive players in the game.

He won ten invitation tournaments in 1927-'28, and is was about this time that the matter of his amateur status brought him into a rather unfavorable position and made him the subject of several pieces in the papers. The eligibility committee of the United States Golf association finally decided that it had been somewhat in error, however, and Voigt was completely absolved of any charges of professionalism.

He won the North and South amateur championship in 1927, 1928 and 1929, and was a member of last year's Walker cup team. It was in the national amateur tournament of 1928 that he made experts take notice of him, for he went around the Brae Burn course at West Newton, Mass., in 143 strokes to win the medal and lead such as Jones, Johnston, Ouimet, and Von Elm. Then, to prove it wasn't an accident, he battled his way to the semi-finals, where he lost to Phil Perkins, 3 and 1. He qualified at Pebble Beach in 1929 and lost a heart-breaking 39 hole struggle to Jimmy Johnston in the third round. He was eliminated in the second round last year by young Charley Seaver, the coast sensation.

Winfield Day Wins 1 Up in Junior Golf

Winfield Day, young Elmhurst Country club star, the medalist, scored another victory in the first annual Chicago Junior tournament at Marquette park, defeating George Hackett, Navajo Fields, in the second round yesterday, 1 up. Day will meet Paul Smith, Lincolnshire, in the quarter-final this morning.

Among others who went into the quarter-finals was Jack Hutchison, who scored a 5 and 4 victory over E. Byrne, unattached. Hutchison, who turned in a 74 in the qualifying round, is paired with Joe Jensen of Cog Hill.

Frank Ghiselli, who reached the semi-finals of the recent tournament for the Cook county amateur championship, won from Danny Weiss, 3 and 1, and will meet E. Krider, Marquette park, today. Yesterday's results:

CHAMPIONSHIP FLIGHT.

Winfield Day beat George Hackett, 1 up.
Paul Smith beat C. Chapin, 7 and 6.
Tom Lawlor beat W. Brown, 5 and 4.
R. J. Eddy beat T. Cure, 4 and 2.
S. Humphreys beat Jerry Behrstock, 1 up.
E. Krider beat Harry A. Baldwin Jr., 4 and 3.
Frank Ghiselli beat Danny Weiss, 3 and 1.
B. Malbrough beat Frank Bauer, 5 and 4.
Furnan Wolf beat R. Swatz, 3 and 2.
Jack Hutchison beat E. Byrne, 5 and 4.
Joe Jansek beat Allen Lunn, 2 up.
W. H. Skrentny beat E. W. Sword, 4 and 2.
H. Frankenberg beat H. Grimm, 2 up.
E. Larson beat M. Phlager, 5 and 4.
D. Hollenbeck beat D. Zahn, 4 and 3.
George Cisar beat Irving Burkson, 3 and 2.

Today's pairings:

Von Elm and Burke Differ on New Ball

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Everyday golfers who shoot from 85 to 115 have had their say in the poll on the new and old balls being conducted by THE TRIBUNE in the Chicago district, but two prominent gentlemen from out of town are now numbered among those who have spoken on this moot subject. They are Billy Burke, the new national open champion, and George Von Elm, who made Billy go 72 extra holes to win his championship.

They played an exhibition match against Harry Cooper and Horton Smith last Sunday at Glen Oak, and while there expressed themselves on the ball subject. Burke is all for the present ball, but Von Elm joined the majority of golfers in demanding the return of the old ball.

"I think the new ball is fine," Burke said. "It sets up in the fairway or rough, makes a man play a more skilled shot, offers opportunity to use the wood clubs more frequently, and in spite of what I have heard, I do not think that it is any worse than the old ball on the putting green."

Von Elm's reply was more at length.

"The new golf ball was needed no more than another cup in the green. As far as I can see, the larger and lighter ball makes golf as easy for the good player and twice as hard for the average performer.

"It is too easily affected by the wind and does not putt particularly well. I think every one has noticed how it goes almost to the cup and then promptly stops, and is generally less of a golfing joy than the old ball. I believe it takes too much skill to play it and thus disrupts the ordinary player's enjoyment of the game."

The new ball has been kind to Von Elm, despite his antipathy, for it was introduced by the United States Golf association just about the time he decided to become the only business man golfer in the game. Since that time, he has won $15,000 in open competition. When this is mentioned George points out that if the old ball had been continued in use he probably would have earned $20,000 by now.

Three of the seven private clubs being balloted in THE TRIBUNE poll—Knollwood, Park Ridge and Olympia Fields—already have been heard from, and all voted against the new ball. The other four clubs—Chicago Golf, Elmhurst, Glen View and Flossmoor—are expected to send in their first votes within the week.

Voting blanks may be had at any of these clubs from the professional or starter, who will then mail them to the golf editor of THE TRIBUNE.

OPEN SEASON ON WILD DUCKS IS CUT TO 30 DAYS

Hoover Approves Action to Conserve Game.

Washington, D. C., Aug 25.—[Special.]—President Hoover today approved an amendment to the migratory bird treaty regulations shortening the hunting season on wild ducks, geese, brant and coots to one month in the United States and Alaska.

The curtailment of the season was caused by excessive drought in the principal wild fowl breeding grounds in northwestern United States and Canada, the biological survey explained. An investigation of conditions prevailing in these grounds convinced federal authorities that "irreparable damage would result if measures were not adopted at once to reduce the kill and preserve an adequate stock of birds for breeding."

The one month season for Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan and Wisconsin will extend from Oct. 1 to Oct. 31, the department of agriculture said today.

Under the provisions of the migratory bird treaty with Great Britain the department of agriculture is charged with the protection and maintenance in this country of the birds which migrate to and from Canada. Officials of the department feel that the curtailment of the season to one month will afford sufficient protection this year.

Canadian authorities are expected to take similar action within a short time, it was stated.

MOON MULLINS—ALL EMMY NEEDS IS A CAGE

A's Pound 2 Hurlers; Beat Browns, 4-1

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 25.—Lefty Grove's team mates are making the St. Louis Browns pay for keeping the star moundsman of the Athletics from attaining a record for consecutive victories. Today the A's turned in their third successive victory of the series, 4 to 1.

Eddie Rommel held Killefer's men to six hits today, while George Blaeholder was hit for 11 before he retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Stiles finished the game. Score:

SENATORS BEAT TIGERS.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.] Great relief pitching by Alvin Crowder enabled the Washington Senators to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 5 to 1, here today. Lloyd Brown, who started for the winners, had the Tigers at his mercy in the first eight innings but Manager Walter Johnson was forced to call on Crowder in the ninth.

He held two pinch hitters to weak flies.

Brown allowed only six hits during his stay on the mound, one of which was a home run by Roy Johnson in the eighth. Herring and Sullivan pitched for the Tigers. Score:

MAUST TAKES CLAY TARGET CHAMPIONSHIP

Vandalia, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Karl Maust, an automobile salesman from Detroit, today captured the North American clay target championship by outclassing a field of more than 500 in the feature event of the second day's program of the 32d annual grand American handicap tournament.

Maust replaces Gus Payne, Oklahoma City Indian, as the king of amateur shooters on the North American continent. Payne, who had won the title for the last two consecutive years, did not defend his crown this year.

Maust gave one of the most remarkable exhibitions ever witnessed on the Vandalia traps in a shoot-off with three other men. The quartet was tied at the end of the regulation 200 targets with 199 each. They were Frank Troeh, Portland, Ore.; George Slaughter, Benton Harbor, Mich.; Dr. E. L. Botts, Waverly, O., and Maust.

In the shoot-off Maust broke 150 straight targets to give him a score of 399 out of a possible 400 for the day. Troeh dropped out on the 134th target of the shoot-off to take second place; Botts missed on the 74th to win third position, and Slaughter missed his 50th clay.

Rodak, Down Three Times, Defeats Cleveland Boxer

Leo Rodak, South Chicago flyweight, after being knocked down three times in the second round, rallied to defeat Billy Elmers, Cleveland, O., in a four round bout as Chicago boxers whipped a team from Cleveland, three bouts to two, last night at the Western stadium. About 3,000 attended. Results of the intercity and preliminary bouts:

Leo Rodak, Chicago, beat Billy Elmers, Cleveland [4].
Mike Kamis, Chicago, beat Carmen Barth, Cleveland [3].
Elmer Hedquist, Chicago, beat Kenneth Disch, Cleveland [3].
Ralph Phillips, Cleveland, stopped Henry Kamen, Chicago [3].
Billy Burns, Cleveland, beat Leo Ranieri, Chicago [3].
Tony Muscarello, beat Jimmy Caputo [3].
Joe Roman beat Gene Higgins [3].
Virgil Beni beat John Pekovitch [3].

At Sandusky, O.—George Nichols, Buffalo, N. Y., beat Jack McVey, New York [10].

A World Series of Yesteryear

When the world series of 1911 started. John McGraw (left), manager of the New York Giants, and Connie Mack exchange greetings. The Athletics then went out and won the series, 4 games to 2. In the intervening years McGraw has grown more rotund, but the Grand Old Man of Baseball retains the same stature.

Connie Mack The Life Story of Baseball's Grand Old Man

intercollegiate football and of the track teams belonging to large athletic clubs, with their nominal working jobs, who were exposed in recent years, seem to have lacked the virtue of originality. As long ago as the civil war the prideful town booster was hiring out of town ball players to play on the local amateur team and paying them generous wages for imaginary labor at the grocery store.

This condition had followed as a natural consequence when the game was taken out of the exclusive control of the aristocratic Knickerbocker club of New York whose players were gentlemen in the English meaning of the word and actually wore high hats on the ball field. As tennis was exclusively the sport of Newport, Boston, Philadelphia and a few excessively refined New York clubs a few years ago, baseball in the forties was dominated by the Knickerbockers of New York. But the lower classes learned to play the game and as baseball was commonized it became correspondingly corrupt. Still later, when skill improved and the best players turned frankly professional, renouncing their synthetic jobs, the larceny became unconfined.

Spalding Reveals Years of Shady Baseball.

The late A. G. Spalding, a pompous and self righteous historian where his narrative affects himself, but a good authority on the progress of the game for all that, estimated that about 5 per cent of the players were crooks in the early days of professionalism. In the years 1874 and 1875, preoccupied with their playing and lacking business experience, the honest athletes hadn't the time to manage their new industry efficiently. It was as much as they could do and, in some cases, more than they could do to come up with the pay roll on time and the gambling interest increased with the usual result.

"Not an important game was played on any grounds where pools on same were not sold," said Spalding. "A few players had become so corrupt that nobody could be certain whether the issue of any game in which they participated would be determined on its merits. Liquor selling, either on the grounds or in close proximity thereto, was so general as to make scenes of drunkenness and riot of everyday occurrence not only among spectators but, now and then, among the players themselves. Almost every team had its 'lushers' and a game whose spectators consisted, for the most part, of gamblers, rowdies and their natural associates could not possibly attract honest men or decent women to its exhibitions."

Old Father Chadwick, of mournful mien, with his mossy beard and gloomy eye, a pioneer sports writer, now at rest beneath a ponderous shaft in a Brooklyn graveyard, inveighed against sin in a subsidized official publication. Bookmakers, it seemed, had welched so often that the pool system of betting had been substituted at the ball yards with the sanction of the players who were trying to run the industry.

Joins Old National League in 1885.

"Pools of $20,000 have been sold on a single game," he wrote, "and it has been in the power of parties knowing the aggregate amount of money bet on each club to make the contest terminate according to their desires. Besides, the fellows who patronize the game indulge in the vilest abuse in their comments on errors which damage their chances."

This was the profession toward which young Connie Mack was pointing himself in his home town in 1875. There were eight clubs in the little horse and buggy circuit called the Central Massachusetts league, supporting themselves in part by passing the hat at their games and by town ball entertainments and dances in the winter.

But Connie still was ten years away from the major leagues. He went to Meriden, Conn., in 1884 with his pitcher, a kid named Bill Hogan. But Hogan died of tuberculosis and Connie joined Hartford in the National league in 1885 alone.

By this time, however, the players' league had succumbed to its vices and the boxoffice magnate had come into the game. And for the protection of their investments and possibly out of regard for decency the magnates had forbidden gambling on their grounds and closed the bars. But the ball players still were held to be low characters and decent hotels wouldn't let them in.

a triple, a double and two bases on balls in five trips to the plate, but his performance was not as impressive as usual. The double was a smack over first that apparently seemed foul to every one in the ball park except the umps, who called it fair, and his triple was an easy fly which was misjudged by Reynolds in most startlingly ludicrous fashion.

Carl Is Shy—at Bat.

But Babe is a good guy and, besides, Carl was a little flustered, having taken place money in a two man running race with Chapman immediately before the game. Carl's self-consciousness is aggravated at the sight of Ruth, whom he tied in batting last season with a mark of .359. Today Babe is .335, whereas Carl is clicking the ball for an average of .296.

In making two hits yesterday Fothergill, another of the Sox faded sluggers, was able to rise above the .300 mark, so that if Robby plays today Manager Bush will have three .300 hitters in the lineup, Fonseca and Blue being the other two.

The only solace the Sox got from yesterday's washout aside from Fothergill getting above .300 (percentage points, not pounds) was derived from the fact that Weiland struck out seven. Lou Gehrig falling three straight times.

As previously mentioned, Weiland held the enemy to one earned run in the first five innings. With two out, Ruth doubled along the right foul line and advanced to third when Fothergill juggled the ball. He scored when Sullivan tried to throw out Gehrig at first instead of tossing to the plate for the Babe.

Carl Is Shy—In Field.

The 1 to 0 tabulation became obsolete in the sixth. Lary was hit by a pitched ball and held first while Dickey popped to Appling. Lazzeri walked. Penpock singled to left, scoring Lary and putting Lazzeri on third, while Pennock went to second on the throw in. Then a fielder's choice play by Blue on Byrd went awry, Lazzeri scoring, but Sewell grounded to Kerr and Pennock was out at the plate. Ruth then sent a high fly to center which Reynolds misjudged completely and it was scored a triple. Gehrig struck out for the third time.

Chapman's triple, errors by Appling and Kerr, and a double by Lazzeri were good for only two runs, but the spectacle was sufficient to establish the contest as a very sloppy affair.

In stealing second and third after singling in the ninth, Chapman tied George Sisler's mark of 51 thefts, established in 1922 just before the passing of the thieving technique. The modern major league record, however, is held by Ty Cobb, who stole 96 in 1915.

Landis Flies to Houston for Junior Title Series

K. M. Landis, commissioner of baseball, tomorrow will fly to Houston, Tex., to witness the first game of a series for the American Legion Junior Baseball league championship between South Chicago, Ill., western title winner, and Columbia, S. C., eastern champion. It will be played Friday.

Giants Pound Root and May; Overwhelm Cubs, 5-3 and 7-1 handed pickup of Leach's hard hopper and throwing to Adair to get Fullis at second. Then Root took care of his own affairs by fanning Terry.

The third hit off Hubbell was English's single through short after Adair had been tossed out in the sixth. Ott took in Cuyler's high fly. Then Barton nonchalantly poled homer No. 8 into the upper story of right field. That put the Cubs out in front by 3 to 0, but only for a few minutes.

Two fluke hits started Root on the down grade in the home sixth. Leach's short fly fell between Adair and Wilson in left. Terry's fly also dropped safe in short center. Ott fouled off Root's first pitch, but had better luck swinging at the next one. The ball went on a line into the upstairs seats in right and the score was tied. Hogan then fanned. Jackson and Vergez singled and Critz flied to right. The inning should have ended with Hubbell's roller to Adair, but the newcomer pegged the ball to the grandstand and the tie was dissolved when Jackson scored.

Grimm endeavored to start something in the seventh by leading off with a single, the fifth and last hit off Hubbell. His scheme was a bust because Hartnett bounced into a double play. Then, with Teachout pitching in the home half, the Giants picked up their fifth run on a single by Terry, a pass to Ott, and a hit by Hogan. For fear that the bombardment might go on indefinitely Warneke was rushed forth to make the Giants quit their roughhousing.

SECOND GAME

May had two men out in the third inning of the second battle before the Giants made a menacing move. Fullis singled to center and stole second while May was holding the ball. This may have upset Jakie. Allen followed with a hit to center, scoring Fullis with the first of the five runs. Allen, who went to second on the throw in, counted on a hit by Terry. The ponderous Hogan moved Terry across the plate on his home run, which bounced off the front of the upper deck in left. An instant later Ott blew his homer into the opposite side of the arena. That marked the end of Jakie.

Hemsley got himself into the home run society in the fourth by taking charge of ons of Chaplin's tosses and dispatching it to the second floor in left. The Giants immediately responded with a run off Warneke. Vergez led off in the home fourth with a pass and went to second when Hunnefield hit safely through short on a hit and run play. Chaplin's fly to Barton gave Vergez a chance to sneak home.

The last Giant run of the afternoon was Hunnefield's homer to left. He uncorked it in the eighth against Teachout, who like Warneke, exhibited himself briefly in both games.

Cochrane Blames Bean Ball for His Rundown Condition

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane, star catcher for the champion Philadelphia Athletics, looking somewhat run down, returned to Philadelphia today from St. Louis to take a rest before returning to the A.'s lineup. Cochrane said he had not felt right since he was hit in the back of the head by a pitched ball in the game in Cleveland on Aug. 16.

BROWN WISDOM HANDS YOUNGER COLTS A LICKING

Whips Calf Roper and Pittsburgher.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Every so often Brown Wisdom, the old rascal of the western turf, comes along and squelches the ambitions of some of our up and coming young race horses.

He performed that sort of job in the Blue Island handicap at Lincoln Fields yesterday, smashing the hopes and hearts of proud 3 year old Pittsburgher, Calf Roper from Chicago, and Betty Derr, a 3 year old daughter of Sir Gallahad III.-Uncle's Lassie, which recently won a Latonia Oaks.

Brown Wisdom did not do any half way job of it. He took the lead at the clubhouse bend, increased it until he was sailing along three lengths in front on the back stretch, and stayed that far in front the rest of the way home. Nearing the finish line, he seemed to have been actually laughing. Maybe he was shouting back, "Come on, you young bucks; do some running."

Tune Up for $25,000 Race.

All in the small field of four were tuning up for the $25,000 Lincoln handicap on Saturday, and Brown Wisdom, due to his ordinary record this season, was getting a pull in the weights from both 3 year olds. This might have made a difference, but Brown Wisdom bounced out on the track much as he did a couple of seasons back when he was shattering track records and beating the best horses in the country. He ran that way, too, and it is doubtful if any of those behind could have caught him if he had been carrying 10 or 15 more pounds.

Betty Derr, which had been expected to go to the front at the start, tried a half dozen times going down the back stretch to move up past Brown Wisdom but she failed on each occasion. It completely whipped her and she dropped back into last place when Pittsburgher and Calf Roper started their drive at the head of the stretch.

Calf Roper Beats Pittsburgher.

Neither made any headway toward catching Brown Wisdom and their fight developed into a wild skirmish for second money. Calf Roper got it in the last stride by a nose.

The time wasn't anything out of the ordinary, Brown Wisdom going the mile in 1:39 3-5. He finished out the mile and a sixteenth in 1:46 1-5. There were plunges at post time on Pittsburgher and Betty Derr, as Brown Wisdom was the third choice and paid $7.30 to win and $4.80 to place. Calf Roper, the extreme outsider, paid $7.60 to place.

It boosted Brown Wisdom's stock for the $25,000 Lincoln handicap. But you never can tell what the old rascal will do.

Maloio, royally bred and a champion sprinter that has been thrilling crowds at the bush tracks, showed up for the six furlongs Thornton purse here yesterday.

He demonstrated that all those victories he has been hanging up on the small tracks were no flukes. He made a show of some of our most stylish fast steppers and wound up by winning going away, three-quarters of a length from Stock Market and Pansy Walker.

Bargello Is Eastern Hope in Handicap

Although the east may not have many representatives, the $25,000 added Lincoln handicap at a mile and a quarter on Saturday promises to bring a brilliant field to the post.

Bargello, owned by C. V. Whitney, will be the chief eastern threat, but he must have a fast track to demonstrate his best speed. Paul Bunyan looms up as the most dangerous Chicago contender and he can step at a lively clip in any going.

Knight Commander, Plucky Play, Pittsburgher, Chief John, Spanish Play, The Nut, Brown Wisdom, Jimmy Moran, Knight's Call, Sir Percival, Canfil, Quatre Bras II, and Manta are others pointing for the race.

Sun Beau passed up the Lincoln in order to be at his best for the Saratoga Cup on Sept. 5, in which he will meet Twenty Grand.

The Nevada stock farm stable horses are just beginning to hit their real form. Voltagreen was winner for the far western outfit in the six furlongs second race yesterday. She went to the front at once and won easily all the way. Voltagreen was particularly good on the Lincoln Fields track last year.

Saratoga Spill Kills 2 Horses, Injures Riders

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—One of the worst accidents of the season occurred here today in the Archdale steeplechase, resulting in the destruction of two horses and the injury of two riders. Mrs. Payne Whitney's Bezonian, running wild through the infield after unseating his rider, crashed at full gallop into the shoulder of Poplar Creek, breaking his neck and dying almost instantly.

Poplar Creek was so badly crushed by the impact that he had to be destroyed. Poplar Creek's jockey, the amateur rider, Mr. E. H. Allen, fortunately was tossed clear by the terrific collision but suffered a knee injury which is feared to be a break of the kneecap. Night Retreat, following close on Poplar Creek's heels, got mixed up in the jam but did not go down. Jockey E. Albright, Night Retreat's rider, was unseated and suffered a broken collar bone and possibly a fractured shoulder.

The collision between Benzonian and Poplar Creek and an earlier fall of Friar's Dream served to cut a field of eight starters in half, and bring up standing one of the largest mid-week crowd of the meeting. The winner of the race turned up in Mrs. John Hay Whitney's Green Cheese, which was so far back of Poplar Creek, which was leading, as to be free of the smashup. Mrs. Whitney's Game Coq came in second, four lengths back of the winner and a head before Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark's Captain Hook. The only other finisher was the Rolling Plains stable's Outlaw, beaten at least a sixteenth of a mile for third.

Albright was rushed at once to the hospital but Allen, after medical attention, went to his home. The accident was the more regrettable in that it might not have occurred but for the well meant but stupid action of some men in the infield. When Benzonian and Friar's Dream were running loose they attempted to wave them down.

FIRESTONE TO BUILD $350,000 CHICAGO BRANCH

Structure to Go Up at 16th and Wabash.

BY AL CHASE.

Wreckers will start work this morning clearing the way for a $350,000 three story building at the northwest corner of Wabash avenue and East 16th street, which will be erected by the Firestone Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., as a combination branch and service station. According to an official of the company President H. S. Firestone was so impressed by a recent statement of Mayor Cermak urging building that he decided he would do his share toward helping the unemployed by going ahead with this structure.

HARVEY S. FIRESTONE. [U. & U. Photo.]

Three-quarters of the first floor of the new building will be devoted to a de luxe service station, where tires, gas, oil, greasing, car cleaning, brake testing and relining, and all kinds of car accessories can be obtained. The balance of this floor will be used as a shipping room and platform, with truck slips and an entrance on 16th street to the branch offices on the second floor.

Branch Offices on Second Story.

A third of the second floor will be given over to the branch offices, now at 1920 South Michigan avenue, of which S. R. Brink is branch manager. The balance of the space on this floor will be used for warehouse purposes. All of the third floor will be used for similar purposes.

The new building will have a frontage on Wabash avenue of 163 feet and the same frontage on the alley in the rear used by the elevated lines. It will front 170 feet on East 16th street and have the same frontage on the elevated right of way of the St. Charles air line, on the north. A switch track will run the entire length of the building on the north side, thus enabling shipments to be unloaded directly into the building without trucking.

Face Brick on All Sides.

The structure will be of reinforced concrete and steel construction, with all of the exterior walls of face brick. This brick, by the way, will be of a standard quality and variegated color which is being used by the Firestone company in its extensive building program throughout this country and Canada. The building was designed by the architectural staff of the Firestone company in Akron, O., and will be erected under their supervision.

As it is estimated that more persons will pass the building on the elevated trains in the rear than will go by on the Wabash avenue side, an elaborate electric advertising sign system probably will be installed on a level with the "L" tracks, as well as on the front of the building. Completion is set for some time next February.

CHANGE OF GOV'T RESTORES FAITH IN ENGLISH BANK

Believe Danger to Sterling Is Over.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Foreign confidence in the Bank of England has been restored and the danger to the stability of sterling exchange has been ended by the change in the British government with its implied assurance of early budgetary reforms, London banking interests say. They base their belief on assurances which they have received from New York and Paris since the downfall of the Labor government.

It is true, as previously stated, that the credit of $250,000,000 advanced to the Bank of England three weeks ago by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Bank of France is about exhausted, but the need for its renewal is far less today than it was a few days ago simply because of the restored confidence abroad.

Charge Foreign Dictation.

The recent critical situation of British credit, followed by the quick recovery of foreign confidence under the changed political conditions, has been twisted for partisan purposes into accusations that the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and the Bank of France dictated the domestic policy of Great Britain by refusing to lend her more money if she did not curtail her unemployment insurance expenditures.

There is the strongest authority for saying there were no such threats from New York and no conditions were laid down as indispensable to further credit. What actually happened, according to London financial authorities, was this:

Replies to Questions.

British bankers, seriously alarmed at the growing foreign distrust in the stability of their country's treasury, told bankers of New York, France, Belgium and Holland what could be done here to restore the confidence of the investigating public of their various countries in the soundness of British securities. The answer from the banking experts of all the countries thus sounded was substantially to the effect that England should balance her budget by economies and to what chiefly was frightening the investors of the United States and the continent of Europe was the enormous drain of British unemployment relief on public funds. It was added that if the unemployment insurance system was put on a self-supporting basis the distrust would vanish. These were not threats but replies to questions.

WALL STREET HAILS CHANGE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Announcement of the complete cabinet of the new British national government today served to confirm the deep satisfaction felt by Wall street at the turn in Great Britain's political affairs. Bankers here have as yet received no request for credit; but they reiterated their preparedness to provide a substantial loan if the new government requires it. Already, bankers said, there is evident a partial restoration of confidence, revealed by the improved condition of sterling exchange. Pressure on the exchange was very early in the day, bankers said, but it lightened noticeably following the announcement of the new cabinet and sterling advanced seven thirty-seconds of a cent to $4.86 3-32, the best price reached since the opening of the Bank of England's credit on Aug. 1. The final quotation was 4.86 7-8, up 5-32 of a cent.

Certain Measures Obvious.

Bankers here had no information as to the precise steps which the new British government intends to take in rehabilitating British finances. Certain measures appear obvious, bankers said, the chief of these being a reduction in the sums spent for social services. It will be necessary, however, to distribute the burden over all ranks of society, in the opinion of bankers. This may involve further increases in the income tax rate.

The prevailing banking viewpoint, strongly voiced in the report of the Wiggin committee, is that European political harmony is a prerequisite to European financial recovery. If the new British government succeeds in creating a better understanding between Paris and London, an important contribution to world economic improvement will have been made, bankers here believe.

Houdaille-Hershey Income Is Well Above Last Year's

The Houdaille-Hershey corporation provided a bright spot in the financial news yesterday with an earnings report for the first six months of the year which showed profits well above those for the same period of last year. The report shows earnings of $669,286 after depreciation, federal taxes, and all other charges.

After deducting the class A dividends of the newly acquired Muskegon Motor Specialties company for the six months, amounting to $60,505, the net profit of $609,236 is equivalent to $3.61 per share on the 168,780 shares of Houdaille-Hershey outstanding. The net earnings for the six months after allowance for dividends on A stock of both companies were $394,475, which is in excess of 50 cents per share on the 784,582 shares of the outstanding class B stock.

Current Assets $4,081,929.

Claire L. Barnes, president of the corporation, states that the earnings of $669,236 for the first half of 1931 compare with earnings of $448,229 for the same period last year. Total current assets were given as $4,081,929 while total current liabilities were placed at $523,052. Cash and government securities amount to $2,022,393.

The Muskegon Motor Specialties company and its subsidiary, the Jackson Motor Shaft company, report earnings for the first half of the year of $125,432 after depreciation, federal taxes and all other charges. After deducting class A dividends, the net profit of $65,382 is equivalent to 29 cents a share on the 225,000 shares of common stock outstanding on June 30. L. O. Gordon, president, states that the earnings for the first half of 1930 were $115,818.

Both the Houdaille-Hershey and Muskegon companies declared their regular dividends on their class A stock.

R. C. Fenner, president, reports that the dividend requirements for the Vortex Cup company for the current fiscal year, which ends Sept. 30, have already been more than earned. It was indicated that the net profit to date this year is in excess of $400,000. For the year ended Sept. 30, 1930, Vortex reported a net profit of $713,640 after all charges.

CHICAGO STOCKS FIRM

Share prices on the Chicago Stock Exchange were fairly firm yesterday and the volume of trading was slightly larger than on Monday. Plus and minus signs were about equally divided throughout the list, while the shares remaining at the previous close exceeded in number both the recessions and the advances.

As was the case in New York, prices at the opening showed a tendency to advance, but profit taking developed which resulted in numerous declines. Later prices improved again somewhat, but what changes there were rarely were greater than fractional. The turnover for the day was 70,000 shares.

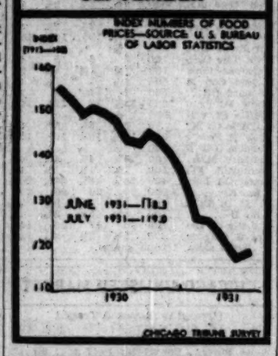
United States Radio and Television continues to be one of the market leaders, the number of shares changing hands yesterday totaling 7,900. Closing at 23¾, the price was off ⅛. Q R S Devry, which has been somewhat inactive, was quite lively, advancing ⅝ to 2 on sales of 5,800 shares.

Bendix Is Most Active.

Utilities remained firm. Commonwealth Edison picked up ½ point to close at 198½, while Middle West remained unchanged at 16¾. North American Light and Power sold off ⅛ to close at 64½.

Gains were recorded in the automotive section. Bendix advanced ¾ to close at 22½ on sales of 11,500 shares, being the day's most active stock. Borg-Warner picked up a minor fraction to close at 18¾. Houdaille-Hershey shares sold higher on its good earnings report.

FOOD PRICES IN JULY TURNED UPWARD FOR THE FIRST TIME SINCE LAST SEPTEMBER



REPORT TERMS MADE IN SINCLAIR-PRAIRIE OIL MERGER DICKER

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Reports in Wall street today said that officials of Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, Prairie Oil and Gas company and Prairie Pipe Line company have agreed upon terms for a merger to be submitted to directors of the three companies. At the Sinclair offices it was said no statement or announcement regarding the merger has been made.

The terms, according to the reports, are one share of stock in a new holding company, to be known as Commonwealth Petroleum corporation, for each share of Sinclaire common stock; one share of new stock for each share of Prairie Oil and Gas, and fourteen shares of new stock for each ten shares of Prairie Pipe Line.

Solar Joins Ohio Standard.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Stockholders will be asked in October to ratify an agreement whereby the Standard Oil company of Ohio will acquire the refining plant of the Solar Refining company, Lima, O., it was announced today by W. T. Holliday, president of Standard of Ohio.

Stockholders of Solar, under terms of the agreement, will be given the option of receiving $17 for each share of Solar stock or exchanging their stock on a basis of one share of Standard of Ohio common stock for 3.6 shares of Solar stock. Solar has authorized common stock of $25 par value, totaling 160,000 shares. It has no preferred.

Skelly Denies Negotiations.

New York, Aug. 25.—W. G. Skelly, president of the Skelly Oil company, today denied that his company was having merger negotiations with any other oil company. Mr. Skelly's denial came in a telegram from Tulsa, Okla., the Skelly company's headquarters, in response to an inquiry regarding reports of merger discussions with the Texas corporation.

Car Loadings Up for Week; Rail Income Down 34 Pct.

BY O. A. MATHER.

It is evident that railroad freight traffic will have to increase considerably this autumn if that traditional goal, the "million car week," is to be attained. Based on current traffic, an expansion of around 35 per cent will be necessary.

Yet the latest data are encouraging, although freight traffic has vacillated in confusing fashion in recent months. Loading of revenue freight for the week ended Aug. 15 totaled 742,736 cars. This marked a gain of 7,956 cars over the preceding week and was in contrast with the figures for the week ended Aug. 8, which showed a decline of around 22,000 cars from the previous week.

But the current figures, like those for many previous weeks, are far below those for a year and two years ago. A year ago the railroads moved 922,823 cars and two years ago the total was 1,102,567, when the "million car week" was a common occurence. Thus, the railroads now are carrying about 67 per cent as much freight as they were two years ago, which is about the average decline that trade volume has shown.

Comparative Figures.

The comparative figures for commodity classes, current and a year ago, follow: Miscellaneous freight loadings totaled 283,107 cars, a decrease of 77,594 below the same week of 1930; merchandise, 212,770, decrease, 21,321; coal, 113,817, decrease, 24,851; forest products, 27,819, decrease, 12,984; ore, 35,303, decrease, 22,330; coke, 4,623, decrease, 3,792; grain and grain products, 46,017, decrease, 16,295; live stock, 20,280, decrease, 920.

It is inevitable that railroad earnings should make a rather sorry showing in view of the decline in traffic and despite strenuous efforts to reduce expenses. It is axiomatic in great industries that expenses can seldom be curtailed in ratio to gross receipts in periods of depression.

Thus the first eighteen railroads to report July earnings had net operating income of $9,761,000, against $14,921,000 in July, 1930, a decrease of 34½ per cent. Their net in June amounted to $10,838,000, against $13,458,000 in June, 1930, a reduction of 19 4-10 per cent. The July total also was 57 7-10 per cent below the same month in 1929, when net income aggregated $23,095,000.

These carriers had gross in July of $67,096,000, against $82,550,000 in July, 1930, a drop of 18 7-10 per cent. Their June gross amounted to $68,478,000 and was 14 8-10 per cent below the $80,409,000 reported in June, 1930. July gross also was 32 4-10 per cent below the like month two years ago, when gross amounted to $99,318,000. Six roads have reported improvements in net operating income in July, compared with a year ago, while five of the eighteen carriers to report showed an improvement in June, this year, over June, 1930.

Note Steel Improvement.

A slight improvement in the steel industry is indicated this week. Ingot production in the Chicago district is running between 32 and 33 per cent of capacity, compared with 30 per cent a week ago. A blast furnace at the Joliet works of the U. S. Steel corporation has resumed operations, bringing active stacks in the Chicago district up to nine out of a total of 35.

"Steel buying remains spotty and intermittent, causing irregular operations of mills," the American Metal Market says. "In no direction is there any increase in buying that would foreshadow the substantial seasonal improvement so generally predicted for next month. Steel ingot production this week may be estimated at about 32 per cent, against 31 per cent last week, the increase being caused largely by a rise in the Chicago district."

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Traders were troubled over many things both at home and abroad today and the stock market they put on was one of the sorriest exhibitions of the year. Volume fell to around 900,000 shares and prices drifted lazily about, many of them developing enough weight to bump slightly lower bottoms for the current reaction.

The early uncertainty regarding the English political situation was, of course, the chief factor tending to restrict speculative operations. Renewed weakness in bonds and commodities, continued unfavorable railroad earning comparisons, a lack of improvement in retail trade and industrial activity, and reports of further dividend reductions in store helped to disturb confidence and stay trading hands.

Half Hearted Rallies.

Professional bull operators made several half hearted attempts to start a rally during the course of the morning, but each little spurt ran into profit taking and short selling before it could gather momentum and fizzled out. With business and political conditions in their present state, the public seems determined to hold aloof from the market until some influential development occurs and without a following the professionals are loth to exert themselves at each other's expense. For this reason many market letter writers are predicting an indefinite period of dullness and advising their clients to maintain trading positions in the meantime.

Tobacco shares made about the sorriest showing of today's session. On top of the recent tendency to lower prices for cigarets, based on a decline in output, the tobaccos had the added burden of talk of a tax in this and other states. Ordinarily the prospect for a tax might be taken in the market's stride with the expectation that it would easily be passed on to consumers. Present times are not so favorable for the "passing" business however, and speculative Wall street is beginning to realize it. American

N. Y. CURB TRADE SHOWS ADVANCE IN OIL SHARES

New York, Aug. 25. — Speculative interest in curb stocks today, such as it was, was concentrated largely on oil shares. Fluctuations elsewhere for the most part were extremely narrow. The market as a whole maintained a barely steady tone.

Standard Oil of Nebraska made a net gain of 5⅞ points and Standard of Ohio jumped 3¾ points in a few transfers. The market in both of them is thin and wide fluctuations are common. Solar Refining was much more active and closed with 1 point gain. Standard of Indiana and Gulf Oil closed slightly higher. Ohio Oil company 6 per cent preferred appreciated a point.

Cities Service and Electric Bond and Share were the two most active of the more important utilities. The former closed steady but the latter was fractionally lower. American Superpower ended the day unchanged. Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania jumped 2⅛ points on odd lot deals. American Gas and Electric closed a point higher.

Aluminum Company of America jumped 3 points then lost half its gain.

Postal Telegraph Divides Western Division in Two

The Postal Telegraph Cable company announces that effective Sept. 1 its western division will be divided into two sections. The district lying east of the Mississippi will be known as the central division over which J. G. Wolf will have charge. Headquarters will be here. The portion lying west of the Mississippi will be known as the western division. V. E. Blume, with headquarters in Omaha, will be in charge. J. E. Fullman, resident vice president, will remain in charge of both divisions. S. H. Mudge is appointed assistant vice president, with headquarters here.

Nickel Plate Seeks to Issue $10,500,000 Bonds

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The New York, Chicago and St. Louis Railroad company [Nickel Plate] has asked the interstate commerce commission for permission to issue nominally $10,500,000 of series C refunding mortgage fifty years bonds maturing Sept. 1, 1978. Of the issue $6,000,000 would be pledged with the Guaranty Trust Company of New York as security for a loan of equal amount and the rest would be pledged for short term notes that the company wishes to issue.

STEEL DIRECTORS REMAIN SILENT ON WAGE PLANS

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—It was announced at the offices of the United States Steel corporation that only routine business was considered at the meetings of the directors and the finance committee this afternoon. The meetings had been watched with considerable interest in Wall street, in view of the recent financial news ticker discussions of the possibility of a wage reduction. No announcement regarding wages was made, however.

Life insurance sales in Illinois in July totaling $54,117,000 were $6,145,000 under the sales total for June and $12,640,000 under the July, 1930, sales figure, according to the research department of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce. The decrease in sales in Illinois in July of this year compared to last year was 19 per cent, while the decrease in sales for the entire United States for the same period was 18 per cent.

Northwest Grain Assn. Joins Farmers' National

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Northwest Grain association, cooperative organization with 120 elevators, today decided to affiliate with the Farmers' National Grain corporation. As a result, the elevators in Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana will market their grain and transact other business through the corporation, recognized by the federal farm board as a grain marketing agency.

WORKERS GO BACK TO PLANTS AFTER LONG LAY-OFF

The National Fireproofing company has reopened its Twin Bluffs plant at Ottawa, Ill., and its plant at Hobart, Ind., after a shutdown of about six months. Capacity operations have been resumed at both plants.

The Libby-Owens-Ford Glass company's Ottawa, Ill., plant has been reopened after a week's shutdown.

For the first time since Jan. 15 both mines of the Zell & Zoller Coal company at Zelgler, Ill., were working full time. More than 2,000 men are employed at the two shafts.

Announcement was made by the Nashua mills of the Nashua Manufacturing company at Nashua, N. H., that, owing to a rush of orders, the annual Labor day shutdown would this year be postponed indefinitely. Usually the mills are shut down for two weeks.

THE ENGLISH MEASURE WEALTH IN TERMS OF INCOME

AN EXPERIENCED VIEWPOINT OF TIMELY SIGNIFICANCE

♥ INCOME . . . rather than capital . . . measures a man's wealth in England. When he is "worth five thousand," the Englishman refers to his annual income and not to his principal . . . though obviously his principal would represent a much larger sum.

This point of view reflects the long experience of the English in financial matters. It is an impressive recognition of the fundamental aim of investment. The true investor seeks well-secured income, rather than uncertain profits from questionable assets. He is reconciled to the fact that regular income, consistently added to his capital, is the most dependable road to financial security.

Such a program leads naturally to the choice of bonds as the favored medium of investment. It places emphasis where it belongs in investing—on INCOME, adequately safeguarded. It points clearly to the unusual opportunities in the present bond market.

Ordinarily, bond income costs about the same one time as another. But at infrequent intervals, as at present, many sound bonds can be obtained at prices that give unusually high returns. By taking advantage of such opportunities, the far-sighted investor appreciably increases the income from his investments for years to come.

Halsey, Stuart & Co. has consistently served those who recognize INCOME as the chief aim of investment. Since the day it was founded, this house has confined its business to bonds, notes and debentures. It has adhered to this policy in full confidence that, year in and year out, it affords the greatest protection to the investors whom it is privileged to serve.

We shall be glad to suggest bonds which we have approved — from among the unusual values in today's market — to fit your requirements. Write for current recommendations.

ITALY IMPOSES HEAVY DUTY ON NITRATE IMPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—A widening of the split between European and Chilean nitrate interests following the recent failure to renew the world cartel was evident today in dispatches from abroad.

Coasch, the Chilean Nitrate corporation, largely controlled by the Guggenheim interests here, has signed 'an agreement to meet the requirements of Italy for fertilizer. Yesterday it was announced that Italy had imposed a prohibitive duty of $50 lire per 1,000 kilos on nitrate products, whereas formerly the chemical had been duty free.

By this move Coasch effectually shuts out European producers who were reported to be moving toward a continental cartel. E. Cappelen Smith, president of Coasch, sent the following cable to this city:

"Italian minister of finance empowered by decree to grant licenses for foreign fertilizers to cover national requirements. Accordingly granted licenses to import into Italy duty free for current calendar year 60,000 tons of nitrate of soda."

It was reported in Paris that an agreement had been reached in principle among Belgium, Germany, Norway, and England, and that while France has not yet approved the pact she is sympathetic toward it. New negotiations are looked for to establish a French quota for the above countries.

The split in the international cartel is mainly along the lines of synthetic and natural producers. While Germany and France both produce some natural nitrates, their output is largely synthetic or a combination of natural and synthetic chemicals. The other nations are solely synthetic producers.

On the other hand, takes the stand wholly from her huge demand. Under a recent agreement between government and the Guggenheim interests are now working in full together.

BOSTON & MAINE RY. DIRECTORS VOTE TO OMIT $1 DIVIDEND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—Directors of the Boston and Maine railroad, meeting for dividend action today, decided to omit the quarterly disbursement on the common stock, declaration of which was deferred at the May 26 meeting. Previous to the latter date the company had been paying $1 a share quarterly. Regular quarterly dividends were authorized on all issues of the road's preferred stocks, payable Oct. 1 to owners of record Sept. 12.

The action of the board was not unexpected in market circles in view of the decision at the May meeting. In the absence of official statement regarding the board's decision it was generally believed that failure of traffic and earnings to show signs of improving during the summer months and uncertainty concerning freight rate issues petition influenced directors in the dividend.

Hicks, Davis & Co. declared the regular extra dividend of 10c and the regular dividend of 25c. West Boylston Manufacturing company declared dividend of $1.50 a share on its preferred stock, compared with a previous rate of $3 a share quarterly. Western New York Motor Lines, Inc., omitted semi-annual dividends of $1 and $4, respectively, due on its common and preferred stocks. James Manufacturing company omitted the semi-annual dividend of $2.50 a share due on its preferred stock.

Central States Investment Trust took no action on the common dividend, due Sept. 1. Previously 15 cents quarterly was paid. Horder's, Inc., omitted the dividend of 13½ cents semi-annually due on its common stock. National Manufacturing and Sales corporation omitted the $1.75 quarterly due on the first preferred stock. Public Service Electric and Gas company declared an initial quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share on its $5 preferred stock.

GRAIN PRICES TUMBLE AGAIN UNDER PRESSURE

Wheat Fails to Respond to Bullish News.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

New low levels for the season were established on all deliveries of wheat, corn and rye yesterday, scattered liquidation being on in the September futures, with cash interests taking the nearby wheat and rye futures and selling the deferred.

September wheat dropped to 46¼c, and No. 2 red winter to 45¾c for restricted billing grain, the latter coming within ⅝c of the low made in October, 1852, and showed nearly $2.05 per bu under the outside figure for cash grain made in 1919 and 1920, probably the greatest recession in prices within such a short period in history, and the records go back over 700 years.

Every effort possible was being made by the leading governments of the world to increase production about 10 years ago, and practically all countries are now making efforts to hold up the price, but without success. The economic debacle has carried everything before it, with the world's leading bread grain now far below production costs in every surplus producing country, the extreme low prices made during the business depression in 1893-'96 now appearing rather high to the average trader.

Report European Damage.

An outstanding feature of the wheat trade is the refusal of the market to be influenced to the slightest extent by bullish news, and leading grain men are almost a unit in declaring this is due to the lack of a broad speculative interest. Further rains were reported yesterday in northern Europe and damage complaints are increasing. As Broomhall, a leading European authority sees it, "the international price of wheat is likely to advance when the market feels the full effect of crop losses and acreage reductions. Meanwhile, supplies appear excessive, while political uncertainty tends to check enterprise."

As the result of attempted government efforts to hold up the price or decrease production, there has been a steady increase in the world's carryover at the end of the crop years, the total for 1930-'31 being estimated at 659,000,000 bu, according to a report given out yesterday, compared with 569,000,000 bu the previous year, and represents an increase of 384,000,000 bu as compared with the total at the end of the 1926 season. The United States and Canada together have 441,000,000 bu this season, or 33,000,000 bu more than a year ago, and compare with 137,000,000 bu in 1926.

Move in Narrow Range.

Wheat prices yesterday fluctuated erratically within a range of 1¼@1¾c, and after dropping to a new all time low in the local market, rallied somewhat from the inside in sympathy with corn and closed ⅝@⅞c lower, with September 46¼@46¾c; December, 50¾c to 50⅝@50¾c, and May, 56@56¼c. Winnipeg was off ⅝@⅞c for the day, with October at 54¾c, while Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜d lower, with October at 56¾c.

There was a moderate demand for North American cash wheat from Europe with around 600,000 bu reported sold in all positions, the late break at Winnipeg catching some resting orders from abroad. A wheat crop of around 250,000,000 bu was indicated by the Searle Grain company of Winnipeg report which gave an estimate on the prospective yield by provinces, the total crop being arrived at by local statisticians on the basis of the government acreage. Last year's crop was 374,000,000 bu.

September Corn Erratic.

September corn was weak and ⅝c lower early, touching 39¾c, but later there was buying credited to short covering by a local operator and a bulge of 2¼c from the inside figure followed, the advance being very rapid. Final trades were 1¼c higher at 41¼c, while the new crop months rallied 1c from the low and closed ⅝@⅞c higher, December being 37⅝c, and May, 42⅝@42¾c. There was persistent buying of December around 37c by commission houses in small lots.

Oats received fair support on the breaks and closed ¼c higher to ¼c lower, with September finishing at 19⅝c; December, 21¼c, and May, 24c. Trade was light, with cash interests buying on the dips. Short covering and spreading furnished the bulk of the trade in rye, with the finish ¼@⅝c lower, September being 31¾c; December, 35⅝c, and May, 39¼c.

Shaggs Asserts Safeway Stores Plans No Merger

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—M. B. Shaggs, president of Safeway Stores, said the company has no mergers in prospect other than the plan calling for absorption of MacMarr Stores. He denied reports that Safeway is negotiating with Kroger, Daniel Reeves, or H. C. Bohack.

BUTTER AND EGGS FIRM

An opening break in egg futures at the opening on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday was erased at the close, the November delivery closing with an advance of ¾c. November butter firmed up, gaining ¼c. Green Mountain potatoes dropped 5 points, round whites 3 points and Idahoes held unchanged. The potato activity continues to grow, today's trading being the heaviest in the last four months. Statistical news in eggs brought in selling at the opening, but some encouragement was derived later due to the fact that the storage movement showed a slight increase over the previous week, although still heavily under last year. Butter news was not as bullish as expected and a break was anticipated, but the market moved upward on fair support. Green Mountain potatoes continued under hedging pressure, but support was better near the last. Sales: Butter, 825,000 lbs.; eggs, 1,120,000 doz.; potatoes, 2,308,000 lbs. Prices follow:

LARD LOWEST IN YEARS

Lard prices are the lowest in recent years, in sympathy with grains and other commodities. Consumption is said to have been stimulated by lower prices, and a local packer says that the present run of hogs is not the kind for extensive manufacture of lard, a good percentage of the daily receipts being consumed by fresh meat and canning interests.

Liverpool was 6@9d lower yesterday, with exports of 1,651,670 lbs of lard, and of bacon, 260,500 lbs. Hog prices were sharply lower, with the top round an inside figure than a week and a year ago, but much smaller than two years ago. Prices follow:

WORLD'S GRAIN MARKET NEWS

Grain prices are down to a level where traders are afraid to stand short or long to any extent. The fact that prices are low, with no demand, does not mean anything to the trained operator. They have bought all grains on declines, thinking that the low prices discounted all bearish factors. It is a case where news cuts no figure, except temporarily, and where demand is decidedly lacking. Every break brings out selling by tired holders who are taking losses. Declines the last few days have brought prices down below the daily and weekly bids, the buying against which has had a temporary sustaining influence. It is said that until there is a pronounced improvement in the demand from millers and exporters, particularly the latter, markets cannot be expected to do much, despite the low prices.

Official figures on the world's carryover of wheat, at the end of the 1930-31 crop year, which includes stocks in the United States, Canada, Argentina, Australia, United Kingdom ports supplies and the amount on ocean passage for the United Kingdom and the continent, are estimated at 679,000,000 bu against 578,000,000 bu last year. The new basis of figuring includes United States supplies, heretofore not counted.

Daniel F. Rice & Co. announce that on Aug. 31 there will be partnership formed with Daniel F. Rice and Walter T. Rice.

In a clean cut review of the wheat situation, Fred Uhlmann summarizes it by saying: "But, of course, as long as the government acknowledges the fact that it cannot sell its wheat except in exchange for goods it discourages buyers. The difference between Chicago and Liverpool wheat is now the widest on the crop. It is not yet sufficient to do any active business, but it shows the proper tendency, and we still believe that at one time during this crop the difference will be wide enough so that normal business can take place again with England and the continent."

DECLINE IN COTTON; CROP NEWS IMPROVES

Trade in cotton was materially lighter yesterday, with a lower range of prices, following a decline in Liverpool. Crop news generally was favorable and there was an absence of the large buying support of Monday on the part of New York operators, who are said to have taken 80,000 bales in New York and 25,000 bales in Chicago. The south is said to have been the best seller the last two days, based on the increased movement of the new crop. At the close prices were off 8@14 points in Chicago, with New Orleans off 7@13, New York, 5@10 points. Spots in New York dropped 10 points to 7c, with New Orleans 10 points lower at 6.90c. Galveston, 6.80c, and Houston, 6.75c. Liverpool closed 11@13 points net lower with spot sales 4,000 bales.

It is said that consumption of cotton has increased a little and that the industry is gradually working into a better condition. The trade awaits announcement of the federal farm board regarding new proposal to the farmers. Prices follow:

IOWA CORN SPOTTED

A wire from Waterloo, Ia., to J. E. Bennett & Co. said crops across the state from Storm Lake and Waterloo average much better than in the western part of the state, although there are scattered sections all over the state where crops are badly damaged. Much fall plowing is done and ground is in fine shape.

The piping of natural gas
Texas to Chicago and its blen with manufactured gas here wil sult in a price saving of 3½ per e 97 per cent of the customers o Peoples Gas Light and Coke comp cluding practically all domestic sumers. This was announced ye day by the company at the tim ed with the Illinois commerce mission its new schedule of prop rates covering the distribution of blended gas.
The new rate schedule was preparatory to hearings which be conducted by the commerce mission soon after Labor day. If commission approves the prop rates it will be asked to put t into effect on Oct. 1, according to company's statement.
Hope for Further Reductions.
In its announcement the comp indicated that by mixing natural with the Chicago product it hope increase its business to the p where mass production economies warrant further rate reductions domestic, commercial, and indus consumers. Special industrial r and a proposed reduction of 27 cent in the price of gas for h heating are listed in the schedul terms of increasing consumption.
The company estimates that the reductions on the basis of the business will effect a decrease $1,000,000 a year in the total sent to customers. Of this cut it says the major portion, appr nately $1,100,000, will benefit do consumers, hotels, restaurants, miscellaneous commercial and in trial users, according to the c pany's statement. The remainde the saving will be accounted for in adjustment of rates for special seasonal classes of business.
All of the new rates are for ap tion to the blend of natural from Texas and the manufactu gas, a combination which, the c pany says, has a heating value 550 British thermal units a cubic instead of the present heating v of 535 B. T. U.'s. The company's p tion for permission to increase heating content of its gas is still pe ing before the commerce commis Heating Value Increased.
A year ago the company obta permission from the commission charge for gas on the basis of the —a heating unit of 100,000 B. T. U. instead of on the old basis of cu feet volume. Under this system with the requested increase in h ing value per cubic foot the mixt of natural and manufactured gas be approximately 50 per cent riche heat units than that now furnis in Chicago.
Thus the consumer will get smaller volume of gas, but the h ing properties will be increased, company declares.
The new general rate, which app to practically all domestic consum will be slightly less than 87 cent thousand cubic feet instead of present rate of 90 cents, the comp says. In the proposed schedule initial charge under the general remains the same—two therms
84 cents. But the proposed new r are 16.4 cents per therm for the n 241 therms and 15.8 cents a therm all over 265. The old general rate 17 cents per therm for 24 therms the first two, 16.9 cents a therm the next 239, and 16 cents a therm all over 265.
New House Heating Schedule.
In its proposed new rate for ho heating the gas company is introd ing a system similar in form to t now in effect in the New York me politan area. The new rate will equivalent, the company says, to cents a therm, or 61 cents per thous cubic feet of gas, instead of the p net rate of 73 cents.
A new feature of this system charges for house heating is tha is based in part upon the amount radiation surface in the custom home. Instead of the old flat rat 13.0 to 14.15 cents a therm, the schedule provides a charge of $ per hundred square feet of radia surface a month for six months of year, and an additional charge of cents a therm for gas used.
The company expects that its ho heating business will swell the wi use of gas to the point where the c ing of warm weather will cause a broken recession in consumption
It has taken steps in its new schedule to obtain an enlarged ind and market for its product. By est
